

CAROLINA.

Magnolia is sickly now. Corn 82 1/2 cts in Newbern. Apples 25 to 30 cents a bushel in Durham.

Edenton is to have a new brass band-colored. Diphtheria prevails in some portions of Greenville county.

Somebody has sent in to the Durham Plant a 46 pound melon.

The staggers has got in among the horses in Beaufort county and many are dying with it.

The protracted meeting at Rolesville, in Wake county, resulted in fifteen conversions and about the same number of accessions to the church.

Washington Press: The Jamesville and Washington Railroad has crossed the main road one mile and a quarter from town, and is making rapid progress towards completion.

Magnolia Record: Mr. John West, of Sampson county, brought us a peach a few days ago that measured 10 1/2 inches in circumference. It was a free stone peach, and was perfect in every respect.

Tarboro Southerner: Joseph W. Lloyd, Esq., of this county, has in his possession some apple brandy, which is now, he says, sixty years old. It was given to him several years ago, by Miss Helen Slade, of Martin county.

Durham Plant: S. H. Roundtree, of Winston, N. C., and one of the Grand Lecturers of F. A. M. of the State, arrived in Durham this morning and will remain several days. He comes to lecture the members of the Royal Arch Chapter of this place.

Durham Plant: The annual conference of the A. M. E. Church of North Carolina, convened at Moorefields, this county, on Friday last, Bishop Brown, (col.) presiding. It will close to-morrow. A camp meeting is being held in connection with the conference and is largely attended.

Charlotte Observer: It is stated that the Liberia societies of this county have agreed to send a colored brother over to inspect the country in the fall and report back to his fellow-citizens the condition of affairs there. There is little or no money in the treasury to speak of, but the brother is very confident that he is going.

Tarboro Southerner: Mr. Jas. H. Thigpen, Jr., while out in the woods hunting squirrels one day last week, killed two large wild turkeys at one shot, with small squirrel shot. Both of the turkeys were gobblers, apparently four or five years old, weighing eighteen or twenty pounds each.

Washington Press: The Clyde Line will establish a line of Steamers between Norfolk and this place, to connect with the Steamer Edgcombe to Tarboro. Several gentlemen connected with the Clyde Line were in town on Friday last and perfected all the arrangements. Capt. Geo. H. Brown will probably be the agent at this place.

Edenton Times: A friend of ours—a citizen of Dare county—told us a day or two since, that one day last Fall he made a haul with his seine in the ocean, and caught one hundred and two sharks. The seine was only 280 yards long and he says that twice as many sharks got away as he landed, and besides it was not a good day for sharks.

Charlotte Observer: Mr. Thos. W. Pittman, United States Commissioner in this city, is making an effort to secure the appointment of commissioner of deed of all the States in the Union. He has the appointments from Virginia and South Carolina, and a few days ago received his commission from Gov. Hartranft of Pennsylvania.

Charlotte Observer: Passengers on the down train yesterday afternoon report that two convicts became engaged in an altercation while at work on the Western North Carolina Railroad, when one struck the other on the head with a shovel, splitting open his skull. There are no further particulars. Both men engaged in the difficulty were colored.

Raleigh News: We are informed that W. H. Deaver and F. K. Davis, of Asheville, and Wm. A. Ross, of Morganton, were arrested on Tuesday, by Maj. Wagoner, charged with receiving "hush money" and bribes from distillers. They were taken to Morganton for examination before the United States Commissioner, on Wednesday. Our informant had not heard the result.

Tarboro Southerner: Hyde county has been the recipient of one of the heaviest rain-falls that has ever been known here. It lasted long, and the damage done is incalculable. All through Currituck, down into Swan Quarter, up and around the lake, in Juniper Bay and Engelhard, thence to Fairfield, the crops are damaged worse than in 1867, by one-half. Excepting Wysocking, White Plains, the Donald farm, and a belt running around the lake, the corn is actually dying, and some of the farmers will probably cut it down and save it for fodder. Some think they will hardly raise bread.

Charlotte Observer: Ki. Reinhardt, colored, who has until lately had employment around the engine house of the Air-Line Railroad, in this city, has recently come to grief. He got on an engine in the yard the other morning to move it for some purpose or other. The thing was chuck full of steam, and seizing the throttle valve he pulled her wide open. The engine shot forward like a streak of lightning and Ki, seeing that the brake would be of no avail, threw the reverse lever back, which doubled the engine up all in a heap and then sent her whizzing on the back-track. Before the self-constituted engineer could collect his wits, she burst into another engine behind and was preparing to do more mischief yet when Reinhardt threw the lever forward. This turned the engine in the other direction, and a full head of steam still being on, she dashed forward, ran into the engine house, burst through it and finally landed on the other side. When the engine did finally stop, Ki, dismounted, looked around, drew his sleeve across his forehead and strolled off, and hasn't been back since.

Raleigh News: We have received from D. W. Ivey, Esq., residing near Pacific depot, on the R. and G. Railroad, two twigs of peaches, one 6 1/2 inches long containing 9 peaches, the other 7 inches long, having on it 6. Mr. Ivey claims for them that they are a new variety and gives to them the name of "the cluster peach."

How General Crook Got His Wife. John Dailey, who keeps a hotel at Oakland, Garrett county, Maryland, is a candidate for doorkeeper of the Federal House of Representatives. A writer in the Philadelphia "Commonwealth" gives a bit of romance about John's family, as follows:

"There is a bit of romance connected with Dailey's family well worth relating, as it brings to mind one of the pleasant reminiscences of our great internal conflict. During the war the city of Cumberland was for a time occupied by Federal soldiers under command of Generals Crook and Kelley. On a certain occasion about midnight when no apprehension of danger was felt a small party of Confederate troops passed through the Federal lines, and, as your readers are aware, captured and carried off the two Generals in command. That party was commanded by a son of John Dailey. The young Confederate officer carried his distinguished captives to his father's house and quartered them there as prisoners of war, treating them with all the kindness and consideration due their high rank. It so happened that John Dailey had a comely daughter, albeit she had proclivities of a Southern and therefore rebellious tincture, and General Crook, although an excellent soldier and thoroughly loyal, was not proof against the claims of female loveliness, no matter if they were reflected through a disloyal medium, and while he remained a reluctant prisoner in charge of the gallant Confederate officer, he became a willing captive at the hands of his fair sister, whom he wooed and wedded as his lawful wife. All things considered, I think John Dailey should be elected doorkeeper of the next House of Representatives by a unanimous vote."
