THE GOLDEN RULE.

"THOUGH I SPEAK WITH THE TONGUE OF ANGELS,"

There is no asset to a community so great as that of a friendly spirit—good roads, telephone and even churches not excepted—and it is the women who make a neighborhood friendly. Everybody fears the gossip of that group of peculiarly minded men who inhabit the environs of the stove in the village square, their thoughts as dark and useless as the tobacco they chew and spit. Even that, however, is ignored in the friendly atmosphere we women can create.

Snobishness is more a characteristic of the country than of the town, and is fostered by us women. We do not need to be snobbish and few of us feel snobbishness. We are busy, someone must stay at home; when we do go we are a little diffident. Then it is that the tenant thinks the landowner's wife is high and mighty and members of one church have a good time among themselves and do not think of the little woman who has just moved in. And so it goes.

To be friendly costs no money. The hearty smile and greeting that men have acquired through meeting the world and his neighbor for generations, we might copy with profit.

The old saying "Even the cat can look at the king" might be changed to "Even the king can speak to the cat."

The biggest, finest lesson we women can set ourselves to learn is that of tolerance and charity. "Though I speak with the tongues of men and of angels and have not charity," was written 2,000 years ago, but it is just as true now as then. Charity in thought, word and deed means being kind in small things. It means applying the Golden Rule every hour every day. It means putting one's self in the other person's place and trying to understand. It means giving the benefit of the doubt where understanding is impossible. —Progressive Farmer.

THE "OLD RELIABLE" THEDFORD'S BLACK-DRAUGHT

White Haired Alabama Lady Says She Has Seen Medicines Come and Go But The "Old Reliable" Thedford's Black-Draught Came and Stayed.

Dutton, Ala.—In recommending Thedford's Black-Draught to her friends and neighbors here, Mrs. T. F. Parks, a well-known Jackson County lady, said: "I am getting up in years; my head is pretty white. I have seen medicines and remedies come and go but the old reliable came and stayed. I am talking of Black-Draught, a liver medicine we have used for years—one that can be depended upon and one that will do the work. "Black-Draught will relieve indigestion and constipation if taken right, and I know for I tried it. It is the best thing I have ever found for the full, uncomfortable feeling after meals. Sour stomach and sick headache can be relieved by taking Black-Draught. It aids digestion, also assists the liver in throwing off impurities. I am glad to recommend Black-Draught, and do, to my friends and neighbors." Thedford's Black-Draught is a standard household remedy with a record of over seventy years of successful use. Every one occasionally needs something to help cleanse the system of impurities. Try Black-Draught. Insist upon Thedford's, the genuine. At all druggists. U. 29

THE PLEASANT WORLD.

BY FRANK L. STANTON.

I don't care what they're sayin'—it's a pleasant world all 'round, An' silver bands are playin', an' the blessin's comin' down! There's more o' love an' laughter, though sorrows seldom miss, An' 'twill be a bright hereafter if it's half as sweet as this!

We don't forget the trouble—it makes mist around the eyes, But, when one star is settin', don't you know one more'll rise? We're in love with the past an' present—we're in love with all that is, An' 'twill be the next world if it's half as sweet as this!

So, sing your halleluia, an' let the music roll! An' take in all the sunshine—let it simmer in your soul! For all its tribulations, the world has much of bliss, An' the next world will be jolly, if it's half as fine as this!

DAD'S OLD HAT.

The honey bee mused as she winged her flight That summer would soon be gone, That winter's frost as the dark of night Would most assuredly come. Thus musing she said, I must lay in store Food for the rainy day, From flower, to flower, the whole field o'er Sought sweets, which she stored away.

A wise young rat from his home in the loft Caught the sentiment of the bee, And thought it best to make his bed Where from cold he would ever be free. Knowing the barn would furnish him corn His hunger to satisfy, His only thought, was for the bed His comfort to supply.

In looking material He did this hat espy, As quick as thought, 'twas in that loft All nibbled, and awry. Oh! how sad, that this dear old hat Should meet with such a horrible fate, We wished it kept for the good it had done But such thoughts they came too late.

If things that served, let us ever take care Not cruelly casting aside, As cherished mementoes, protection afford Such relics preserve with pride. Thus things in this life, do not always part out As we would wish them to do, This treasured hat, became the bed of a rat And forever lost to view.

EFFECTIVE COMPROMISE.

Heck—You say you never have domestic squabbles; how do you avoid them?

Peck—Well, you see, immediately after we were married my wife and I came to an understanding. She said: "Now, Henry, we must neither of us be selfish and always try, to run things. We must make mutual concessions. I propose that when we agree on any matter you are to have your way, and when we disagree I am to have my way. Then we shall get along nicely." And we have.

Our idea of a great talker is a woman who has enough sense to know her limit.

Over fifty years ago a young physician practiced widely in Pennsylvania and became famous for his uniform success in the curing of disease. This was Dr. R. V. Pierce, who afterwards established himself in Buffalo, N. Y., and placed his "Golden Medical Discovery" in the drug stores of the United States. When you feel run-down, out of sorts, thin and feeble, try the energizing influence of Golden Medical Discovery in tablet or liquid form, each a 4 ounce bottle, were sold last year.

AGREE EXACTLY. ANSWERS CALL.

Husband (newly married) Don't you think, love, if I were to smoke it would spoil the curtains?

Wife—Ah, you are the most selfish and thoughtful husband in the world; certainly it would.

Husband—Well, then take the curtains down.

THE REASON.

The man yonder bears a charmed life. You don't say so. He falls in love with every girl he meets.

HOW'S THIS?

TO-DAY.

FOR ALL YOU KNOW IT MAY BE THE ONLY DAY YOU WILL EVER HAVE.

You get up with a scowl on your face, a lump in your stomach, a weight on your soul. You look out and see no sunshine. Drizzling rain dampens everything. It's "soggy" under foot. "Beastly weather," you mutter to yourself. "A bad day today," you persistently and pessimistically say to every one you meet.

You fool! There is no such thing as a bad day. Good days and bad days only exist in your own head. The weather has nothing to do with it. Each day is what you make it for yourself. Bad weather is only an unfortunate opinion.

Suppose it is raining pitchforks. You get word that your salary has been doubled or that a forgotten uncle has left you a million dollars. What do you care about the weather then? Or suppose the person you love is dying. Unexpectedly a turn for the better comes. The doctor says your dear one will live. What if it is hotter than Tophet? It is a good day, a great day, a happy day.

It's what you think and feel about it that makes each day what it is. You, within yourself, can make each day, every day, a good day. Put down in the notebook of your soul the poet Ruenberg's thought:

"Each day is a life." When you get up in the morning throw back your shoulders, take a deep breath. Meet the new day like a man. Say to yourself: Another day—another life!

For all we know it may be the only day we'll ever have. Let's make it the best day we can. Let's strive to see that is a day worth while. Let's move a step forward in our work. Let's do all the good we can. Let's get all the happiness we can today.

Right now is the only time you can control. Yesterday is a record. Tomorrow is a secret. Today is yours, is mine.

NOT WHAT SHE MEANT.

She had received his gift of flowers with rapture. "Oh, they are perfectly lovely!" she exclaimed. "And there's even a little dew on them still." "Er-yes," he stammered, "there's a little, but I intend to pay it on Saturday night."

A miller's life is one continuous grind.

Worn Down, Out of Heart

Georgia Lady, Worn-out and Tired; Tells How She Was Helped by Ziron Iron Tonic.

THE personal experience of Mrs. Nannie Phillips, of Powder Springs, Ga., is printed below in her own words: "I was in a worn-out condition. My stomach was out of order. I didn't sleep well. I was tired all the time. I couldn't half eat, and didn't rest well at night. "I would get out of bed and then I would feel like I was going to be down in bed. Yet I kept dragging around. "We heard of Ziron, at I from what I read. I was sure it wouldn't hurt me. If it didn't help me, but after taking it, I found it really helped me, and I sent back for more. I am better, felt much stronger. I am sure Ziron is a splendid tonic! "Many people, who are worn down and exhausted, due to stomach disorders and nervous life, find relief by taking up their blood with Ziron Iron Tonic. Tell your druggist you want to try Ziron on our money-back guarantee."
