A POLITE MOTHER.
A Simple Formula—To Practice Good Manners Ourselves.

There is but one way that I know of to teach good manners to children—good manners, that is, that are worth the practicing and are not mere polish and sham and hypocrisy; but one way, and that is—oh simple formula!—to practice good manners ourselves.

It is a simple means; it does away with worry, with anxiety, with tedious training, with mortification and a hundred other ills; and yet, it is the means we most neglect. All over the land, unthinkable women are still saying to the casual guest: "How good for you to come! Oh, no you are not late. Well, it doesn't matter a bit; but to the child the old formula: "What did I tell you? Don't let me have to speak to you again." "Thomas, shut the door!" and a hundred other excusable crudities.

In speaking of good manners, I would not have you think I refer only to that ease and graciousness of manner which we are wont to call politeness. The crudities we display in dealing with our children affect, unfortunately, far more than their outward deportment. They influence harmfully the mind and spirit as well as the manner. Our contrasted manner toward him and toward strangers cultivate in the child an indifference to the truth; they teach him insincerity; they give him a standard of crudeness and unkindness which are at variance with the standards of high-minded and noble people. These failures and inconsistencies of ours rob him in a hundred ways. They wear upon his nerves as only illogical, irrational, unharmonious and inconsistent things do. The child brought up in a home of crude manners goes into the world gravely crippled, harmed and handicapped. He has been robbed before he begins his journey.—Laura Spencer Porter in Mother's Magazine.

Southern Hospitality includes Luzianne

CHEERY, whole-hearted, Southern hospitality—it's almost a magic phrase to many. But really it stands for honest friendship, cordiality and (you've guessed it) lots of delicious goodies.

Luzianne Coffee is always included in Southern hospitality because it tastes so good. Fragrant hot coffee for people who know what's good—that's Luzianne.

Good old Luzianne flavor—um-in-m!—better try some quick! Your grocer has it—and if you aren't satisfied, he'll give back every cent—honest!

"When It Comes, It Feels"

SWETHEART HE LOVED.

Molly is fixin' ter marry—Jenny is livin' away
An' the boys hain't been back at the ol' home in many an' many a day.
An' somehow the spring's lost its sweetness, an' lonesome an' long fall the snow,
An' nuthin' is left but the pictur' of the sweetheart I loved long ago.

I never was one fer complainin'—but somethin' seems lost from life's skies,
An' often in sunshine it's rainin'—it's rainin' around my ol' eyes!
Fer here's what their arms was around me—an' here's what she smiled on me so,
An' all that is left is the pictur' of the sweetheart I loved long ago.

The medder still feels the lark's shadder, an' frequent I hear the birds sing,
Just as ef nuthin' had happened ter all the red roses of spring!
Just as ef they sung at her weddin'. But how kin the singin' birds know
That nuthin' is left but the pictur' of the sweetheart I loved long ago?

Nuthin'? That's Molly a-comin' an' bringin' a rose ter me—Well, Life's story's tol' over an' over, 'til nuthin' is new that we tell.
Her arms aroun' my neck, an' her blue eyes in tears at my takin' on so—
Kiss me, dear—fer you're jest like the pictur' of the sweetheart I loved long ago!

Frank L. Stanton.

SATURDAY NIGHT.

Placing the little hat all in a row,
Ready for church, on the morrow, you know,
Washing wee faces and little black fists,
Getting them ready and fit to be kissed;
Watching them listen with childish delight,
Putting them into clean garments and white,
That is what mothers are doing to-night.

Spying out rents in little worn hose,
Laying by shoes that are worn through the toe;
Looking o'er garments so faded and thin;
Who but a mother knows where to begin?
Changing a button to make it look right,
That is what mothers are doing to-night.

Calling the little ones all round her chair;
Hearing them lip their evening prayer;
Telling them stories of Jesus of old,
The Shepherd, who gathers the lambs to His fold,
That's what mothers are doing to-night.

Creeping so softly to take a last peep—
Silence the token of childhood's sleep;
Anxious to know if the dear ones are warm;
Tucking the blanket round each little form;
Kissing each little face, rosy and bright,
That is what mothers are doing to-night.

REAL COMPETITION. HAD HIS WAY.

The story of the rival boot-makers, which appeared recently, is matched by a correspondent of an English paper equally worth repeating. It concerns two rival sausage-makers. Again, they lived on opposite sides of a certain street, and, one day, one of them placed over his shop the legend:
"We sell sausage to the gentry and nobility of the country."
The next day, over the way, appeared the sign:
"We sell sausage to the gentry and nobility of the whole country."
Not to be outdone, the rival set up what he evidently regarded as a final statement, namely:
"We sell sausage to the King."
Next day there appeared over the door of the first sausage-maker the triplex expression of jealousy:
"God save the King."

About Constipation.

Certain articles of diet tends to check movements of the bowels. The most common of these are cheese, tea and boiled milk. On the other hand raw fruits, especially apples and bananas, also Graham bread and whole wheat bread promote a movement of the bowels. When the bowels are badly constipated, however, the sure way is to take one or two of Chamberlain's Tablets immediately after supper.

A Hint To The Aged.
If people past 60 years of age could be persuaded to go to bed as soon as they take cold and remain in bed one or two days, they would recover much more quickly, especially if they take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. There would also be less danger of the cold being followed by any of the more serious diseases.

A pistol is twice as dangerous when the owner is loaded.
Shoes of the near future will be of canvas and composition.

MARY E. EVANS
Mary Elizabeth Evans, has solved the problem of making the candies without using large quantities of sugar which is so scarce, by the substitution of honey, molasses, maple sugar, fruits, nuts, raisins and chocolate.

GETTING ALONG NICELY.

My small niece, Ethel, frequently "says quite a mouthful." She and the little girl next door were pretty apt to quarrel. The other evening her grandmother asked her how she and Doris were getting along, and was rather surprised at her answer, which was: "Fine; we don't speak."

DOCTOR URGED AN OPERATION

Instead I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Was Cured.

Baltimore, Md.—"Nearly four years I suffered from organic troubles, nervousness and headaches and every month would have to stay in bed most of the time. Treatment would relieve me for a time but my doctor was always urging me to have an operation. My sister asked me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before consenting to an operation. I took five bottles of it and it has completely cured me and my consent to an operation has been advised that it will pay any woman who suffers from such ailments to consider trying it before submitting to such a trying ordeal."

work is a pleasure. I tell my friends who have any trouble of this kind what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me.—NELLIE B. BARRINGTON, 609 Calverton Rd., Baltimore, Md.

It is only natural for any woman to dread the thought of an operation. So many women have been restored to health by this famous remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, after an operation has been advised that it will pay any woman who suffers from such ailments to consider trying it before submitting to such a trying ordeal.
