

Health About Gone

Many thousands of women suffering from womanly trouble, have been benefited by the use of Cardui, the woman's tonic, according to letters we receive, similar to this one from Mrs. Z. V. Spell, of Haverhill, Mass. "I could not stand on my feet, and just suffered terribly," she says. "As my suffering was so bad, and he had tried other remedies, Dr. — had us get Cardui. . . I began improving, and it cured me. . . I know, and my doctor knows, what Cardui did for me, for my nerves and health were about gone."

She writes further: "I am in splendid health. . . I can do my work. I feel I owe it to Cardui, for I was in dreadful condition. . . If you are nervous, run-down and weak, or suffer from headache, backache, etc., every month try Cardui. Thousands of women praise this medicine for the good it has done them, and many physicians who have used Cardui successfully with their women patients, for years, endorse this medicine. Think what it means to be in splendid health, like Mrs. Spell. Give Cardui a trial.

"I am glad you have found a friend at your new place of work, Roland," said Mrs. Vincent.

"He's a good friend, too," replied Roland Vincent. "It was wonderful to meet a friend who understood me."

"What is his name, Roland?" inquired Mrs. Vincent.

"Robert Leigh," he replied. "He is a quiet, steady man, but he has been so kind and helpful to me."

"It is good to have a friend like that," said Mrs. Vincent. "I am glad to hear of it."

YOU COOK YOUR FOOD—WHY NOT YOUR TOBACCO?

YOU know what broiling does to steak, baking to a potato—and toasting to bread. In each case flavor is brought out by cooking—by "toasting." So you can imagine how toasting improves the flavor of the Burley tobacco used in the Lucky Strike Cigarette.

YOUR FAVORITE HYMN.

THE first American woman to write a hymn of popularity was Mrs. Phoebe Hinsdale Brown. She was born in Canton, N. Y., in 1781. Her parents died when she was quite young, and her whole life was full of hardships and deprivations.

In 1815 she was married to Timothy H. Brown, but the union was not a very happy one. In 1818, while the Browns were living in Ellington, Connecticut, Mrs. Brown wrote the poems found in so many hymnals.

Two small rooms comprised the living apartments of the parents and several small children. There was no place in this modest home for silent devotion, and Mrs. Brown was in the habit of walking quietly down a lane nearby, and under a cluster of trees she would kneel in prayer.

In doing so, a wealthy woman, whose house she was compelled to pass, approached her in a rather unkindly spirit, and told her that she noticed she passed so frequently, and that if she wanted something why she did not ask for it.

The words deeply wounded the distressed woman, but the incident furnished the inspiration for the hymn of great usefulness printed below. After her conversation with her neighbor, Mrs. Brown returned to her wretched home, and taking one of her children in her arms, she wrote the hymn, "I Love to Steal a While Away."

The original hymn contained nine stanzas, but that it might be made suitable for public worship, it was reduced to five for "Nettleton's Village Hymn's," published in 1824. Mrs. Brown wrote several hymns, but with the exception of this one, the others are rarely found in any hymn books.

Though Mrs. Brown's life was filled with many trials and bitter disappointments, it was not lived in vain. A son born in the midst of poverty and distress at Ellington, became Rev. Samuel Robbins Brown, D.D., and was the first American missionary to enter Japan, and the hymn written under such trying circumstances is now sung everywhere that the English language is spoken.

"I LOVE TO STEAL A WHILE AWAY." I love to steal a while away From every lumbering cure, And spend the hours of the setting day In humble, grateful prayer.

I love in solitude to shed The penitential tear, And all His promises to plead Where none but God can hear.

I love to think on mercies past, And future good improve, And all my cares and sorrow cast On Him whom I adore.

I love by faith to take a view Of brighter scenes in heaven; The prospect doth my strength renew, While here by tempests driven.

Thus, when life's toilsome day is o'er, May its departing ray Be calm as this impressive hour, And lead to endless day.
