HOME LIFE.

It is The Home Life That Our Civilization is Built.

The best of life should be and is for most people the home life. Those persons who are unfortunate enough not to have experienced the truth of this fact have not known what is best in life. If a man looking back over the years finds that his greatest satisfaction and happiness has come from associations and experiences outside his own family circle, it is a bleak and desolate career that he surveys, however successful it may seem to others. The talks and walks that a boy has with his father and a girl with her mother, the games that the family play together, the jokes that to an outsider perhaps would have little flavor, even the quarrels, ending as they do in reconciliations that make the affections more warm than they had been before—are there any better experiences and memories than these for anyone?

Some people fear that the value of home life is less appreciated now than it used to be. They think that automobiles and jazz and movies and magazine fiction tend to make people restless, discontented with the quiet of home, discontented even with their homes. We think that there is not much reason to be apprehensive. The love of family is the most deep-seated instinct in the race. Amusements and excitements that prevent or diminish the manifestation of that instinct can have only a temporary fascination. As for the automobile, it is for most persons a convenience that helps to enrich the family life—though sometimes perhaps it impoverishes the family. The American people are too sound at heart to become careless and callous toward the family tie.

It is on the home life that our civilization is built. If the home life decays, our civilization will crumble. In the home life of every family the members are responsible not only to one another but to the nation for the maintenance of a high standard. In spite of the prevalence of fiction that presents domestic unhappiness as its theme, we believe that by far the greater number of Americans meet the responsibilities and rejoice in the happiness of their home life.

How Not to Take Cold.

Some persons are subject to frequent colds, while others seldom, if ever, have a cold. You will find that the latter take good care of themselves. They take a shower or cold bath every day in a warm room, avoid overheated rooms, sleep with a window open or partly open, avoid excesses over eating, becoming overheated and then chilled and getting the feet wet. Then, when they feel the first indication of a cold, they take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy without delay and it is soon over.

A Tonic For Women

"I was hardly able to drag, I was so weakened," writes Mrs. W. F. Ray, of Easley, S. C. "The doctor treated me for about two months, still I didn't get any better. I had a large family and felt I surely must do something to enable me to take care of my little ones. I had heard of

CARDUI

The Woman's Tonic

"I decided to try it," continues Mrs. Ray. "I took eight bottles in all. . . I regained my strength and have had no more trouble with womanly weakness. I have ten children and am able to do all my housework and a lot outdoors. . . I can sure recommend Cardui."

Take Cardui today. It may be just what you need. At all druggists.

MORE LIGHT.

"More light! more light!" When sunsets hues are steeping
All heaven and earth in waves of living light;
And silence, o'er creation calmly creeping,
With fingers whispers her good night.

"More light! more light!" When Dawn's soft golden tresses,
Blown through the sky, proclaim the vigil o'er,
And rosy, to the Zephyr's sweet caresses,
Aurora smiles through heaven's half open door.

"More light! Upon the page so full of wonder,
Which God's great gracious love to man has given;
That through the veil which it has rent asunder
The light may stream to show the path to Heaven.

"More light!" For dying eyes when sunlight fails them,
And all creation quivers to the sight;
"More light!" O God! Thy light avails them,
And Thou wilt give it, for Thou art the Light!

AT GRANNY'S HOUSE.

At Granny's house things somehow seem
Like they ain't real—all just a dream
Of days when Granny used to be
'Bout big as half as big as me.

We like to sit in Granny's door
An' hear what she calls "days of yore."
Which Granny says was 'way back there
When sense was sense an' men was square.

Why, Granny says, one ma' back then,
If he was here, would be worth ten.
An' she says, wimmen, too, could work
As hard as some now sit an' shirk.

She says today things don't endure;
Why, just look at th' furniture!
You ain't got rockers more'n a week
Till they break down or start to squeak.

Them days when folks got wed it struck—
Judge didn't care who had bad luck.
An' Granny says th' wimmens then
Got out o' bed 'fore half pas' ten.

Oh, Granny's mad th' way things is—
Girls ought to git th' rheumatiz!
An' she can't stand th' way that they
Wear Sunday dresses every day!

An' Sausage now is all a sin
Th' way it's got th' cornmeal in;
An' folks back then cooked fer themselves
An' don't git meals from grocery shelves.

Oh Gee, but Granny's mad the way
This world's turned out to be today,
Still what I can't git through my head,
Is why such good folks all is dead.

SCHEME WORKED.

EXperimenter Secured Sleep, but Hardly Knows Just Where to Award the Credit.

He could not sleep. He had read that if one would put the tips of the fingers of one hand against the tips of the fingers of the other, one could go to sleep immediately and the next thing would be daylight.

He decided not to tell his wife. With the lights out he placed the tips of his fingers together and lay still for several minutes. Then he moved slightly and was quiet again for several minutes. Naturally after a time he began to squirm, but he kept the finger tips together.

The wife, noticing the restlessness and the finger tip performance, inquired irritably: "Edward, what in the world are you doing?"

"Nothing," he sheepishly replied, and was soon asleep from the fatigue of holding the finger tips together.

Now he doesn't know whether to give credit to the finger tip or deal or thanks to his wife for breaking the spell.

THE ONLY RESOURCE.

The class in chemistry was wrestling with a tough problem. Suppose, supposed the professor, you were called upon to attend a patient who had swallowed a heavy dose of oxalic acid—what would you administer?

There was silence for a few moments and then a voice spoke up: The sacrament.

Chamberlain's Tablets Have Done Her a World of Good.

"Chamberlain's Tablets have done me a world of good," writes Mrs. Ella I. Button, Kirkville, N. Y. "I have recommended them to a number of my friends and all who have used them praise them highly." When troubled with indigestion or constipation, give them a trial and realize for yourself what an excellent medicine it is.

AN IMPERFECT CONTAINER.

Her tears gave the thing away."
"Well, we might have known it would leak out."

"Cold In The Head"

is an acute attack of Nasal Catarrh.

This subject to frequent "colds in the head" will find that the use of HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE will build up the system, cleanse the blood and render them less liable to colds. Repeated attacks of Acute Catarrh may lead to Chronic Catarrh.

Hall's Catarrh Medicine is taken internally acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thus reducing the inflammation and restoring normal conditions.

THE TOURIST.

"Hello there, Dubbs, how did you find the Sahara? Pretty hot?"
"It is so hot the lizards carry sticks to climb so they can cool their feet."

A Timely Suggestion.

This is the season of the year when the prudent and careful housewife replenishes her supply of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It is almost certain to be needed before the winter is over and results are much more prompt and satisfactory when it is kept at hand and given as soon as the first indication of a cold appears and before it has become settled in the system. There is no danger in giving it to children as it contains no opium or other harmful drug.

ALL ACTION.

Zizzy—Doesn't the moon look engaging?
Zazzy—Yes; there's a ring around it.
And their friends received invitations.

RED SEAL LYE

THE cleaning power of all soaps and cleansers is lye. Soap is nothing more than grease and water and lye, sometimes perfumed.

You can make your own soap at a great saving, out of Red Seal Lye. Simply mix it with grease and water according to directions.

Red Seal Lye is the very best lye your money can buy. It is pure lye, granulated, and packed in cans that are easy and convenient to use. To use it by itself for cleaning floors, woodwork, dishes, clothes, simply dissolve it in water and use the water as a cleanser.
