OUR STRIKE RECORD.

There have been more than 12,000 strikes and lockouts in this country within the past four years, according to the federal department of labor. This is a fearful record. It shows how necessary it is that a better way be found for adjusting working conditions than by inflicting enormous losses on the country and on all who live therein, including the privation inflicted on the wage earner and his family.

Because we must, we are going to find a way to enforce agreement between capital and labor, peacefully instead of by strikes and turmoil, and these agreements will be based on living conditions and terms that are fair and reasonable to all.

Eventually labor will be an equal partner with capital, as it is already in many of the best managed corporations.

D. PENDER GROCERY

Company Celebrates the Hundredth Store in Virginia and North Carolina.

On Friday evening, at his magnificent central department grocery and restaurant, 310 Granby street, Norfolk, Va., Mr. David Pender, had as his guests at an elaborate banquet, in celebration of the opening of his one hundredth chain store. City Manager Charles E. Ashburner of Norfolk, Mr. H. S. Barbee, the President of Norfolk's Chamber of Commerce, Mr. T. S. Southgate, and a number of other prominent guests from the states of Virginia and North Carolina. Addresses were delivered by Messrs. Ashburner, Barbee and Southgate. Mr. L. B. Way, Secretary of the D. Pender Grocery Company, acted as toastmaster of the evening. The banquet was also attended by all of Mr. Pender's department heads and a large number of invited employees. The dinner was followed by dancing and a general good time by all; music was furnished by Montagna's orchestra. Unique souvenir programs of the evening's affair were presented to each guest; and another novel souvenir of remembrance was a "D. P." button which was placed at each plate. The banquet of Friday evening was followed on Saturday morning by an impressive "Pender Parade", consisting of a number of very unique displays and feature floats, through the principal business and residential sections and streets of Norfolk. This parade was one of the most beautiful and novel affairs that has ever been witnessed in Norfolk. The whole display and jollification was in celebration of the opening of the one hundredth Pender chain store. This store was formerly christened on Saturday morning, at 41st and Granby streets, River View, Norfolk. Mr. Pender's first chain grocery was opened to the public at 515 Park avenue, in Norfolk, on January 6, 1919, and subsequent to that time his stores, which have become so popular with the purchasing housewife wherever they have opened, have multiplied at an almost unbelievable rate, until they have just reached the century mark. These stores are located in Norfolk, Portsmouth, Suffolk, Newport News, and other nearby points in Virginia and North Carolina; sixteen of them being located in North Carolina, at Scotland Neck, Weldon, Tarboro, Rocky Mount, New Bern, Plymouth, Goldsboro, Ahoskie, Warrenton, Henderson and Kinston. Mr. Pender left it to be known in connection with the festivities attending the opening of his 100th store that he expected to open at least fifty additional stores in North Carolina, in the near future, and, in time, it is his hope to cover the entire state. The Pender Company is headed by Mr. David Pender, who comes of the old and well known Pender family of North Carolina. Pender company having been named for his uncle, General Pender, of civil war fame. Mr. Pender is the sole owner of his business. He went to Norfolk from Tarboro several years ago and entered the grocery business in a small way, but his success was soon marked, and his business has now reached such a height of success and popularity that it may be said he has passed the status of a business; it is now an institution. The Pender stores, wherever they are found, are always noted for their novel features, sanitary conditions, courtesy of managers and clerks; and more especially for the quality of their food products at the prices maintained. Mr. Pender is a firm believer in the ethics and value of advertising and states he owes much of his unusual success in his business to the fact that he learned the value of newspaper advertising early in his career. He has always advertised prices of his products. This paper takes pleasure in celebrating Mr. Pender upon the rapid growth of the chain stores, and we know that his many friends and satisfied customers throughout the state will join with us in wishing him continued success.

Prevents Disease, Saves Soap, Labor and Time

Housewives who have trouble in keeping their refrigerators clean and sanitary should use Red Seal Lye. Just dissolve one tablespoonful of Red Seal Lye in a bucket of water. This solution will clean your refrigerator better than a big bar of soap; not only will it be shining clean, but it will be odorless and absolutely sanitary. Red Seal Lye means death to germs. Washing clothes in ordinary water is an extravagant waste of soap. The best way to save soap is to first soften the water with a little Red Seal Lye.

Red Seal Lye is a high test base. It contains no filler or adulteration whatsoever and will, therefore, last longer and work quicker than ordinary lye.

Red Seal Lye will save you money in many other ways. It makes a splendid soap for kitchen and laundry.
