

Gen. Sherman and Gen. Johnston. Our friend Tecumseh was much amazed at a report current last week to the effect that he had vigorously recommended Joe Johnston for Secretary of War. So deeply annoyed was our friend Tecumseh that, one day at the Ebbitt House, he seized a newspaper correspondent by the collar, figuratively speaking, and informed him that "You newspaper fellows print as facts, in the most reckless manner, things which are not facts!" He then went on to say that "nothing could be more absurd than the idea that he or any other military commander should recommend any man for his civil superiority!" We hasten to set our friend Tecumseh right. He did not recommend Joe Johnston. He merely said that General Johnston was an accomplished soldier and a faultless gentleman; all of which is true as gospel. But he said these things in a personal way and out of his own individual respect for his old antagonist; not in the form of a recommendation for a Cabinet position. Still we feel bound to add that Tecumseh would not have wept had Joe Johnston been made Secretary of War.—Washington Capital.

Louisiana Responds to Hayes. NEW ORLEANS, March 12.—The Nicholls Legislature has adopted the following: Whereas the inaugural address of the present Executive of the nation indicates a fixed determination to restore harmony to the people of the South by establishing a policy of pacification for one of coercion, and by recognizing the rights of said people of the South to local self-government free from Federal interference: therefore be it.

Resolved, that we accept this declaration of the National Executive of non-intervention with the affairs of States as a happy augury for the future, as made in good faith and the true spirit of the Constitution, and that this General Assembly will earnestly co-operate with President Hayes in every effort to restore confidence and fraternal relations among the whole people of this great country, and to this end it pledges all the power and influence at its command to secure the great object for which governments were instituted—viz: guarantee-protection to life, liberty and property to every human being within its borders.

The indications are that the Nicholls Legislature will not elect a United States Senator during its extra session. Governor Packard remains constantly at the State House attending to such business as comes before him. He stated to-day to a reporter that he had full confidence as over in the final success of his government.

Testing the Blue Light Cure in Concord. A few evenings since an old gentleman acquaintance of ours was reading an article upon the wonderful cures effected by the application of blue light to the affected parts, and glancing out the window, saw his little son engaged in the attempt to improve the appearance of a sealed head which belonged to an old Tom cat of long family connections. The boy was sending a steady stream of light through a blue glass on the old cat's bald head, and imagining he could already see a field of fur rising. The old gentleman, in order to encourage his son in an experimental way, moved his chair out into the yard, where the process between boy and cat was being carried on, and after a few words of instruction to the boy, his bald cranium was being bathed in a flood of blue light. The boy soon tired of holding the blue glass over his father's head, and to relieve the monotony of the affair, produced from his pocket unawares to the old gentleman, the sun glass with which his grandfather used to light his pipe, and drew a focus where the baldness was most conspicuous. (Things then took rather a serious turn for the old gentleman's scalp, but he bore it like a man.

"Just keep quiet, father," said the boy, as his father's head began to twitch, "don't be so restless. They're poppin' out now thick as fraud."

"Father" stood it as best he could, only murmuring that "there's vittin' in any light that pulls hair by the roots" that way while all the time his scalp was frying and smoking under the hot rays of the sun glass. The boy continued tattooing his father's head until the atmosphere for half a mile around smelt like a big barbecue, and the old man got scotch of the game. Then he just reached around and gathered his hopeful in his arms, and went into the wood house.

Three days elapsed and the doctor tells us if the weather keeps favorable and nothing serious sets in, the boy will soon come around, and for the old gentleman's head, it's pretty well broiled, but some hopes of his recovery are entertained.

This, then, is a true story of a blue glass experiment by a family in Concord, and had it not been for a sun glass, it might have turned out more successfully.—Concord Sun.

A California woman, who had no child attempted to palm off a bogus infant on her husband to procure the fine present he had promised her on the joyful occasion of the first birth in the family. This scheme was carried out with the aid of a foundling and a doctor, but the story leaked out, and now the parties are living apart, and a divorce has been applied for. The husband was absent on a four months' visit to the mines when his heir was "born."
