AN OLD TIME PROPHECY

Happy Will Be Those Escaping the Perils of That Period.--They will Be Able to Enjoy the Fruit of the Reign of The Spirit And The Purging of Humanity.

The following is a translation of a remarkable allegory from a book entitled "Omens of the Great War," which was written in 1650, at the close of the Thirty Years' War. The author was a German monk, known as Brother Johannes and the book is very rare, and the translation is now going the rounds of the press, both in America and the old country.

The allegory is interesting for the fact that it follows closely the events of the great war now raging and predicts the final overthrow of the Kaiser. In the allegory France is represented as a cock, England as a leopard, Russia as a white eagle, Germany as a black eagle, Austria as the other eagle, while the lamb stands for justice, mercy and truth. As translated it reads as follows:

"Toward the year 2000 the Antichrist will manifest himself. His army will surpass in numbers all that can be imagined. There will be Christians among the legions and there will be Mohammedans and savage soldiers among the defenders of the lamb.

"For the first time the lamb will be all red. There will not be a single spot on the Christian world that will not be red, and the red will be in the heavens, the earth, the waters and even in the air, for blood will flow in the domains of the four elements at once.

"The black eagle will throw himself on the cock, who will lose many feathers, but will strike back heroically with his spurs. He would soon be lost were it not for the help of the leopard and his claws.

"The black eagle will come from the country of Luther, will surprise the cock from another side and will invade the country of the cock up to the middle of it.

"The white eagle coming from the north will surprise the black eagle, and the other eagle will invade the country of the cock up to the middle of it.

"The black eagle will see himself forced to liberate the cock in order to fight the white eagle and the cock will pursue the black eagle into the country of the Antichrist to help the white eagle.

"The battles fought up to then will be as nothing compared to those which will take place in the country of Luther for the seven angels will together pour into the fire of their censors on the impious earth, which signifies that the lamb will order the extermination of the race of the Antichrist.

"When the beast sees that he is lost he will become furious and for many months the beak of the white eagle, the claws of the leopard and the spurs of the cock will strike fiercely at him. They will cross rivers on the bodies of the slain, and these in places will change the course of the waters.

"They will bury only the men of noble families, the leading commanders and princes, because to the carnage made by the armies will be joined by wholesale death, those who will die of hunger and pest.

"The Antichrist will ask many times for peace, but the seven angels who walk in front of the three animals defending the lamb have declared that victory will only be granted on condition that the Antichrist be crushed like a straw on the barn floor.

"The executors of justice of the lamb would not stop fighting as long as the Antichrist possesses soldiers to fight against them.

"That which makes the decree of the lamb so implacable is that the Antichrist has pretended to be a follower of Christ and to act in His name, and if he does not perish the fruit of the Redeemer would be lost and the doors of Hades would prevail against the Saviour.

"The fight which will take place where the Antichrist forges his arms will not in anyway be a human fight." (Essen, the location of the Krupp gun works.)

bodies of the dead will change the aspect of the countryside, as there will be mounds of the slain.

"The Antichrist will lose his crown and die in solitude and madness. His empire will be divided into twenty-two states, but none of them will any longer possess fortresses, armies, or vessels. (Curiously there are twenty-two states in Germany now, whereas when this prediction was written the empire was divided into twenty-five principalities.)

The white eagle, by order of St. Michael, will drive the crescent from Europe and will install himself in Constantinople. Then will begin an era of peace and prosperity for the earth, and there will be no more wars. Each nation will be governed by its desire and will live according to the rules of justice. There will be no longer Lutherans or Schismatics.

"The lamb will reign and the supreme happiness of humanity will begin. Happy will be those escaping the perils of that period. They will be able to enjoy the fruit of the reign of the spirit and the purging of humanity, which can only come after the defeat of the Antichrist."

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA FRIENDS WE COULD SPARE.

Most of Us Have at Some Time Suffered at the Hands of Un-thinking Persons.

The fellow who buttonholes you, or picks hairs off your coat, and maybe winks a roguish sort of wink, isn't in it with the shoulder hiner and crazy bone crusher. He doesn't appear to be afraid of your breaking away, but wants to be confidential and intimate.

Then there is the fellow who persists in trying to keep in front of you. He necessarily crowds you to the edge of the sidewalk or to the wall.

His understudy is the chap who tries to keep step without being able to get your step. Taking about three steps to your two he is forever losing the step and forever trying to catch it. When you try to accommodate your step to his you are apt to find him trying to accommodate his step to yours, so that you only miss up a bad mess.

Don't kill 'em. Heaven is just and they get what's coming to them; maybe not as hot as you would serve it, but they'll get it all right.

There are those who persist in talking when we don't want to talk, nor to be talked to. And there are others, notably those who persist in talking when we want to talk ourselves. It is difficult to say which of these is the worse bore.

THIS WOMAN SAVED FROM AN OPERATION

By taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, One of Thousands of Such Cases.

Black River Falls, Wis.--"As Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound saved me from an operation, I cannot say enough in praise of it. I suffered from organic troubles and my side hurt me so I could hardly lie up from my bed, and I was unable to do my housework. I had the best doctors in Eau Claire and they wanted me to have an operation, but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cured me so I did not need the operation, and I am telling all my friends about it."--Mrs. A. W. Bixsaw, Black River Falls, Wis.

It is just such experiences as that of Mrs. Bixsaw that has made this famous root and herb remedy a household word from ocean to ocean. Any woman who suffers from inflammation, ulceration, displacements, backache, nervousness, irregularities or "the blues" should not rest until she has seen it a trial, and for special advice write Lydia E. ## Experiments

A doctor, if he is a good doctor, is by nature averse to experimenting upon his patients. This is an important error. A doctor really hates to experiment upon anybody, but every body certainly loves to be experimented on, and the doctor is sometimes forced to do it, or else become unpopular. That's the honest truth. If a doctor refuses under any circumstances to experiment unnecessarily upon his patients, people call him a crank, a crab, a mean, unaccommodating sort of man. They declare that he attempts to magnify your minor ailments into major ones, if you give him the chance.

Let's take a plain example. You don't want any examination, it's just a little trouble I'm having with my stomach, and I want you to give me something to put it back in working order.

WHO'S DOING THIS?

have, we shall say, what you think is a little stomach trouble. You have occasionally tried every old nos-trum any fool has recommended, and finding no relief, worth mentioning, you go to see the doctor. You tell him your stomach is a little below par, and that you want something to help assimilate your food. That's the ticket--something to assimilate your food.

Oh, if there were only something that would make us assimilate all our food, what a large exciting life ours would be. There would be constant tension, hearty eating folks blowing us and bursting everywhere. Think of all the food we eat and imagine what a calamity it would be if we had to assimilate so much.

Well, the doctor here you not completely on his examining table and begins to paw you over, evidently with grave suspicions of your appendix, your gall-bladder, and things. Once more you remind him

How T. B. Deceives Victim

Shrewd observation in Europe and America has shown that a large majority of all adults, at least 90 per cent, harbor somewhere in the body a latent, or inactive focus of tuberculosis. In a few instances, comparatively speaking, this latent infection leads up and manifests symptoms in youth or early adult life, whether there has been any further infection or not. It becomes active tuberculosis, because the individual's mode of life is not as hygienic as it should be.

We must disabuse our minds of the notion that cough and chest pain or weakness are essential symptoms of the glowing tuberculosis--incipient tuberculosis as doctors call it. In many instances the patient vehemently denies having any cough whatever, or the cough is a mere clearing of the throat from time to time, which easily escapes notice.

One peculiar and misleading mode of onset of tuberculosis is with signs of dyspepsia and anemia. "Dyspepsia" beginning at any time in life always warrants a doctor's examination, and should not be mistreated with various alleged "aids to digestion." Anemia is always secondary to some definite cause, and cannot be successfully treated until the cause is determined and attacked. When both symptoms persist in a given case, the patient certainly owes himself the privilege of having one or several repeated examinations of the chest by a competent physician--and one of the signs of a competent physician is that he does not pretend to examine the chest through the clothing. It takes all the skill the best doctors can apply to diagnose incipient tuberculosis with the entire trunk bared for examination.

Another deceptive mode of onset of tuberculosis is in the guise of simple dry pleurisy. A simple pleurisy is always suspicious, and should not be allowed to progress without thorough chest examination from time to time. Pleurisy with effusion (accumulation of fluid in the chest) is equally suspicious, though of course some cases of pleurisy, both dry and "humid," are not tuberculous. Quite a number of incipient cases are marked by huskiness of the voice,
