"SO PROUD OF HIM."

You Could Tell at a Glance That He Was a "Successful" Man—This "Chief Mourner" at His Mother's Funeral.

The firm mouth, the steady, slow-moving but not unkindly eyes but chiefly his air of strength and confidence made you feel that he had made good.

But he was strangely quiet as he sat in a corner of the room, before his mother's friends came in to pay their last respects to this humble, hard working widow who made good in her own way—she had raised a family of half dozen children after her husband died—and he left her without a cent—and they were all doing well—largely because of the start she gave them in character and discipline.

This first born of hers had been good to his mother—at least, she said so. He had paid her rent and occasionally—when he thought of it—he sent her a little present.

Called from a city a thousand miles away, where he had gone on a business trip, and arriving too late to say "Good-bye"—she had been calling for him constantly in the last days of her delirium—this son of whom his mother had been so proud was sore-hearted on the day of her funeral.

He was being tortured by the recollection that he had not written to his mother in a year—although he knew that she treasured his letters like a real lover—tucking them away in her waste basket and re-reading dozens of times, usually with tears of pride in her eyes.

He remembered that he hadn't sent her a single flower in many a month, although she was pathetically fond of the tiniest blossom—and she lived in the crowded city where there were no gardens, while he lived in the suburbs and had an acre of flowers growing riotously.

She needed the fresh air during the last year of her life—the doctor said—but she depended mostly on the trolley car for her outings—and it was hard for her to walk to the street car—although it would have been an easy matter for him to have sent her his car, occasionally.

The neighbors came into the little room to pay their last respects to his mother. * * * He listened to their comments. * * * They were very simple folk. * * * They told him how much his mother talked about him. And every word was a stab.

If only she could be brought back, he would give her everything—letters, flowers, automobile rides and sometimes a kiss—he would gladly give his life.

They carried her out. The "successful" son followed the pallbearers. The neighbors remembered that his mother was so proud of him.—Rev. Charles Stierle.

Sincere Gratitude.
Mrs. William Bell, Logansport, Ind., writes: "I deem it my duty to express my gratitude for the good Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy did me when I had a severe attack of diarrhoea three years ago. It was the only medicine that relieved me."

"George, dear, you've been down again. I can tell it."
"Don't do it, m' dear; don't do it. Let's keep it a family secret."

IN MISERY FOR YEARS

Mrs. Courtney Tells How She Was Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Oaklons, Iowa.—"For years I was simply in misery from a weakness and awful pains—and nothing seemed to do me any good. A friend advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I did so and got relief right away. I can certainly recommend this valuable medicine to other women who suffer, for it has done such good work for me and I know it will help others if they will give it a fair trial."
—Mrs. LIZZIE COURTNEY, 108 5th Ave., West, Oaklons, Iowa.

Why will women drag along from day to day, year in and year out, suffering such misery as did Mrs. Courtney, when such letters as this are continually being published. Every woman who suffers from displacements, irregularities, inflammation, ulceration, backache, nervousness, or who is passing through the Change of Life should give this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a trial. For special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass. The result of its long experience is at your service.

CALLED HER FAMILY TO HER BEDSIDE

Six Years Ago, Thinking She Might Die, Says Texas Lady, But Now She Is a Well, Strong Woman and Praises Cardui For Her Recovery.

Royse City, Tex.—Mrs. Mary Killman, of this place, says: "After the birth of my little girl...my side commenced to hurt me. I had to go back to bed. We called the doctor. He treated me...but I got no better. I got worse and worse until the misery was unbearable...I was in bed for three months and suffered such agony that I was just drawn up in a knot... I told my husband if he would get me a bottle of Cardui I would try it... I commenced taking it, however, that evening I called my family about me... for I knew I could not last many days unless I had a change for the better. That was six years ago and I am still here and am a well, strong woman, and I owe my life to Cardui. I had only taken half the bottle when I began to feel better. The misery in my side got less... I continued right on taking the Cardui until I had taken three bottles and I did not need any more for I was well and never felt better in my life... I have never had any trouble from that day to this."

Do you suffer from headache, backache, pains in sides, or other discomforts, each month? Or do you feel weak, nervous and fagged-out? If so, give Cardui, the woman's tonic, a trial.

"IT SHALL BE DONE."

REGIMENTAL SONG OF "GREY BONNET REGIMENT" OF "DIXIE DIVISION."

Appended are the words of the song of the "Grey Bonnet Regiment" of the 31st or "Dixie" Division of the American Army. The song—both words and music—was written by a private and adopted as the regimental song. "It shall be done" is the slogan of the regiment. The music has not yet been published. One of the soldiers in the regiment, which passed through Raleigh some time ago en route northward, handed the words to a member of the Raleigh Red Cross, who sends them to the News and Observer.

"IT SHALL BE DONE."
From the North where breezes blow
To the land of "Old Black Joe,"
The boys are coming,
With hearts a-burning,
The busy East has heard the call,
From the West in line they fall;
When victory is won, they'll be returning,
Hear the Captain bragging,
Not a man is lagging,
Each and everyone is full of "pep";
They're glad to come to Dixie Land,
To receive a helping hand,
And with the southern Lads they'll
Keep in step.

CHORUS—
Drop your work, drop your play,
Break away, don't delay,
Grab a gun, on the run,
There's a task to be done;
When they teach us to salute,
And they show us how to shoot,
I'd hate to be in the boots of any
HUN, HUN, HUN.
Down in Dixie,
In dear old Dixie,
Where the Blue and Gray are one,
We've got to go across the sea,
And put an end to Germany;
And take it from us, "It Shall Be Done."

Dixie Land, before we go,
There's just one thing you must know,
We're grateful for your assistance;
And the flag shall never fail
You've made soldiers of us all
And filled us with the spirit of resistance.
Though your hearts are yearning,
Pray for our returning,
While we spread the flame of Liberty;
For when you said "It Shall Be Done,"
Then we knew the war was won,
And that we'd be marching home with victory.

THE LETTER "E."

The letter E is said to be the most unfortunate character in the English language, because it is always out of cash, forever in debt, never out of danger and in hell all the time. On the other hand it is never in war but always in peace. It is the beginning of existence, the commencement of ease and the ending of trouble. Without it there would be no meat, no bread, no life, no errors to profit by, no engraving, and no Heaven. It helps to make honesty, keeps love perfect, and is the very center of "orders," the most popular word in business. Its place is right in the middle of bed but last at table, though its position improves when the curtains close. It is doubly strong in embrace and almost prodical in expense. It never associates with the fakir, the blow-hard or the ass, but shows up in bad company with Emperors, Germans, Boreds, and price cutters.

WILL YOU HELP OUR BOYS ABROAD?

Every Man, Woman and Child Can Join to Send News of This Town into the Front Line Trenches.

WHOLE NATION MOVES TO BANISH SOLITUDE

Our Heroes Are Calling From Over There—Give What You Can to Help Those From Home.

Every citizen interested in the boys of his home town now at the front, and in the brave women who equally are serving their country abroad, has an opportunity to show his appreciation of the sacrifice they are making. The opportunity comes as a result of the generosity and thought of Colonel William Boyce Thompson of New York, who has conceived and put into execution what is known as the Home Paper Service.

Under the plan, every man and woman in foreign service will receive the town newspaper, and so be kept in constant touch with the places and the people they know and love.

Every branch of the United States Government is interested in the plan. The Government realizes the importance of keeping those in the service happy and constantly in touch with their home ties and associations. Nothing is more depressing in a national emergency than the spirit of loneliness in those serving their country, and officials know that nothing can dispel this feeling more effectively than reading the home town newspaper.

Publishers of newspapers in all parts of the country—this newspaper included—have grasped with pleasure the plan outlined by Colonel Thompson, and they have agreed to co-operate in every way.

Under the ruling of the War Industries Board newspaper publishers are forbidden to send their newspapers free, even to soldiers. The newspaper must be subscribed for in the regular way, the only exception being soldiers who formerly were in the employ of the newspaper and who left that service to enlist. Colonel Thompson therefore proposes that the public in each community contribute to a fund so that the home newspaper (in our case this newspaper) may reach every man and woman now in the service of his country.

Anyone may contribute to the fund, and any sum may be contributed. It is not necessary to contribute the entire amount of one subscription. It does not matter whether the rich man sends in one hundred dollars or the poor boy or little girl sends in five cents. Each gift will be a message of love and helpfulness to the home town folks "Over There." The money will be lumped into one fund, out of which subscriptions will be entered as fast as the money is received.

Contributors who send in the full price of a year's subscription may, if they wish, designate to what particular person they wish the newspaper sent, but if the name given is already listed as receiving the paper, then the publisher reserves the right to apply the subscription to some less fortunate soldier boy or noble woman who is just as lonely for news of home and home folks.

The name of every contributor to this home paper service will be published in this newspaper, and the name of everyone entered for a subscription will be published as well as the number of those remaining whose subscriptions have not been covered.

If the amount of money received shall be more than is necessary to send the paper to every person from the town now in the service, then the balance will be turned over to the Red Cross.

The plan is endorsed by the publisher of this newspaper without any thought of profit, either directly or indirectly, but with a sincere desire to help keep the home fires burning and to send to our heroes and heroines news of our town, to keep their hearts warm for us and to let them know they are constantly in our minds.

The publisher, of course, cannot make a profit on circulation, and additional circulation such as this will be circulation from non-purchasers sent far across the sea—can have no added value to the advertiser.

These facts are stated so that every contributor may feel that every cent contributed goes to the good cause.

The mothers of our boys are facing an ordeal with a bravery that commands respect and admiration. Here and there where they stare are turned from blue to gold, where angels arise the heart, the nation stands in silence and honors the women who have given of their blood, the very bone of their bone, to their country. To them, home has lost its meaning—the soul of it has fled—there is no home. It is just a place, and no place is quite so lonely, unless it be within the hearts of those brave sons in far off France who long for just a word of home. There cannot be a man, there cannot be a woman, no, not even a child, who will fail to contribute just a little to make the hearts of these patriots lighter. Not one. Not in our town.

The moth has but much use for the man who has not one suit of clothes.

Bronchial Trouble.
Mrs. A. E. Sidenburger, Rockfield, Ind., states: "For an attack of bronchial trouble which usually assails me in the spring I find Chamberlain's Cough Remedy the only thing that gives me relief. It is used for a few days, a sign of bronchial trouble disappears."
