A BIRTHDAY.

By Walt Mason.

Some empty years ago I showed up on this planet, where where northern streamers dash their way between tall hills of granite. I'm growing old in count of years, that much I am allowing; but I am chipper as the steers that Adam used for plowing. If you'd convince me I am old, you'd have to bring the papers; for I am gay, my step is bold, and I cut fancy capers.
Men often say, "You look so young! Your youth is scarcely civil; the rest of us by age are strung—why don't you bend and shrivel?" And I reply, "The world's a joke, and life a transient flurry, and all our troubles end in smoke, so I refuse to worry. To me care looks like twenty cents, I throw it to the foxes; it's worry ages dames and gents, and puts them in their boxes. Oh, worry will not heal a sore, there is no balm in weeping; so while you fellows walk the floor. I put in nine hours sleeping. And here I am all sound and hale, and fit and able; I take a bullock by the tail and throw it o'er the stable." Today I celebrate my birthday with flares and Roman candles, while signs re-echo round the earth, brought forth by Teuton vandals.
If years would down a single foe I'd make a moist beginning; but not an ill is healed by woe, and so I keep on grinning.

STATISTICAL

There are 556 war charities registered in London.

United States has 4,283,289
Methodists in Northern states.

The Presbyterian board of foreign missions has 1,353 missionaries on its rolls.

Full sunlight is estimated to be 600,000 times brighter than full moonlight.

About $500,000,000 a year is being spent on education in the United States.

Great Britain is using 200,000 ash trees a year in the manufacture of airplanes.

For home consumption Great Britain imports about 30,000,000 pounds of coffee annually.

Sixty men a thousand are now being killed in the war, and about 150 men out of each thousand are wounded.

NOT FRIGHTFULNESS.

First Farmer—I can't find any old clothes for the scarecrow.

Second Farmer—Use some of the fancy clothes your boy brought home from college.

First Farmer—I'm trying to scare crows, not make 'em laugh themselves to death.

One of the things a young girl has to discover for herself is that a man may look well in a dress suit and still be a poor provider.

The little boy may not know it but he'll never get another suit that will give him as much joy as that first corduroy suit.

CALOMEL DYNAMITE A SLUGGISH LIVER

Crashes into sour bile, making you sick and you lose a day's work.

Calomel salivates! It's mercury.
Calomel acts like dynamite on a sluggish liver. When calomel comes into contact with sour bile it crashes into it, causing cramping and nausea.
If you feel bilious, headachy, constipated and all knoed out, just go to your druggist and get a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone for a few cents, which is a harmless vegetable substitute for dangerous calomel. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't start your liver and straighten you up better and quicker than nasty calomel and without making you sick, you just go back and get your money.
If you take calomel today you'll be sick and nauseated tomorrow; besides, it may salivate you, while if you take Dodson's Liver Tone you will wake up feeling great, full of ambition and ready for work or play.
It is harmless, pleasant and safe to take to children; they like it.

National and Local Meat Business

The meat business of the country is conducted by various agencies—

By small slaughter-houses in villages—

By local Abattoirs or small Packing Houses in towns—both

Using only a part of the local live stock supply and

Furnishing only a part of the local demand for meat.

These slaughtering and distributing agencies fill a well defined but necessarily restricted place in the distribution of the products of live stock.

But only packers like Swift & Company, organized on a national scale, are able to undertake the service that is more vitally important, involving

An Obligation to the Producer To purchase for spot cash all the live stock the producer may send to market for slaughter.

An Obligation to the Consumer To make available to every consumer, everywhere, in season and out, the full supply and variety of meat products, of the highest standard that the market affords.

instructive facts sent on request.

WOMAN.

She is nothing but a woman, fair, mysterious and sweet Given all the furing graces that make loveliness complete,
There is music in her laughter and her sighs are sweeter yet,
With the charm that makes us wonder and remember and forget:

Elusive, tempting, weak, Being all that man may seek,
Fearing little woes, but steadfast when disaster must be met.

She is nothing but a woman in whose breast love is aglow
As her child is taught the lesson you and I learned long ago;
From her lips he learns the wisdom that ennobles and that stands Firm against outworn tradition, filling Reason's new demands—Just a woman who would give More than life to let him live.

Who is sanctified and strengthened by the soft touch of her hands.
She is nothing but a woman, fit for heaven, but unfit For a seat where pious bishops and unrighteous laymen sit;
Fit to bear the Caesar's children, fit to make the world complete, Fit to be the Saviour's mother, fit to guide His baby feet—
But a woman still, alas,
And unqualified to pass Through the portals of the councils where the all-wise brothers meet.

THE WANTS OF MAN.

Man wants but little here below,
Nor wants that little long;
'Tis not with me exactly so,
But 'tis so in the song.
My wants are many and, if told,
Would muster many a score;
And were each wish a mint of gold,
I still should long for more.

I want (who does not want) a wife—Affectionate and fair;
To solace all the woes of life,
And all its joys to share.
Of temper sweet, of yielding will,
Of firm, yet placid mind;
With all my faults to love me still,
With sentiment refined.

And as Time's car incessant runs,
And fortune fills my store;
I want of daughters and of sons,
From eight to half a score.
I want alas! an moral dare,
Such bliss on earth to crave?
That all the girls be chaste and fair—
The boys all wise and brave.

These are the wants of mortal man,
I cannot want them long;
For life itself is but a span,
And carthly bliss—a song.
My last great want, absorbing all—
Is, when beneath the sod,
And summoned to my final call,
The "Mercy of my God."
—John Quincy Adams.

OUR BOYS.

"Where is Your Wandering Boy To-night?"

Yes, boys will be boys, and why should they not? Now, a boy should go to school, but there is no particular pleasure in that, for fun he wants and fun he will have.
Your boy should always be nice and clean; it makes him look well —but even that does not satisfy his frisky nature. A boy should go to meeting once or twice during the week, but, good as he is, he will crave for pleasure. We love a boy with a merry twinkle in his eye; he looks so cunning; and, besides, he will need all the spirit of a young colt before he gets through the world. If properly trained it will be to him what steam is to an engine. Did it ever occur to you to turn boy yourself and lay aside your dignified, serious airs?
Try it. Play with them; sing with them; and, when night comes you can pray with them with a result you little dreamed of. If they can always have more pleasure with you than anybody else you will always know where they are. Did you ever notice how the older animals play with their young? It looks funny you will admit. We have often laughed at an old stuff-legged horse playing with a colt and what a queer game of "tag" it was; the baby horse beat every time, but the little one always kept close to its mother, and was never heard to neigh. Parents take a lesson and it will be possible to know where the "wandering boys are tonight."

GET ONE IN YOUR HOME?

Captain Anderson Dana, who has just married at Plattsburg, is a grandson of the journalist, Charles A. Dana, and in an interview, he said:

"My grandfather believed in marriage. He thought it steadied a man.

I remember a story he used to tell.

"It's a story about a chap who asked a man:

"Have you ever heard anything about a machine for telling when a man is lying?"

"Sure," said the man.
"Have you ever seen one?"

said the chap.
"Seen one!" said the man. "By gash, I married one."—Washington Star.

SHORT AND SNAPPY.

Jealousy at best is but a chronic case of self-love.

A shady character doesn't always keep a man cool.

During the courtship love shows up in the dark.

Men of genius often make a fortune for a man of talent.

Singers who pursue the even tenor of their way never get off their base.

Sometimes the man who is afraid to take a chance is beaten at his own game.

THE TEST.

Small Brother—"Bot he'd kiss you if I weren't here." Sister—"You bad boy! Run away this very instant!"—Awgwan.

Has a Good Opinion of Chamberlain's Tablets.

"Chamberlain's Tablets are a wonder.
I never sold anything that beat them," writes F. B. Treney, Richmond, Ky.
When troubled with indigestion or constipation give them a trial.
