WORKING FOR BOYS OVER THERE.

Mrs. Josephus Daniels Speaks for War Work Fund in Jackson, Miss.

Jackson, (Miss.) Clarion-Ledger.
There was a large and sympathetic audience last night at Gallo-way Memorial Church, the largest auditorium in the city, to hear the address of Mrs. Josephus Daniels, wife of the secretary of the Navy, who pleaded the cause of the American soldiers and sailors and their mothers, wives and sisters, in whose support the United War Work Campaign to raise $170,000,000 is being conducted. The occasion was an historical event, as Mrs. Daniels is one of the history-making American women.

MRS. JOSEPHUS DANIELS.

Mrs. Daniels spoke in low, modulated tones, easy and graceful, and every statement she made was a plea from her heart to the hearts of all to "give for the dearest things on earth and sea, our boys and girls." Her closing words formed a direct appeal to raise the money in one day.

Every word bore out the statement she made in her introductory remarks, "To help my government, our boys and our girls. Just as a mother with a message of 'Love and Service.' Not a speech, but I have what all Americans have—a big heart and I want to pour it out to you." It was a heart full of love for God and humanity and the audience was in a reciprocal mood.

As Judge Lyell had referred to her husband's wonderful work in building up the Navy, and transporting more than 2,000,000 American soldiers, with food, stores, ammunition, etc., safely to France, she said that the records of the Navy must be held until after the war, when it would become history. She brought a message of 'Love and Service,' relating incidents in connection with the war and war work, showing that love for God and fellowmen is the greatest love and the spirit of helpfulness should prompt every one at all times. She spoke as one who has seen

THIS WEAK, NERVOUS MOTHER

Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Her Health.

Philadelphia, Pa.—"I was very weak, always tired, my back ached, and I felt sickly most of the time. I went to a doctor and he said I had nervous indigestion, which added to my weak condition kept me worrying most of the time—and he said if I could not stop that, I could not get well. I heard so much about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which I had heard of in connection with headaches, backache, irritability and depression—and soon more serious ailments develop. It is at such periods in life that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will restore a normal healthy condition, as it did to Mrs. Worthline.

THANKSGIVING 1918.

BY S. J. DUNCAN CLARK.

O God, we thank Thee for the broken sleep,
The passing of the self-complacent dream,
For opened eyes, for hearts aroused that leap
To follow Freedom's gleam!

We thank Thee we no longer stand aside
In neutral safety, while earth's highways run
Red with the blood of those who fought and died
To save us from the Hun.

We thank Thee for our women who remain
From sob and tear, and smile a brave farewell!
We thank Thee for our lad, who not in vain,
Shall march, eyes front, through hell!

We thank Thee for the hope, O Lord, how long?
The faith that we shall yet rebuild our peace
In larger companionship, and greet with song
The days when wars shall cease!

But, 'til that day, O God, make stout our heart,
Quicken its flame, grant wisdom and control,
And take our thanks that we may play our part,
That we have saved our soul!

HOW DO TACKLE IT?

How do you tackle your work each day?
Are you scared of the job you find?
Do you grapple the task that comes your way
With a confident, easy mind?
Do you stand right up to the work ahead
Or fearfully pause to view it?
Do you start to toil with a sense of dread
Or feel that you're going to do it?

You can do as much as you think you can,
But you'll never accomplish more;
If you're afraid of yourself, young man,
There's little for you in store.
For failure comes from the inside first;
It's there if we only knew it;
And you can win, though you face the worst,
If you feel that you're going to do it.

Success! It's found in the soul of you,
And not in the realm of luck.
The world will furnish the work to do,
But you must provide the pluck.
You can do whatever you think you can,
It's all in the way you view it;
It's all in the start that you make, young man:
You must feel that you're going to do it.

How do you tackle your work each day?
With confidence clear or dread?
What to yourself do you stop and say
When a new task lies ahead?
What is the thought that is in your mind?
Is fear ever running through it?
If so, tackle the next you find
By thinking you're going to do it.

MOTHER'S INFLUENCE.

The Power of the Mother Over The Child.

We were somewhat startled the other day to hear a learned lawyer of matured years and wide influence say: "Every child is five-sixths mother and one-sixth father."
"How is that?"
"How can it be otherwise when you consider the closeness of the tie between the mother and the child? It is actually bone of her bone and flesh of her flesh. During the early formative period the child is most entirely under the influence and guidance of the mother. A wise observer of human development has said: 'Give me a child during the first five years of his existence and I will make him what I please. It is in babyhood when the mind is soft and impressionable, that it receives the indelible marks for good or evil. The father is away from home, busy with affairs, the bread winner earning by the sweat of his brow, protection for his little ones and means of educating them, while the mother is with them constantly, forming their minds, their dispositions and establishing their principles permanently. The power of the mother over the child is almost absolute. She may praise or punish as she will. In her home she is the dictator and may rule as a despot, exacting obedience from a rebellious horde or as an angel diffusing sweetness and light into every corner and cranny of her kingdom. Thus the power and influence of women, though quiet, secret, hidden, are the heart and homes of the land, is infinitely powerful and far reaching.

HER UNWORTHINESS.

It was the sweet scent of the lilies in the conservatory, the beauty of the young girl's hair, or the excellent champagne he had taken at supper that led to his proposing in the obscurity beneath a palm. "I cannot be," she said. "I am unworthy of you."
"Oh, rubbish!" said he. "It is true; it is true." And she sighed.
"You are an angel," he said ardently.
"No, no; you are wrong," said the girl. "I am vain, idle, silly, utterly unfit to be your helpmate through life."
He laughed lightly, then said, in a soothing voice:
"Why, this is sheer madness. What sort of a wife do you think I ought to have?"
"A very wise, deliberate, practical woman," she replied; "one able to live on your salary."

Fortunate is the man who does not find fault because he doesn't know where to look for it.
Don't forget that a promising man seldom pay cash.

THE FUNERAL PROCESSION.

The Soldier's Only Child.

An affecting little incident that illustrates the spirit of loving comradeship that under the strain of war binds all France together like one family is told by Mrs. Mary King Waddington in My War Diary.

I went to the ouvroir this afternoon and found our cashier, who had just arrived, rather nervous at being late. I thought she had had bad news of her husband, who is at the front, when she explained, I learned that it was a different matter. She was standing at the door of her house with only a shawl on her shoulders when she saw a hearse pass, with a small coffin, evidently that of a child, and a soldier walking behind it quite alone, crying. She said that something—she did not know what—moved her to run out into the street. She went out, slipped her arm into the soldier's and walked along with him. A fat old concierge next door did the same thing, first stopping and buying a few pennies' worth of flowers from a cart to put on the coffin. Several others joined them, and by the time they reached the cemetery there were a dozen persons walking behind the hearse.

The poor man was too dazed at first to speak, but finally told them that it was his only child; his wife was ill, and he had twenty-four hours' leave to come and bury the child. He gave his name and address, and would be so grateful if some one would look after his wife. He was going back to the front that night.

Jeanne went over the next day, found the poor woman in a miserable little room, ill and depressed. A neighbor looked after her. Of course the ouvrier will see that she is properly cared for, and try to find some work for her when she gets stronger.

EXAGGERATION.

A Common Fault That Many Fall Into Without Realizing It.

Exaggeration is so common a fault that many of us fall into it without realizing that it is a fault. Not long ago a Methodist sister was seized at an experience meeting with a sudden desire to tell the truth. Several had preceded our heroine in their testimony, and then the woman arose and in a beautiful pitiful voice, asked the prayers of the congregation, saying "I know my besetting sin is exaggeration, it has grown on me by degrees. I never tell anything that is not true, but I do exaggerate the truth. I've tried so hard to get over it; in fact I have shed oceans and oceans of tears about it." She aroused not only the sympathy of some but much amusement to those who knew her well. Then later when the minister was offering up his petition for the varied needs of his flock, our "exaggerated" friend was shocked to hear him conclude "and Oh! Lord, forget not our lying sister," which was more efficacious in getting what was needed than many more ethical prayers.

TOWER OF STRENGTH.

"Napoleon was said to be worth 40,000 men."
"I dare say we'll find Edison worth a million."

EVER SALIVATED BY CALOMEL? HORRIBLE!

Calomel is quicksilver and acts like dynamite on your liver.

Calomel loses you a day! You know what calomel is. It's mercury; quicksilver. Calomel is dangerous; it crasies into sour bile like dynamite, cramping and sickening you. Calomel attacks the bones and should never be put into your system.
When you feel bilious, sluggish, constipated and all knocked out and believe you need a dose of dangerous calomel just remember that your druggist sells for a few cents a large bottle of Dodson's Liver Tonic, which is entirely vegetable and pleasant to take and is a perfect substitute for calomel. It is guaranteed to start your liver without stirring you up inside, and can not salivate.
Don't take calomel! It makes you sick the next day; it loses you a day's work. Dodson's Liver Tonic straightens you right up and you feel great. Give it to the children because it is perfectly harmless and doesn't gripe.
