SUCCESS IN MARRIED LIFE.

To Insure It, Says Court Official,
Each Should Be a Partner, as in Business Enterprise.

A wide experience with husbands and wives has enabled Mrs. Julia L. McGuire of the Chicago, court of domestic relations to formulate these principles which she gives in People's Magazine.

"It can all be summed up in about the same way textbooks on business tell one to sum up the proposition of going into business partnership:

"1. Know your partner. Study him—or her—under trying circumstances as well as when things are going well.

"2. Be sure that you and your partner agree in your purpose and ambitions. Compare notes with each other and find out whether you have the same tastes and hopes for the future. Find out your prospective partner's idea of what to do in prosperity or adversity.

"3. Settle upon your working program for the future. Decide how you will apportion your working funds; face frankly the possibilities for trouble, and arrange in advance to meet them. Determine in advance the direction in which you expend your establishment when you have savings to disburse.

"4. Institute an adequate system of cost accounting to see that your funds go for the purpose you have agreed upon. Get into the habit of being frank with each other, of clearing up misunderstandings instead of letting them rankle.

"5. Go to it—and stick to it—along these lines.

"6. Unless one of you has hidden faults, you will not fail.

"That is what I have learned from my contact with forty-four thousand unhappy marriages, which have been able to sum up, scrutinize and analyze. The soundest advice to both men and women that I could give is: 'Play fair and use common sense with husband or wife.'

Relieves Rheumatic Pains.

"I am subject to rheumatism and when I have a spell of it one or two applications of Chamberlain's Liniment relieves the pain and makes rest and sleep possible. I would not think of doing without it," writes Mrs. C. Owey, Moberly, Mo.

MIGHT AS WELL.

Even Abe Lincoln, though never noted for his beauty, had some pride in his appearance. One day, the story is told, while going down the street, he met a man who looked him over closely and drew a gun on him.

"Stranger," the man said, "I swore that if ever I met anyone homelier than I was, I'd shoot him on sight."

"Brother," drawled Abe, "if I'm homelier than you I reckon you might as well."

WHEN TO USE IT.

Knicker—What is the secret of wealth?

Bocker—Save something for a rainy day.

WEAK, NERVOUS, ALL RUN-DOWN

Missouri Lady Suffered Until She Tried Cardui.—Says "Result Was Surprising."—Got Along Fine, Became Normal and Healthy.

Springfield, Mo.—"My back was so weak I could hardly stand up, and I would have been down stairs and was not well at any time," says Mrs. D. V. Williams, wife of a well-known farmer on Route 8, this place. "I kept getting headaches and having to go to bed," continues Mrs. Williams describing the troubles from which she obtained relief through the use of Cardui. "My husband, having heard of Cardui, proposed getting it for me. I saw after taking some Cardui that I was improving. The result was surprising. I felt like a different person."

"Later I suffered from weakness and weak back, and felt all run-down. I did not rest well at night. I was so nervous and cross. My husband said he would get me some Cardui, which he did. It strengthened me. My doctor said I got along fine. I was in good healthy condition. I cannot say too much for it."

Thousands of women have suffered as Mrs. Williams describes, until they found relief from the use of Cardui. Since it has helped so many, you should not hesitate to try Cardui if troubled with womanly ailments. For sale everywhere.

LOVE RAISED THE TUNE

BY FRANK L. STANTON.

In the meetin' house that day Love the tune was raisin' When her bright eyes beamed my way there was grace a-plazin' What the parson said no doubt was the same old story; Anyway, my soul that day felt like shoutin' "Glory!"

Old hymns ringin' sweet an' clear, heavenly light—it crowned her; There were angels hoverin' near—flutterin' wings around her. Leastways, so it seemed to be, and I said, a-singin', "Sweeter face is hers to me, than any angel's flyin'."

Life's been sweeter ever since; to its joys I'm clingin'; In the silence of my soul I go to Heaven a-singin'; I'm glad the angels on that day, when all the grace was given, Could not persuade my dream o' love to follow them to Heaven!

THE WISEST MAN.

Suppose, my little lady,

Your doff should break her head,

Could you make it whole by crying,

Till your eyes and nose were red?

And wouldn't it be pleasanter

To treat it as a joke;

And say you're glad 'twas dolly's

And not your head that broke?

Suppose you're dressed for walking

And the rain comes pouring down,

Will it clear off any sooner

Because you scold and frown?

And wouldn't it be nicer

For you to smile, than pout,

And so make sunshine in the house

When there is none without?

Suppose your task, my little man,

Is very hard to get,

Will it make it any easier

For you to sit and fret?

And wouldn't it be wiser

Than waiting, like a dunce,

To go to work in earnest,

And learn the thing at once?

Suppose that some boys have a horse

And some a coach and pair,

Will it tire you less while walking

To say, "it isn't fair?"

And wouldn't it be nobler

To keep your temper sweet

And in your heart be thankful

You can walk upon your feet?

Suppose the world doesn't please you

Nor the way some people do,

Do you think the whole creation

Will be altered just for you?

And isn't it, my boy or girl,

The wisest, bravest plan,

Whatever comes or doesn't come,

To do the best you can?

—Phoebe Cary.

MIND-READING STUFF.

Irene, belle of the village green, was in the drug store with her ardent swain absorbing an ice cream soda when her straw became bent.

Hey, she called to the clerk, my sucker's broke.

The swain colored. Ding it! he exclaimed pettishly. How'd you know I was?

HISTORY REPEATS ITSELF.

She (after the hasty betrothal): "Darling, this ring looks so familiar."

He (studying her more closely): "Can it be possible that—"

"She: 'Yes, it is—the very same ring! Why, you're the very fellow I was engaged to three weeks last summer!'"

FOOLOSOPHY.

"You sometimes hear somebody say that somebody else ain't got sense enough to pound sand in a rathole," says Uncle Seth Whiffletree. "Well, the way I figure it out, anybody that's got that much sense ought to have more sense than to do such a dern fool trick."

Moderately strong salt and water taken by the teaspoonful at intervals is a cure for catarrhal cold.

To rid a fire of cinders, put in oyster shells, one at a time, while it is burning brightly.

Those who marry for love are just as likely to bump into disappointment as those who marry for money.

The divine is not discovered by definition.

It takes more than a homemade halo to make a hero.

Wisdom is in aging the head and keeping the heart youthful.

The ground of all great thoughts is sadness.

A bluff by any other name would be just as unsatisfactory.

REGRETTED HIS FIB.

Persistent Questioner, in the Classic Language of the Street,
"Got Back at Him."

The deep-sea fisherman often has a sharp tongue and is not likely to get the worst of a verbal duel. But George, the skipper of a Yarmouth trawler, who figures in "North Sea Fishers and Fighters," by Mr. Walter Wood, certainly met with his match once whether he knew it or not.

"There's land people who come and bother you with foolish questions," he complained in recounting the hardships of a skipper's life. "I try to put 'em off, but can't allus do it. There was an old lady who worried me past endurance with her questions, askin' if the herrin's were caught in barrels, as she'd sometimes seen 'em that way in shops. I told her no, and then she aggravated me to that extent that I told the only fib I ever spoke in my life.

"How do you kill 'em when you've caught 'em?" she asked. "We bite off their heads," I answered.

"She looked at the catch of herrin's we had, 'My! My!' she murmured, walkin' away. 'How tired your poor jaws must be!'"

Get the Prest-O-Lite Prescription for that Bilious Battery

Get that examination NOW!

ARE your lights dim and yellow? Do you get a lazy spark? Does the starter labor to throw the engine over? Your battery may show none of these symptoms, and still need looking over.

Tuning up the motor and putting grease in the cups and transmission don't constitute the Spring overhauling. What about the battery, the electric heart of the whole works?

It may be all right, but find out. When you do need a new battery, you'll be glad to know that Prest-O-Lite is back to pre-war prices and that an allowance will be made on your old battery.

Drive around to the Prest-O-Lite Service Station and get the correct dope on your battery's condition. That's the common-sense thing to do. A little attention now may save you the price of a new battery later.
