

The Daily Review.

JOSH. T. JAMES, Ed. and Prop.
WILMINGTON, N. C.
MONDAY, JANUARY 20, 1877.
REVIEWAL.

A new amusement is in vogue among Mexicans in San Francisco. They wind handkerchiefs tightly around the blades of their knives, leaving a quarter of an inch of the points bare. They fight with these weapons, and although the wounds cannot be deep, they are often numerous and painful.

Some very unpleasant disclosures have been made in England as to bribes received by English journalists, and by at least one member of Parliament, to advance his claims in the newspapers. The subsidies varied from 25 pounds to 500 and 900 pounds and in the case of Dr. Russell, of the Times, to 1,000 pounds.

The New Haven Journal and Courier says: "The election of Hon. George F. Hoar as Senator to succeed Mr. Boutwell gives great satisfaction among the better classes of the Republican party. Mr. Hoar is a brilliant lawyer and debater, and has time and again proved his patriotism, high sense of honor and true political independence."

There does not seem to be much suspicion in Kansas that ex-Senator Pomeroy will return to the United States Senate. He is not talked of as a candidate, and is alluded to only as a warning for the men who hope to win the coming contest by the use of money. Senator Harvey feels sure that he will be returned, and ex-Gov. Osborne insists that he has pledged to him all the votes necessary to elect him. Several other candidates are equally confident.

The recent widely circulated report of a whole congregation of German Catholics turning Protestant, at Rome, New York, proves to be a sensational story. It seems that six years ago a minority of the congregation of St. Mary's Church, at Rome, became insubordinate respecting a change of the church edifice. Refusing obedience they were repudiated by the Catholic Bishops, when they formed an individual congregation and made application to Bishop Huntington, of the Episcopal Church, to receive them, which he did a short while ago.

The house in which Milton resided in London while he was Latin Secretary under the Commonwealth is in course of demolition. The laths and rafters recently have been seen, open to the sky, of the room in which Cromwell must often have discussed with Milton the affairs of State. There Milton went blind, there he married his second wife, Catherine Woodcock, and there she died. There he commenced to write "Paradise Lost." In later years the house belonged to Jeremy Bentham, who inserted a slab with this inscription:

Here lived Milton.
The Prince of Poets.
William Hazlitt also resided there.

A few months ago some miscreant amused himself by staining the marble of the Capitol at Washington, and lately a disgraceful piece of vandalism was perpetrated upon the statue of the late Lord Derby, in Preston, England. Long lines of dark-blue oil paint have been drawn in almost every direction, and around the knees have been made garters, with ties in the same color. The statue is so badly disfigured, and the quality of the white marble so porous that it will be very difficult to erase the marks. The perpetrators of this senseless act have not been discovered.

Late official reports to the Treasury Department, from its agents abroad, show conclusively that our securities are in demand. A party will leave Washington call $10,000,000, and the funding is in such successful operation that it is reasonably expected another call for the same amount will soon be made. The Treasury authorities are satisfied from the tone and temper of advices which have been received from Europe regarding the successful funding of the Government will be fully maintained, and that the outlook is bright for a successful continuance of the funding.

The way in which Victor Emanuel enters the Italian Chambers is very characteristic. He advances with a military stride a few steps upon the floor, then drops, looks around, and bows slightly to the hearty greetings which burst from all parts of the House. Then, erect and kinglike, burly as his figure is, he passes alone to the centre, again looks all around, again bows slightly, and turning, takes his seat upon the Chair of State. Prince Humbert and ex-King Amadeus advance with their faces toward his Majesty, pause before him, bow respectfully, and then take the seats upon his right and left, the whole House standing while and applauding enthusiastically.

Justice Davis, of the Supreme Court of the United States, who has been elected Senator from Illinois, does not propose to resign his present office till the 4th of March. So that Grant will not have the opportunity of appointing his successor; nor will his election necessarily interfere with his being chosen on the Electoral Commission.

THE COMMISSION.

The New York Herald says that "it is a mistake to suppose the Election Commission will adopt any new rule for deciding the Presidential question. They are required to administer the law as it existed on the day the Presidential electors were chosen—that is to say, as it exists at present, for the law has not been altered since. In cases where there are two certificates from a State they are to decide which of the two is legal on precisely the same principles that Congress itself should pursue in such questions. Their superiority to Congress consists in their higher intelligence and greater impartiality. They will have no authority to go beyond the law or against the facts."

THE BIRD QUESTION.

The Charlotte Observer has the following and we endorse it. It is estimated that over 50,000 partridges have been shipped to the North this winter, from Greensboro, High Point and other places along the North Carolina Railroad. Should such wholesale shipments and massacres of the birds continue, this delicate and excellent game will soon be exterminated in this State. It is acknowledged by all that the partridge is one of the best friends the farmer has and destroys annually thousands of insects that depredate upon his crop and though many be opposed to any legislation yet we hope the Legislature will pass a law against netting these birds. Many have died of cold and starvation this winter, and we think some legislation for their protection would be both wise and right.

THE VOTE COUNTERS.

Mr. George Alfred Townsend, in a letter to the New York Graphic, thus briefly sketches four of the members of the Supreme Court who are to assist in counting the electoral vote, should the plan recommended by the joint congressional committee be adopted:

"Clifford is a man steeped in reverence for the tribunal where he has passed so many years. This old man, colossal in size, weighing about or above 300 pounds, made the treaty with Mexico in 1857. He was appointed by a Democratic administration, and is hardly ever heard to refer to political questions.

"Judge Miller speaks pleasantly about the new duty devolving upon him. He is universally regarded in Missouri by the ex-rebels, as well as by the Republicans of Iowa, as the ablest jurist west of the Mississippi river. By birth he is a Kentuckian, and was once a doctor.

"Judge Field is a man of stupendous reading and information, the ablest lawyer on the Pacific side, and the peer of anybody in the court. He is a man of ready opinion, but as a judge his impartiality is unquestioned.

"Judge Strong is the most judicial-looking man on the bench—a of a noble head, with grey locks from his crown. His position in Pennsylvania was of the highest; he is seldom heard of here except in the legal social circle.

"While many look upon Davis as the inflexible, some say that Conkling's appointment—Ward Hunt—would be apt to imitate Conkling's emboldened motives and forget the partisan in the public officer, and that he may be the choice. Others think that the judges will elect the easy, agreeable Bradley, who was appointed a Republican, but whose State went for Tilden by so great a majority that he will be evenly balanced in the influences which environ him."

BUSINESS FAILURES.

From the circular of Messrs. Dun & Co., recently issued, we get the following table which gives the proportion of failures to number of firms in each State, and the average liabilities:

PROSPECTUS FOR 1877.

LIPPINCOTT'S MAGAZINE,

AN ILLUSTRATED MONTHLY OF Popular Literature, Science and Art.

Announcement for 1877.

The number for January begins the nineteenth volume of this Magazine, and while its past record will it is hoped be deemed a sufficient guarantee of future excellence, no effort will be spared to diversify its attractions and to provide an increased supply of POPULAR READING IN THE BEST AND MOST EMPHATIC SENSE.

The great object and constant aim of the conductors will be to furnish the public with Literary Entertainment of a Refined and Varied Character, as well as to present in a graphic and striking manner the most recent information and soundest view on subjects of General Interest; in a word to render Lippincott's Magazine strikingly distinctive in THOSE FEATURES THAT ARE MOST ATTRACTIVE IN MAGAZINE LITERATURE.

The contributions now on hand, or specially engaged, embrace a highly attractive list of Tales, Short Stories, Descriptive Sketches, Narrative, Papers on Science and Art, Poems, Popular Essays, Literary Criticisms, Etc., Etc.

BY TALENTED AND WELL KNOWN WRITERS.

A large proportion of the articles, especially those descriptive of travel, will be FULLY AND BEAUTIFULLY ILLUSTRATED.

The pictorial embellishments of the Magazine constitute one of its attractive features. In addition to the General Attractions of Lippincott's Magazine, the Publishers would invite attention to the following:

SPECIAL FEATURES FOR 1877.

1. A new serial story, "The Marquis of Lossie," by George MacDonald, author of "Malcolm," "Alec Forbes," "Robert Falconer," etc. To those of our readers who are familiar with "Malcolm," this new story from the pen of this distinguished writer will need no recommendation, and his reputation is a guarantee to others of a deeply interesting and powerful story. It began in the November number, which issue, with the December part, will be furnished gratis to all new subscribers for 1877.
2. A profusely illustrated series of sketches of

Swedish Scenery and Life,

by Prof. Willard Frisk, author of Cornell University, who is thoroughly familiar with Sweden and its people from personal observation.

3. A series of popular papers on "Art and Art Matters," by Edward Strahan (Earl Shinn), author of "The New Hyperion," etc.
4. Illustrated Sketches of Travel, entitled "Pictures from Spain," by Edward King, author of the "Great South" etc.
5. Mrs. Lucy H. Hooper's Interesting and Piquant

Papers and Letters from Paris

APPLETON'S AMERICAN CYCLOPEDIA.

NEW REVISED EDITION.

Entirely rewritten by the ablest writers on every subject, and printed from new type, and illustrated with several thousand Engravings and Maps.

The work originally published under the title of THE NEW AMERICAN CYCLOPEDIA was completed in 1873, since which time the wide circulation which it has attained in all parts of the United States and the signal developments of the sciences and arts in every branch of science, literature, and art, have induced the editor and publisher to submit it to an exact and thorough revision, and to issue a new edition entitled THE AMERICAN CYCLOPEDIA.

Within the last ten years the progress of discovery in every department of knowledge has made a new work of reference an imperative want.

The movement of political affairs have kept pace with the discoveries of science and the changes of the world, and the industrial and useful arts and the convenience and refinement of social life. Great wars, and consequent revolutions have occurred, involving national changes of our country, which was at its height when the last volume of the old work appeared, has happily ended, and a new course of commercial and industrial activity has been commenced.

Large accessions to our geographical knowledge have been made by the indefatigable explorer of Africa.

The great political revolutions of the last decade, with the natural result of the lapse of time, have brought into public view a multitude of new men, whose names are in every one's mouth, and whose lives every one is curious to know the particulars. Great battles have been fought and important sieges maintained, of which the details are yet present only in the newspapers or in the transient publications of the day, and which ought now to take their place in permanent and authentic history.

In preparing the present edition for the press, it has accordingly been the aim of the editors to bring down the information to the lowest possible rates, and to furnish an accurate account of the present history, in science, of every fresh production in literature, and of the newest inventions in the practical arts, as well as to give a succinct and original record of the progress political and historical events.

The work has been begun after long and careful preliminary labor, and with the most ample resources for carrying it out to a successful termination.

None of the original stereotypic plates have been used, but every page has been printed on new type, forming, in fact, a new Cyclopaedia, with the same plan and compass as its predecessor, but with a larger and more pecuniary expenditure, and with such improvement in its composition as may be suggested by longer experience and enlarged knowledge.

The illustrations which are introduced for the first time in the present edition have been added not for the sake of pictorial effect, but to give greater lucidity and force to the explanations in the text. They embrace all branches of science and natural history, and depict the most important and remarkable features of scenery, architecture and art, as well as the various processes of mechanics and manufactures. They are intended for instruction rather than embellishment, no pains have been spared to insure their artistic excellence; the cost of their execution is enormous, and the belief is that they will find a welcome reception as an admirable feature of the Cyclopaedia, and worthy of its high character.

This work is sold to subscribers only, payable on delivery of each volume. It will be completed in sixteen large octavo volumes, each containing about 800 pages, fully illustrated with several thousand Wood Engravings, and with numerous colored Lithographic Maps.

Price and Style of Binding.

In extra cloth, per vol., $5.00; In Library Binding, per vol., $6.00; In Turkey Morocco, per vol., $7.00; In Half Russia, extra gilt, per vol., $8.00; In Full Morocco, antique, gilt edges, per vol., $9.00; In Full Russia, per vol., $9.00.

Thirteen volumes now ready. Succeeding volumes, until completion, will be issued once in two months.

The Landmark,

PUBLISHED at Stateville, Ireddell, Co., N. C., is the leading Newspaper in Western North Carolina.

It is the only Democratic paper published in Ireddell county—one of the largest and wealthiest counties in the State—and has at least a larger local circulation than any paper ever heretofore published in the county.

Its circulation is Alexander, Wilkes, Ashe, Alleghany, Yadkin, Davids and Iredell, is larger than that of any two papers in the State combined, and is rapidly acquiring a strong foothold in Forsythe, Surry, Rowan and western Mecklenburg.

It is the only paper in Western North Carolina that employs a Regular Canvassing Agent, and this is kept constantly before the people. Under this system a rapidly increasing circulation is the result, making the Landmark the best advertising medium in Western North Carolina.
