William Sheehan was found guilty of disorderly conduct, but judgment was suspended on payment of costs. Daniel Sheehan, for the same offence, judgment suspended on payment of costs. Fred Hall, disorderly, was fined $1 and costs.

Several cases were continued and three dealers, one for selling liquor on Sunday and others for retailing without a license were discharged on payment of costs.

The Apostles' Creed.
The first of the series of sermons on Apostles' Creed by the Rt. Rev. Thomas Atkinson, D. D., was delivered last evening in St. Paul's Church. There was a large congregation present as there will be every evening during the continuance of the series.

Overhauling Things.
The Charlotte Observer of Saturday says: F. W. Clark, General Freight Agent of the Carolina Central, Auditor Bowden with two or three other officers, were out on the Western Division of the road, on a special train, Thursday, making an inspection of the accounts of the agents, looking up matters connected with the freight business, &c., &c.

New Industry.
Mr. Charles G. Hartsfield, a practical Piano and Organ tuner and repairer, of 24 years experience, has located in this city and offers his professional services to the citizens. This is a branch of industry long needed in this city and we think many of our musical friends will be pleased to know of Mr. Hartsfield's permanent location here. See his new advertisement in another column.

The Meeting To-Night.
Messrs. I. B. Grainger, B. G. Worth and J. G. Wagner, the Committee from the Board of County Commissioners, have called a meeting of the tax-payers of the county, to be held at the Court House this evening, at 8 o'clock, for the purpose of hearing a statement of the financial condition of the county and for the purpose of advising with them as to the best method of extricating the county from its present financial difficulties. All interested are earnestly requested to attend.

Found Dead in Bed.
An old colored woman by the name of Jones, said to be over 80 years of age, was found dead in bed this morning at a house fronting on an alley between Wooster and Dawson and Front and Second streets. She had been sick and blind for a long time past and was evidently so near her end that relatives had been sitting up with her for some time past. Last night she persuaded those who were with her to go to bed and so they laid on the bed by her and fell asleep and this morning, when they awoke, she was dead.

Savannah Naval Store Inspector.
We notice in the Savannah News, the election for the ensuing year of Mr. R. W. Andrews, formerly of this city, as one of the three naval store inspectors of that place. The inspectors of Savannah are elected by the City Councilmen and are limited in number to three. They are required to give heavy bonds for the performance of their duty. We are glad to hear from another quarter that Mr. Andrews has given his bond, qualified and entered into the discharge of his duty. We are pleased to chronicle Dick's good luck and congratulate the merchants of Savannah upon his election. He fully understands his work and will faithfully perform it.

Death of Mr. Martin.
It is with deep regret that we announce here to-day the death of Silas N. Martin, Esq., for many years one of the most prominent and useful of our citizens. He died at his residence in this city, this morning, of phthisic pulmonaris, from which he has been suffering for some time past, the decline towards death, however, having been but a few weeks duration.

Mr. Martin came to this city with his father and family about the year 1841, when he was quite a lad, and at once became a clerk with the firm of Potter & Kidder, proprietors of the same steam saw mills now owned and run by Messrs E. Kidder & Sons. In this position he was careful, studious and saving and at the dissolution of the copartnership between Messrs. Potter & Kidder, he became the junior member of the firm of Kidder & Martin. By a careful management of his resources Mr. Martin was enabled to retire from active business about ten years ago, since which time he has filled the responsible positions of Mayor of the city, Chairman of the Board of County Commissioners and President of the Wilmington Trust Company and Savings Bank. He was a self-made man, of an active mind improved both by study and travel, a friend to industrial enterprise, liberal in his charities and affectionate in the private relations of home life. He died at the age of 49 and leaves many warm personal friends to mourn him.

The terms of twenty-seven State Senators expire on the fourth of next March.

The Haverlys' To-Night.
Those who have been so long spoiling for a first-class entertainment can be satisfied down to-night at the Opera House where the Haverly New Orleans Minstrel Troupe will appear for "one night only." No one need be afraid to risk his currency as we have excellent guarantees as to the merits of the Troupe. They played in Raleigh on Friday night and the Observer says that "the performance was excellent and refined in every particular from the first part to the concluding farce," and the News claims that it is "the most laughable minstrel show that has ever been in this State."

Bishop Atkinson.
The Petersburg Index Appeal of Saturday says: "It was expected that this eminent divine, Bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of North Carolina, would arrive in this city last night, and would preach at Grace Church to-morrow. A letter received from him, however, states that in consequence of the illness of Bishop Wittingham, of Maryland, and the necessary postponement of a committee meeting which he was going on to attend, his visit here will be postponed until about the 1st or 2nd of February. The people of Petersburg are always glad of an opportunity to hear Bishop Atkinson' preach.

In this age of education and general intelligence the household is hardly complete without a Cornish & Co. Piano or Organ. Read the advertisement in another column, and then send for illustrated catalogue and price list. Jan 8.
