THE government prohibition of ficer says one or two breweries can make enough beer to supply the country, under the interpretation of the law permitting beer to ce prescribed in cases of illness. The prohibition enforcement officer may be a smart man along certain lines, but he knows very about people. Stock up the drugstores and arm the doctors with prescription blanks and one half the men can get sick in a day.

THE Agriculture Commutee of the House of Representatives has reported favorably a bill to regulate grain exchanges which deal in futures. It is claimed for it that while it will not absolutely desiraly: speculation, it will destroy manipulation, make for uniformity imong ! the markets. Such legislation is needed for all farm products, conton as well as wheat. If speculation operates to the disadvantage of the farmer, as many think, it ought to be prevented by law as nearly as that is possible.

DR. FMER T. CLASS, pored anthor and writer, and who is deeply South, stated publicly: "But aren't we educating now? In a sense ves. And in a sense no. We have some great colleges and have laid the foundation for two great untversities. Our educational history is glorious; we have sent out from our schools some of the greatest men of the nation. But we are by no means keeping siep in the work of Christian education with the pace of the world, we are not by any means meeting the domand that is upon us in this regard."
