Father and Small Daughter in Complete Agreement Concerning Classification of Relatives.

There lived with an eminent divine his two sisters, Mary and Jane. One morning he was deeply engrossed in a new treatise he was preparing when his young daughter was brought to him by her governess.

"I have to report Miss Ellen for a terrible thing. She called her Aunt Mary a—a—a—d—d fool!" said the governess.

"How terrible!" responded the divine. "Did you call your Aunt Mary this awful thing?"

"No, father. I didn't," faltered the youngster. "I called her a fool—but not a—a—a—d—d fool."

"Well, even that is very wicked of you," he replied, "but as you did not use that awful adjective I will forgive you. You may go." And he returned to his writing.

The youngster, however, did not go. "Please, father," she said, presently. "I didn't call Aunt Mary a d—d fool. I called her a fool. But—I—I—I—did call Aunt Jane a d—d fool!"

"Yes, yes!" he mumbled, without looking up from his work. "I quite agree. That is the precise distinction between them that I usually make myself!"

They Speak Well of It.

"I frequently hear Chamberlain's Cough Remedy praised by friends and acquaintances which only tends to strengthen my good opinion of it," writes Mrs. Fred Aster, Zanesville, Ohio. "Try it when you have a cough or cold and see for yourself what an excellent medicine it is."

HOW THEY DO IT.

"My marriage is a complete success. I do just as I please. My wife does as she pleases."

"Ah, it must be wonderful to live happily together."

"Oh—we'll—you see, we haven't lived together for five years."

WOMAN, WOMAN!

"Dolly's sore because I kissed her last night."

"Why don't you tell her you're sorry, then?"

"Good Lord, man! If I told her that she'd never speak to me again."

Relieves Rheumatic Pains.

"I am subject to rheumatism and when I have a spell of it one of two applications of Chamberlain's Liniment relieves the pain and makes rest and sleep possible. I would not think of doing without it," writes Mrs. C. Owsery, Moberly, Mo.

AS FRIEND TO FRIEND.

"Marry my daughter!" cried the angry merchant. "I should hope not. Be off with you, sir! Go to the devil, sir."

The young man was not a bit upset by these definite instructions. "Very well," he replied. "Can I take any message for you?"

Indigestion

Many persons, otherwise vigorous and healthy, are bothered occasionally with indigestion. The effects of a disordered stomach on the system are dangerous, and prompt treatment of indigestion is important. "The only medicine I have needed has been something to aid digestion and clean the liver," writes Mr. Fred Ashby, a McKinney, Texas, farmer. "My medicine is for indigestion and stomach trouble of any kind. I have never found anything that touches the spot, like Black-Draught. I take it in broken doses after meals. For a long time I tried pills, which griped and didn't give the good results. Black-Draught liver medicine is easy to take, easy to keep, inexpensive.

Thedford's BLACK-DRAUGHT

LOVE-DREAM OF STARS

BY FRANK L. STANTON.

The wind is feeling for to find his way
From the dreaming darkness to the Rose of Day;
For the stars have whispered from their home of blue
Of an old loved garden where they dreamed of you!
And it's O for the glory of the bloom and beam,
And the old, sweet story in a star's love-dream!

The Wind is singing, for the song came
When the stars made music that could breathe your name;
Is there one at a window in a light-lived place,
Where the rose is fairer that has seen her face?
O light in glory from the far skies stream—
Tell the sweetheart-story of the stars' love-dream!

Love is the glory of the Springtime, sweet;
Love is the story all the stars repeat;
Lead life loveward, to the lilies there,
Where every blossom is an answered prayer.
And night shall be light, and its splendor stream
'Round the old, sweet story of a world's love-dream.

ROUND THE CORNER.

Just around the corner! O, it's just a little ways
Where there lingers still the joy-times of our happy childhood day
Though sometimes the way is weary, and we chafe beneath the load
That we bear on tired shoulders as we trudge the weary road,
Yet evening comes upon us and we seize the rest we've won.
Laying down a while the burden we have borne since rising sun,
We can close our eyes on roiling and mem'ry's wings of gold
Fly back just around the corner to the childhood days of old.

Just around the corner! Such a little ways to go
When we travel back in mem'ry to the joys we used to know
Such a little backward journey, but how long the journey seems
When 'tis measured by the heart-aches and the pains of vanished dreams,

Such a little journey taken on the wings of memory,
Though now how long the way, and weary, since the days of used to be.

But when ev'ning's shadows gather quick we take the backward way—
Till we're just around the corner where we used to laugh and play.

Just around the corner! O, how blue the arching skies;
And how sweet the roses blooming, and how sweet the woodland lies
Hear the music of the water as it turns the grumbling wheel;
Watch the partridge through the thickets in the cooling shadows steal;
Hear the chatter of the squirrel, hear the nuts as they fall;
Catch the far off welcome echoes of the old horn's ringing call!
Long the road that we have journeyed, though it's but a little ways—
Only just around the corner to the joys of our days.

The Commoner.

GHOST THAT COMES TO PRAY.

Apparition Reported to Have Been Seen in London Church.

From the London Daily Express.

A mysterious apparition has been seen in St. Thomas's Church, Regent street. The story of the ghostly figure is told by the Rev. Clarence May, the vicar, who asserts that it appeared to him personally. He is partly supported by other people, who state that noises were heard by them before the appearance of the spirit.

"The events have occurred in the course of the last three weeks," said Mr. May. "Uncanny knockings were heard by the caretaker and her nephew, who was with her in the church at the time. She came and informed me, while the man waited outside. No one could have passed him without being seen, but when I arrived the church was empty."

"A few days later my curate, the Rev. John Ewin, heard pattering of feet, although no one was in the church."

"Lastly, at 8 o'clock one morning I entered the church and distinctly saw a cossacked figure kneeling in the side chapel."

"I thought it was a priest. It rose and walked past the altar to sacristy on the other side. I followed, expecting to meet the worshipper in the vestry. No one was there. The figure had vanished."

"The form was quite normal in size and appearance and had a decided limp. The last two reverends have both been lame, but there is a decided reason, which I would rather not disclose, for the appearance of the last."

"The matter is now in the hands of the Psychological Research Society."

STRIKE

"Man," quoth Rastus, "if Ah just raise mah fist once at you and let it drop, youse gwine wah water-melons, chicken and po'k chops blooms all de time."

"Dat's de just time Ah was ever threatened by pleasure," said Sam. "Lei her drop."

LOOKED LIKE PROMISED MAN.

Victim of Carelessness Came Back With Pointed Remark Concerning Companion's Immediate Future.

Two negroes were working in a coal bin in a Mississippi town, one down in the bin throwing out the coal and the other, wielding a shovel. The one inside picked up a large lump and heaved it carelessly into the air, struck the other a resounding blow on the head.

As soon as the victim had recovered from his momentary daze he walked over to the edge of the bin and, peering down at his mate, said:

"Nigger, how come you don't watch where you throws dat coal? You done hit me smack on the head."

The other looked surprised. "Did I hit you, nigger?" "You sho' did," came the answer. "And I jest want to tell you I've been promising the debil a man a long time, and you certainly does resemble my promise."
