ANNOUNCEMENT.

ON or before the first of December, the Record will be issued as a thirty-two column paper, at a subscription price of $2 per annum. $1 25 for six months and 75 cents for three months, invariably in advance. No name will be entered on the subscription books until the money is paid, nor will any be continued after the time expires. This rule will be strictly adhered to. Those now subscribers will receive the Record until their time expires. The paper will be printed on a good Washington press, which always does its work nicely and completely; so there will be no cause of complaint because of bad printing. The intention is to make it a good family and literary newspaper. Something will be found each week to instruct, please and improve all classes; nothing to injure any. Its moral tone will be guarded with very great care. What politics is has will be of its present type. It will be impossible for it to be otherwise, so long as its present editor controls it. It will give the latest news from every quarter and faithful market reports. Its columns will be open to original contributions and communications, subject, of course, to the approval of the editor. Its local news will be full and as interesting as it can be made. Subscriptions received and the present Record sent to all non-suscribing extra. The editor greatly regrets that he has been forced to do so, but he has done the best he could, and feels sure the public and his friends will excuse him. He did all he could to procure a press, but failed to do so sooner than about the first of December, when the Record will be issued in such form and style as that no one who feels an interest in it shall be ashamed of it. Full justice shall be done all advertisers. Respectfully, J. S. FALLS, Editor and Proprietor.
