VALUE OF "KEEPING AT IT."

Great Results May Be Achieved Through Trifling Exertion Repeated Steadily and Persistently.

Andrew Carnegie once said that "a half hour a day, spent in particular line of study, is the best investment any man can make." This recognition of the results which may be achieved through the accumulative effect of trifling exertion, repeated steadily and persistently, is an expression of an important truth.

To take a concrete instance, one who will browse among the pages of a first class dictionary 15 minutes daily, and will do so daily, will acquire within a year or two an exceptional knowledge of English etymology and a wide vocabulary as well. Habits are after all, a great part of what any of us are. In these hurried days it becomes increasingly difficult for us to crowd into our program anything unusual. That which we have trained ourselves to do is accomplished without effort, while we shrink from the effort necessary to pursue something unaccustomed. One may train his physical make-up and his personality to do him service along good lines as effectively as they can lead him into harm if unrestrained. For real cultivation nothing yet has been invented more efficacious than steady application, day after day, for a stated period, to something worth while.—Knickerbocker Examiner.

TRUE TO HIS PROMISE.

"Dearest, will you let me share your every sorrow after we are married?" she whispered as she cuddled her cheek against his.

"Yes, darling," he replied, again plucking a delicious kiss from her sweet lips.

It was the same lady who two years later wearily cried out:

"Oh, Tom, why can't you ever come into the house without bringing a tale of trouble with you? I'm so sick of hearing about how hard you have to work to keep the bills paid."

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA NOT ON THE PROGRAM.

The corner stone laying had been a brilliant success. The weather was fine, the speeches eloquent, the music impressive. The master of ceremonies was very well satisfied with himself, yet with the dispersal of the crowd he became strangely excited. Hurriedly he sought the master mason.

"Is it possible to lift the corner stone again?" he asked.

"I am afraid not, sir," said the mason. "Have you any particular reason for asking?"

"I have," said the master of ceremonies. "I've left my hat in the receptacle along with the records."

Improved machinery enables a man to accomplish almost as many things as a woman can with a hair pin.

WHILE AT WAR

Women Suffer at Home.

Woomers, Tex.—"This is to certify that I have used Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription during the London Medical Discovery and find that it is a most reliable medicine. I think it is a grand medicine and never fail to recommend it to suffering women.—MRS. ROSA LEE HOGAN, Route 1.

SYLACOGA, ALA.—"My wife used Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription during the war. She had been having a great deal of trouble and used the 'Prescription' with wonderful results. She had practically no suffering, where before she had suffered intensely. No one can tell in words the good the 'Prescription' did my wife; it is simply a wonderful medicine. Every woman in the land ought to use it.—A. HUBBARD.

One nice thing about Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription it contains no alcohol or narcotic nor any harmful ingredient. Put up in liquid and tablets and sold by druggists. If not obtainable, send 10 cents to Dr. Pierce, Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., and he will mail a trial package of the tablets.

Sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter, free; also a 150-page book on women's diseases, free.

Dr. Pierce's Tablets are the original Little Liver Pills. One Little Pill for a laxative—three for a cathartic. Sold by druggists for nearly 50 years.

LEAVE IT WITH HIM.

"Leave it with Him—
The lilies all do,
And they grow;
They grow in the rain,
And they grow in the dew.
Yes, they grow;
They grow in the darkness, all hid in the night,
They grow in the sunshine, revealed by the light!"

"The grasses are clothed
And the ravens are fed
From His store;
But you, who are loved
And guarded and led,
How much more

Will He clothe you, and feed you, and give you His care,
Then leave it with Him; He hath everywhere Ample store."

"Yes, leave it with Him:
You're more dear to His heart
You well know,
Then the lilies that bloom,
Or the flowers that start
'Neath the snow.
What you need, if you ask it in prayer,
You can leave it with Him, for you are His care—
You, you know."

HE LEADETH ME.

"In 'pastures green?' Not always, sometimes He Who knoweth best, in kindness leadeth me In weary ways where heavy shadows be.

Out of the sunshine, warm and soft and bright,
Out of the sunshine into darkest night;
I oft would faint with sorrow and affright.

Only for this—I know He holds my hand,
So, whether in the green or desert land,
I trust, although I may not understand.

And "by still waters?" No, not always so;
 Ofttimes the heavy tempests round me blow,
And o'er my soul the waves and billows go.

But when the storms beat loudest, and I cry
Aloud for help, the Master standeth by,
And whispers to my soul, "Lo, it is I."

Above the tempest wild I hear Him say:
Beyond this darkness lies the perfect day;
In every path of thine I lead the way."

So, whether on the hillsips high and fair
I dwell, or in the sunless valleys where
The shadows lie—what matter? He is there!

And more than this, where'er the pathway lead
He gives to me no helpless broken reed,
But His own hand, sufficient for my need.

So where He leads me I can safely go,
And in the best hereafter I shall know
Why in His wisdom He hath led me so.

MIDDLE-AGE MEN SCORE.

War Is Giving Them New Chance In Life.

A man is as old as he feels;
A woman as old as she looks.
—Ancient Proverb.

Probably no flippant statement made by a man of science ever did so much harm or brought woe or suffering to so many persons as did Dr. Osler's reported declaration that men are no good after 40.

The doctor didn't say it. What he said was different and was a laborious English effort at jocularity; but the statement as said to have been made went the world over and was thrashed out time after time by newspaper and magazine.

It was unfair. It was cruel. If you meet a man and tell him he appears ill he may smile. If 20 persons tell him so within an hour the chances are he'll be ill or think he is.

America was in the humor at that particular moment to coddle the young man. It was in the early flush of a great prosperity. Young men had come to the front suddenly, having had spectacular success. Much was made of the fact. Their success was ascribed in large measure to the energy, spirit, resiliency of youth. In a little while heedless, careless America had come to the conclusion that, while Osler exaggerated, he wasn't so far away from the truth.

From that time on the man of middle age or beyond has been under a handicap. It has been not only in the unwillingness of employers to engage any but young men, but in the doubt, if not in despair, that has crept into the brain and heart of the middle-aged man.

What a shame! A man should be at his best at 40, 45, 50. There were times when men were not considered mature until they were 40. The knights of old, warriors bold, if ever men were bold, men of valor, strength, resourcefulness, were in their prime in their forties.

What the economic loss to America has been through this shocking libel on the men of middle age will never be known, but it must be tremendous.

Today there is a change. The door of opportunity opens, or should be opened, to the middle-aged man. The war, and the consequent scarcity of male labor, have made many persons think of the middle-aged man who formerly, through silly prejudice, would not have given thought to him.

Down town the bankers, brokers, insurance men and others have been experimenting with the middle-aged man. They have taken him, here and there, as clerk or office "boy." Don't smile. The report is that he makes the best office boy in the world. He was started at a trifling wage pay than the former office boy got, but advance has come to him rapidly.

The middle-aged office boy isn't a cigarette smoker. He doesn't shoot craps. He is polite, attentive, reliable. He isn't running around the place sky-larking with other kids or trying to flirt with a gungy girl clerk. He is a sane, reliable, human being, not an untamed, unmanageable and irresponsible cub.

In the shop and factory it is the same. The middle-aged man is not a clock watcher. He values his job. He respects his boss. He does not think the boss is the enemy of mankind. He is faithful.

A great, terrible injustice has been done to the middle aged man. It is useless to discuss the matter if discussion brings only sympathy. It should bring more. It must bring justice, opportunity. And justice, opportunity, only can be had by an agency that only will open the door to the middle-aged man, but keep it wide open.

Make way for the middle-aged man. Give to him what should be the inalienable right of every man, a fair chance. He hasn't it. Open your heart to him, too. He needs, deserves encouragement. He may be a bit doubtful of himself at first. He may be like the man made ill by being told by so many persons that he looked ill.—New York Mail.

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

THY FATHER'S FRIEND

In the will of the late Justice Lamar of the United States Supreme court there was one very unusual legacy. He bequeathed his friendships to his family.

"To my family," the will runs, "I bequeath friendships many and numerous in the hope that they will be cherished and continued. True friendships are the most valuable of our earthly possessions, more precious than gold, more enduring than marble palaces, more important than fame. As Henry Drummond has well said, 'Friendship is the nearest thing we know to what religion is!'"

RIGHT TO THE POINT.

You will be surprised to find out how much good there is in the world if you will sit up and take notice.

The surer a girl is about a man's being in love with her the less sure she is about being in love with him.

Nothing is more exasperating than a fool friend who is always reminding you of your faults for your own good.

Many more men would buy heavenly shares if they could be had on the installment plan.

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA A DRY COUNTRY.

A man who drove across the country last summer to a little town in western Kansas met a farmer hauling a wagon load of water.

"Where do you get water?" he asked.

"In the road about seven miles," the farmer replied.

"And you haul water seven miles for your family and stock?"

"Yep."

"Why in the world don't you dig a well?" asked the traveler, exclaiming.

"Because, stranger," the farmer said, firmly, "it's just as fur one way as the other!"

WARNINGS

"He says I am the only girl he has ever loved."

"I'd beware of him."

"Why?"

IN MISERY FOR YEARS Mrs. Courtney Tells How She Was Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Oskaloosa, Iowa.—"For years I was simply in misery from a weakness and awful pain—and nothing seemed to do me any good. A friend advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I did so and got relief right away. I can certainly recommend this valuable medicine to other women who suffer, for it has done such good work for me and I know it will help others if they will give it a fair trial."—Mrs. LIZZIE COURTNEY, 108 8th Ave., West, Oskaloosa, Iowa.

Why will women drag along from day to day, year in and year out, suffering such misery as did Mrs. Courtney, when such letters as this are continually being published. Every woman who suffers from displacements, irregularities, inflammation, ulceration, backache, nervousness, or who is passing through the Change of Life should give this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a trial. For special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham, Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass. The result of its long experience is at your service.

CLIP THIS AND PIN ON WIFE'S DRESSER Cincinnati man tells how to shrivel up corns or calluses so they lift off with fingers.

Such a relief! This kind of rough talk will be heard less here in town if people troubled with corns will follow the simple advice of this Cincinnati authority, who claims that a few drops of a drug called freemore when applied to a tender, aching corn or hardened callus stops soreness at once, and soon the corn or callus dries up and lifts right off without pain.

He says freemore dries immediately and never inflames or even irritates the surrounding skin. A small bottle of freemore will cost very little at any drug store, but will positively remove every hard or soft corn or callus from one's feet. Millions of American women will welcome this announcement since the inauguration of the High Heels. If your druggist doesn't have freemore tell him to order a small bottle for you.
