REVOLUTION.
German Captain of Industry Predicts Worldwide Social Changes.

The present conflict of nations is not an ordinary war at all, but a revolutionizing of the world, according to Walther Rathenau, head of the great General Electric Company, of Berlin, and generally credited with being the man who put Germany's industries on a war basis at the call of Kaiser Wilhelm. Her Rathenau has just written a book entitled "The Domestic Economy," from the advance pages of which the Berliner Tageblatt of January 4 quotes as follows:

"What is this event, the waves of which are breaking around us? We call it war because it has the form of international war, because the convulsed nations are openly and apparently struggling in earth, water, air and fire. Coming generations will recognize it. What we are experiencing in the revolution of the world, the volcanic upheaval of the mighty, burning lower strata of the abode of mankind. It is not taking place in the disorderly form of a mass uprising with pikes and scythes, as its early prophets thought. That would have been of small account and would not have thrown the world from its axis.

"Made deaf and mad by their inner tension, intoxicated by the last and highest distillations of the old order of things, trembling with nationalism and imperialism, nations must hurl themselves upon nations, in the splendor and discipline of their State and military orders, completely equipped by their industries and their sciences, with the fury and the grief of their souls and hearts.

"They believe they are fighting for rulership and existence, and they are fighting a battle the origin of which nobody understands and the objects of which have subsequently to be sought with monthly statements of corrections. In reality, however, the old economic order is burning down and the time is drawing near when the old foundation of the social order will catch fire.

"To pillars of the old order will project from the ruin—the monopoly of the great landed estates and of the mineral treasures. But they will gradually lose, no matter how much their property power may grow at first, the legal basis to which they are indebted for their footing. For this flood has not overtaken the world so that the treasures of the earth may be washed up as flotsam upon some blessed Mount Ararat."

The Farmer's Share

Live stock is marketed from farmer to consumer at a lower cost than almost any other farm product.

The United States Department of agriculture reported in 1916 that the farmer gets for his cattle "approximately two-thirds to three-fourths" of the final retail price paid by the consumer for the resulting beef.

Under normal conditions, the farmer's share of retail prices of various farm products is approximately as follows:

Butter	71 per cent
CATTLE	66 2/3 to 75 per cent
Eggs	65 per cent
Potatoes	55 per cent
Poultry	45 per cent
Fruits	35 per cent

The difference between farmer's price and retail price represents the necessary expenses of packing, freight and wholesale and retail distribution.

Swift & Company not only performs the manufacturing operations of preparing cattle for market in its well-equipped packing plants, but it pays the freight on meat to all parts of the United States, operates 500 branch distributing houses, and in most cases even delivers to the retail butcher. All this is done at an expense of less than 2 cents per pound, and at a profit of only about 1/4 of a cent per pound of beef.

Large volume of business and expert management, make possible this indispensable service to the live-stock raiser and to the consumer, and make possible the larger proportion of retail prices received by farmers.

ONLY A LITTLE THING.
Surely There are No Little Things.

The secular press is carrying the story of how a crawfish, not over three inches in length, shut down a big iron plant in Wheeling, W. Va., and threw 3,000 men for the time being in idleness. The crawfish had traveled from the river through the pump plant to the city reservoir and thence through the water mains and pipes until it reached the meter of the LaBelle Iron Works. Lodging in the meter, it shut off the supply and stopped the whole plant. Only a little thing, but it cost that plant the loss of considerable time and money.

Only a cigarette, but it turned a bright boy into a nicotine reservoir. He failed in college and failed in business because his heart and brain were poisoned by the "little white slayer."

Only a social glass, but it turned a brilliant youth into a poor old drunkard. Money gone, friends gone, loved ones desolate and broken-hearted, he finally fell under the wheels of a rushing locomotive and his poor soul went out into the night of eternal gloom.

Only a "little sin" unrepented of and unforgiven, but it brings on the sinner the full penalty of the law that declares that the soul that sinneth shall die. "The wages of sin is death."

In view of the tremendous possibilities of good and evil that are to be found in almost every thought and word and action, we sometimes wonder if there are any "little things" in this world. A tiny wire may carry a spark that will blow up a mountain. A word may create influences that will shake a nation. The life of a humble peasant has revolutionized the world and will sooner or later give it a civilization beyond anything for which we have yet had the courage to hope. Surely there are no little things.

NO PLACE FOR JIM.

The conversation in the lobby of a Washington hotel turned to food substitutes, when a story along that line was contributed by Congressman James S. Davenport, of Oklahoma.

One evening two men drifted into a hall where a woman was giving a demonstration of economical cooking. She easily talked about eggless puddings and butterless cakes, and then turned to the audience with a pleasing smile.

"I will now tell you," said she, "how splendid soup can be made next to nothing. Take the bones left over from your Sunday joint—"

"Come on, Bill," said one of the men at this point, a disappointed look overspreading his features. "Let's get out of this."

"What's the matter, Jim?" responded the other. "Don't you like soup?"

"I like soup well enough," answered Jim, "but how many bones does she think there is in a half pound of liver?"—Philadelphia Press.

Few of us believe in luck—unless we happen to be unlucky.

When a man gets through waiting and hoping the underdraker calls.

EVER SALIVATED BY CALOMEL? HORRIBLE!

Calomel is quicksilver and acts like dynamite on your liver.

Calomel loses you a day! You know what calomel is. It's mercury; quicksilver. Calomel is dangerous. It crashes into your bile like dynamite, cramping and sickening you. Calomel attacks the bones and should never be put into your system.

When you feel bilious, sluggish, constipated and all knocked out and believe you need a dose of dangerous calomel just remember that your druggist sells for a few cents a large bottle of Dodson's Liver Tonic, which is entirely vegetable and pleasant to take and is a perfect substitute for calomel. It is guaranteed to start your liver without stirring you up inside, and can not salivate.

Don't take calomel! It makes you sick the next day; it loses you a day's work. Dodson's Liver Tonic straightens you right up and you feel great. Give it to the children because it is perfectly harmless and doesn't gripe.

When It Pours, It Reigns

CAN'T you just taste that cup of good old Luzianne Coffee? Steaming hot and ready to give you a whole day's full of pep and go.

The flavor is wonderfully good and the aroma—get it?—oh, ma honey!

Better run quick and get a bright, clean tin of Luzianne while it's there. If you don't like it—every bit of it—then your grocer will give you back every cent you paid for it. Try Luzianne today and see how mighty good it is.

SOME PEOPLE BELIEVE

If the thumb and one finger do not meet around your wrist you are a glutton.

If it rains while the sun shines the saying is that the devil is whipping his wife.

Pick up a pin that lies crosswise in your pathway and you will have good luck.

Small ears indicate that a person is stingy. Large ones show that he is generous.

When you move into a new house always send beforehand a loaf of bread and a new broom.

To allow a child to look into the mirror before it is a month old will cause it trouble in teething.

To rob a swallow's nest built in a fire house was held in the olden time to be a more fearful sacrilege than to steal a chalice from a church.

If you dream of falling and are awakened by the fancied jar of landing it is a sign you are going to be ill. If you awake while still in midair you will continue in good health.

PROPER FOOD FOR WEAK STOMACHS

The proper food for one man may be all wrong for another. Every one should adopt a diet suited to his age and occupation. Those who have weak stomachs need to be especially careful and should eat slowly and masticate their food thoroughly. It is also important that they keep their bowels regular. When they become constipated or when they feel dull or stupid after eating, they should take Chamberlain's Tablets to strengthen the stomach and move the bowels. They are easy to take and pleasant in effect.

After saying that all she wants is justice a woman proceeds to kick if her photograph is a good likeness.

AT THE MOVIES.

"What did the villain say just then?"

"I don't know; I wasn't looking."

PEACE OVER EARTH.

Rejoice, O world of troubled men; For peace is coming back again— Peace to the trenches running red, Peace to the hosts of the fleeing dead, Peace to the fields where hatred raves, Peace to the trodden battle graves.

'Twill be the Peace the Master left To hush the world of peace bereft— The peace proclaimed in lyric cries That night the angels broke the skies Again the shell-torn hills will be All green with barley to the knee; And little children sport run In love once more with earth and sun, Again in rent and ruined trees Young leaves will sound like silver seas; And birds now stunned by the red uproar Will build in happy boughs once more; And to the bleak uncrowded graves The grass will run in silken waves; And a great hush will softly fall On tortured plain and mountain wall, Nor wild cries of battling hosts And curses of the fleeing ghosis.

All men will wonder over it— This red uplaming of the Pitt; And they will gather as friends and say, "Come, let us try the Master's way, Ages we tried the way of swords, And earth is weary of hostile hordes, Comrades, read out His words again; They are the only hope for men! Love and not hate must come to birth; Christ and not Cain must rule the earth."

BEST REMEDY FOR WHOOPING COUGH

"Last winter when my little boy had the whooping cough I gave him Chamberlain's Cough Remedy," writes Mrs. J. B. Roberts, East St. Louis, Ill. "It kept his cough loose and relieved him of those dreadful coughing spells. It is the only cough medicine I keep in the house because I have the most confidence in it." This remedy is also good for cough and croup.
