OLD WELDON.

Things That Happened 33 Years Ago in Town and Vicinity.

Feb. 14, 1889.—Married at Elam Baptist church, Northampton county, N. C., on the 16th of January, by the Rev. Mr. Campbell, of the M. E. Church, Miss Jimmie Vassor, daughter of James Vassor, Esq., to Mr. James Reid, all of said county.

On Friday afternoon the passenger and mail train of the Raleigh & Gaston railroad was wrecked just this side of Raleigh near the car shops. The bolts of the switch had been pulled by some scoundrel, while the switch remained so set that it showed "no danger." Rufus Horion, the engineer, one of the oldest on the road, escaped with few bruises. Mail Agent Grant was thrown through a window and was caught on a mail catcher. Mr. W. S. Wilkies, the express messenger, was also bruised a little.

Captain J. T. Scott, for a number of years conductor on the Atlantic Coast Line between Richmond and this place, made his last trip over the line Tuesday. He resigned to accept a position as conductor on the Panama Railroad and will sail from New York for Aspinwall on the 20th instant.

February 21, 1889.—Mr. J. W. Pierce, son of our townsman, Dr. A. B. Pierce, has been promoted to conductor on the Atlantic Coast Line between Wilmington and this place.

Mrs. Eva Davis is visiting relatives in town.

Mr. A. J. Campbell, formerly of this place, is here on a visit to relatives.

Miss Sue Timberlake, of Raleigh, and Miss Lelia Newcomb, of Henderson, are here on a visit to friends.

On Sunday morning, the 17th inst., at the Baptist church, at Littleton, by the Rev. B. B. Holder, Mr. W. B. Finch was united in marriage to Miss Ella, the accomplished daughter of Mr. E. W. Furgerson, of that place.

We learn that the Scotland Neck Mounted Riflemen have voted to their late captain, General W. H. Anthony, a handsome general's uniform as a token of regard and admiration for him both as a man and soldier.

Mrs. Martha Hall, a respectable lady of this place, died at the residence of Mrs. P. A. Lewis in this place on Wednesday night of last week, after an illness of several weeks, at the advanced age of 71 years.

DEATH OF MISS BROWN.

Died at the Confederate Woman's Home in Fayetteville on February 1, Miss Virginia W. Brown, of Halifax county. Miss Brown was a native of Halifax county and a member of a family of twelve children only one of whom is now living. Mr. John Brown, of Enfield, who is in his eighty-first year. She had a large circle of friends and relatives but about three years ago it was her wish to enter the Home where she was welcomed and given every attention needed. She was a member of Bear Swamp Baptist church and delighted in attending the services at the home church and visiting her friends in the community but was very proud of her new home and fond of those under whose care she spent her closing years. She was buried there in the Confederate cemetery, beautiful and appropriate services being conducted by Rev. H. A. Humble, pastor of the Hay street Methodist church.

Her brother Mr. Sam Brown was a member of Co. D, 24th N. C. Regiment of which Capt. W. J. Squiggins, of Weldon, was captain and was said to be one of the bravest of those who wore the grey and after the war for many years was a respected citizen of Weldon.

OUR ADVANTAGES.

We Challenge Any Town in This Or Any Other State to Show Better Advantages Than Weldon Can Boast of.—A Chamber of Commerce Should be Organized At Once.

EDITOR ROANOKE NEWS:

Dear Mr. Editor:—I have noted with much interest an article in the ROANOKE NEWS headed "Much Needed." Further reading disclosed the purpose of the writer. A Chamber of Commerce is a much needed organization in any community of the size and aspirations of a town like Weldon. The citizens who met in the office of Mr. Stainback and discussed this measure are to be commended. Personally, I am in favor of such an organization as a good live Chamber of Commerce. We challenge any town in this or any other State to show better advantages than Weldon can boast of. With two first-class railroads and branch lines running into our town; situated at the headwaters of one of the best rivers for water power in the State; upwards of fifteen mails daily; good water; good health; fine type of citizens—these and many more advantages, make Weldon one of the most desirable towns in North Carolina in which to live, and for the establishing of manufacturing and commercial enterprises. But this is not known as extensively as it should. And for this reason, we need a good live organization that will put Weldon on the map, so that people and enterprising organizations may come to know of us from a distance as we know ourselves at home. Sometime ago, your paper published a most creditable copy of its weekly issue; this has done good and will continue to do good. What we need is an organization big enough and in spirit co-operative enough to back up all that you and all other public spirited men and women of our community are desirous of bringing to pass. No better organization can come into being than a Chamber of Commerce composed of every citizen—men and women—and business firms who shall be a booster for better business and more of it, and the general economic and moral welfare of the people. We have noted with interest the coming of some new business firms into our town. Let the glad hand of welcome be extended to all such. We hail with delight the erection of new homes in town. A good Chamber of Commerce can and will do much to bring a good class of citizens to fill every new home that enterprising citizens may erect. I sincerely urge the necessity for a Chamber of Commerce for Weldon, and wish for its speedy realization and success.

Very truly yours,
L. D. HAYMAN.

JUNIOR B. Y. P. U. SOCIAL.

On last Friday evening the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Rowell was full of merriment, the occasion being the first quarterly Junior B. Y. P. U. Social.

"The Drawing of Hearts" and "Fishing for Peanuts," which contained fortunes, proved very entertaining. A Valentine Box was also very enjoyable.

Refreshments, consisting of homemade candies and fruits were served. Those present were: Misses Helen Rowell, Annie Joyner, Lizzie Grizzard, Fannie Holford, Ruth Ritenhouse, Gladys Jones, Mattie Jones, Elizabeth Anthony, Katherine Anthony, Virginia Pope, Alberta Wallace, Lucile Wallace, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Rowell, Misses Pearl and Maud Harris, Messrs S. E. Shirley, Browne Holoman, Burwell Allen.

TO INCOME TAXPAYERS.

I will be in the office of Terminal Hotel, Weldon, on March 10, 1922, for the purpose of assisting the taxpayers in filing their State income tax returns.

J. H. NORMAN,
Deputy Commissioner Revenue.

COMMUNICATION.

Do Not Make the Mistake and Leave the Farmer Out.

MR. EDITOR:

I am glad to see the merchants and business men of Weldon making an effort to establish a Chamber of Commerce. I hope the mistake will not be made by leaving out the farmer—for after all he is the biggest business man; for when it comes right down to real production, makes the general line of city business pale in comparison. While they are discussing civic beauty, city streets and other things for the benefit of the city within the city limits, let them formulate plans to get behind the farmer and help him double his production. More business makes more profits. Could there be any greater expansion in a farming district, than the doubling of the farm production? This is essentially a farming district, for outside of the Shaw manufacturing interests, the Weldon Lumber Company and the Dixon Millwork and Lumber Company whence comes our support but from the farmer. Let the doctor, the lawyer, the merchant and representative of every line of business and professional endeavor in Weldon, invite and insist that the leading farmers of this section become active members and join hands with them in making a greater Weldon. I am now speaking of the small farmer who tills from forty to a hundred and sixty acres of land. It is of prime importance that the business men should cooperate in the closest manner with the farmers. The farmer has two problems—production and distribution. He is hampered in both by lack of proper facilities. The merchant can help him in both.

"THE OLD AND THE NEW."

For the Roanoke News—By J. B. T.

Some thirty years ago, Dr. J. J. Lafferty, editor of the Richmond Christian Advocate, passed through the town of Weldon, and was asked to favor it's people with one of his popular lectures of that day, which he granted, and gave us the one entitled "The Old, and the New." The lecture was fine, rich, humorous, pathetic, holding closely his large audience throughout, evoking at times great levity, then in a most touching manner bringing forth the sympathetic tear.

This gift of portraiture in a speaker—catchy manner, expression, emphasis, and good delivery combined with "horse sense" are attributes to be envied by any speaker, these points largely existed in J. J. Lafferty, making him at once an influential, instructive, highly entertaining and useful man in his day and generation.

The title of this sketch is a very suggestive one, meaning literally beginning and ending and in ruminating over things in general, a wide scope of thought surges through ones brain, when the vicissitudes of a life of seventy years lie behind to contemplate, the query naturally arises, "Have I lived in vain."

It is only when a piece of work is finished, that we may truly comment upon it adversely or otherwise, and since "Life is what we make it," it is a very great reflection upon our intelligence, if we fail to "make our calling and election sure."

Thus one's eternal weal or woe rests within themselves, so says the Master. Comrade, how is it with you?

THROUGH THE MOUTH.

If you were to make a list of all of the things you have ever put into your mouth, you would wonder how you have escaped the asylum.

The mouth is intended to receive and prepare food for the stomach and to act as an organ of speech. If you will teach your children to use their mouths as nature intended and then if you will try to learn the same lesson, you will avoid more than one-half of the disease germs that are trying to get into your body.

Nearly 70 per cent of all human disease enters through the mouth. Keep your mouth clean and dispossess the disease-producing bacteria.

NOTICE.

Jones and Lewis Families of North Carolina and Virginia.

In early colonial days lived one Caleb Jones (1), either in Virginia or North Carolina. He married and had children: John, Mathias and Caleb (2).

Caleb (2) married Elizabeth Lewis and lived in Virginia, near Suffolk. Elizabeth Lewis was daughter of Shadrack. Shadrack, Sr., was a sea captain and was lost at sea. Caleb (2) was born 1780 and died 1816, aged 36, but had six children: John, William C., Henry W., Caleb (3), George W., and Sarah Grice Jones.

Nothing is known of any of these children or their descendants except Caleb (3), who became the grandfather of the undersigned. He lived as a boy in Suffolk, Va., later in Baltimore, Md., and while a young man went to New Albany, Md., and later to Mayfield, Ky., where he died in 1863. Born 1807.

Information is wanted of the descendants of any of the above, either the children of Caleb (2) and Elizabeth Lewis, or direct from the first Caleb. Any Lewis who knows from which Lewis family Elizabeth came, please write. She was of Welsh blood, as was also the Jones family. No Irish connections.

The census of North Carolina of 1790 gives Caleb Jones, of Camden county. He was probably the Caleb (1) I seek, although the dates do not agree.

Jones and Lewis families, please write.

AFTERNOON CLUB.

Mrs. R. C. Cornwall at the home of Mrs. J. A. Musgrove, was hostess to the members of the Thursday Afternoon Club, Feb. 16th. The president, Mrs. Harry Smith, in appropriate words, welcomed Mrs. Paul Carter as a new member of the club. A very interesting paper, "Candida," was read by Mrs. Frank Cole for Mrs. Murphy.

A delicious ice course followed by coffee, almonds and mints was served by Mrs. T. C. Harrison, Mrs. Turner and Mrs. Musgrove. The color scheme being red and white, with miniature hutchets and baskets, as favors carrying out the George Washington idea.

Mrs. Elias Carr, of Tarboro, Mrs. Harris, Mrs. C. W. Gregory, Mrs. J. S. Turner, Mrs. T. C. Harrison and Mrs. J. A. Musgrove were guests of the club for the afternoon.

MANY IMPROVEMENTS.

The commissioners of the town of Littleton opened bids and awarded the contract for a water works and sewerage system, and for the improvement of the electric light system last week. An election was held on Oct. 25, 1921, in which a majority of the voters of the town authorized the commissioners to issue bonds in the sum of $150,000 for these improvements and for street paving. The contract for water works, sewerage and improvement of the lighting system was awarded to Bacon & Moore, contractors, of Norfolk, Va., for $96,000. The paving contracts will be let later.
