

THE ONE WHO QUILTS.

The one who quits has a brain and hand
As good as the next; but they lack the sand
That would make them stick, with courage stout,
To whatever they tackle, and fight it out.

They start with a rush and a solemn vow
That they soon will be showing the other how;
Then something new strikes their roving eye
And their task is left for the bye and bye.

It's up to each one what becomes of them
They must find in themselves the grit and vim
That brings success; they can get the skill
If they bring to the task a steadfast will.

No one is beaten 'till they give in;
Hard luck can't stand for a scattered grin;
The one who fails needs a better excuse
Than the quitter's whining "what's the use?"

For the one that quits lets their chances slip,
Just because they're too lazy to keep their grip.
The one who sticks goes ahead with a shout,
While the one who quits joins the "down and out."
