Fancy Dress Ball.
The Fancy Dress Ball given by the young ladies and gentlemen pupils of Prof. Agostini's dancing academy, on Friday night last, at Megginney's Hall, was one of the most delightful events of the season. It was largely attended, both by participants and spectators, and was a pleasant and auspicious opening of the New Year.

Attempted Suicide.
We understand, from a reliable source that a young lady about 18 years of age residing in the lower part of this city, of good character and of a good family, attempted suicide last evening by taking laudanum. Her condition was discovered in time to avert a fatal result. A physician was called in, the proper remedies applied and this morning the patient was pronounced as entirely out of danger. The cause assigned for the rash attempt is said to be family troubles. For obvious reasons we suppress all names.

Disaster at Sea.
The British barquentine Maria, Capt. Stewart, from Halifax, Dec. 7th, for this port, which arrived in below on the 2d inst., reports as follows:
Had heavy gales from S. S. E. to W. N. W. most of the passage with heavy, confused sea. Dec. 21st, 20 miles S. E. of Frying Pan Shoals Lightship, was struck by a terrific squall from W. S. W. and hove over nearly on beam ends; had foresail and mastsails blown away, was blown back to Cape Lookout, thence across the Gulf stream, Dec. 12th, latitude 40° 10' North, longitude 67° 40' W spoke schooner Lucano, of Machias, from Machias, bound to West Indies, which wished to be reported.
Hides Stolen and Recovered.
On Saturday morning, or Friday night, twenty-eight raw hides were stolen from Mr. Jno. F. Garrett's slaughter house near this city. During the morning a white man offered them for sale to Mr. Geo. F. Tilley and Mr. Hintz, who are butchers in the Market House. They purchased the hides and afterwards identified them as their property. The white man was notified of the fact of the identification and he stated he bought them from a colored man that morning. The latter was arrested but denied any knowledge of them and swore most positively that he had never seen the hides and neither did he sell them to the white man. On the back of the colored man's coat were evidences of brine and clots of blood which he says he cannot account for.
He was committed for a preliminary trial which will take place as soon as witnesses can be summoned.
Julius Caesar.
We were pleased to receive a visit this morning from Mr. J. Louis Ford, advance agent of Ford's Julius Caesar Dramatic Combination, from whom we are pleased to learn that the Combination will appear in this city next Monday evening, on which occasion they will play Julius Caesar, when the talented tragedian, Mr. F. G. Bangs, will sustain the role of Mark Anthony. The play will be put upon the stage with new scenery and new costumes, prepared by Mr. Ford for this tour and Mr. Bangs will be sustained by an excellent company. The combination are out on a six weeks tour. They play in Richmond this week in Julius Caesar, Romeo and Juliet, Macbeth, &c, and will come directly on from Richmond to Wilmington. They will remain with us but one night and will go hence as far South as Selma, Ala., and on their return will pass through the upper part of this State and Virginia. The box sheet will be opened at Heinsberger's next Friday morning.

Humpty Dumpty.
Those who are fond of a good laugh—and some people tell us that laughing is good for the digestion and saves doctor's bills—will see the inimitable Adams as Humpty Dumpty on Wednesday evening. Judging from the comments which are so fully bestowed upon Mr. Adam's performance in the various Southern cities he has visited this season we should say that Fox's mantle has veritably fallen upon his shoulder. A splendid bill is offered.

An Earnest Appeal.
We publish herewith an earnest appeal in behalf of the perpetuation of that gallant volunteer corps, the Wilmington Light Infantry, as it emanates from the Committee appointed at a recent meeting. It speaks for itself and we can but hope that it may strike a kindly chord in every reader's heart. The Wilmington Light Infantry cannot, must not, be allowed to disband.
ARMORY WIL. LIGHT INFANTRY.
WILMINGTON, N. C. Jan. 1, 1879.
At a recent meeting of the active and honorary members of this company, together with the members of its Veteran Corps, the undersigned were appointed a committee to take into consideration the question of perpetuating the organization. After due consultation on the work before them, it was resolved to issue the following
CIRCULAR.
To the Citizens of Wilmington:
In the discharge of our duty as a committee of the Wilmington Light Infantry, having under consideration measures to preserve its existence and vitality, we have determined to set forth to you some facts in reference to the organization and to couple therewith an earnest appeal for countenance and assistance.
While the history of this company is familiar to nearly all, and its name a household word to many among us, still we deem appropriate some reference thereto. Organized in 1853, for the eight years of its ante bellum existence it was the pride of our city and held the first rank among the volunteer militia of the State. Embracing in its ranks the very flower of our young chivalry, as might have been expected, at the first distant sound of hostilities, it was among the foremost to offer its services to the Governor of the State. Entering service on the fifteenth day of April, 1861, it was not until the sad surrender at Appomattox that its energies were spent and its organization overwhelmed in the general disaster. These four years of active participation in the field wrought many and varied changes—those in its membership, however, were due to the constant tide of promotion of old, well-drilled, disciplined and competent men to command fresh troops which the emergencies of the times were continually calling forth. It was a very nursery of officers for the Confederate service, and we conscientiously believe that there was scarcely a single non-commissioned officer or private who went with the command to Fort Caswell in April 1861, and who continued in service, but that obtained some commission from the grade of Lieutenant to that full Colonel (of the last of which there were several).
With such a record as this, and with so honorable a corps of veterans remaining, no wonder, then, that there were repeated attempts after the war to revive the organization. It was not, however, until the 17th of March, 1875, that this was permanently accomplished. For nearly four years has the present organization struggled on amid almost overwhelming difficulties, to maintain its permanency, efficiency, drill and discipline. By the wise pro-creative enactment of the Legislature, it has become a part of the military system, being embraced within the State Guard. Under the laws giving birth and effectiveness to this system, there are certain requirements laid upon the individual companies. There is but one, however, which our present purpose renders necessary to mention. To retain the arms furnished by the State, the active, effective membership must be kept up to a certain standard of members; and plainly speaking, without some more generous countenance from the citizens at large, this is the rock upon which the present organization is likely to be wrecked.
The sentiment of a great majority of this free people is against large standing armies in times of peace and in favor of a well-appointed system of militia. And thus the government of North Carolina is endeavoring successfully to provide in the creation of its State Guard. Domestic violence is likely to occur in certain contingencies, which the strong arm of military power, perhaps, alone can quell; and what more effective agency could we seek in such emergencies than a volunteer militia, well armed and disciplined, embracing the best of our citizens? And the moral protectiveness of such organization extends itself to a community in all periods of its existence. Without elaboration, we trust our citizens, of all classes, will see and recognize the importance of protection to themselves in the continuance and perpetuity of well disciplined volunteer military companies, fostered and encouraged as they are by the laws of the State.
We, therefore, confidently appeal to our citizens at large to give to the Wilmington Light Infantry that encouragement of which it now stands in urgent need. We beg of them not only to recognize the practical fact of protection it offers, but to cherish it as a matter of pride to themselves. The immediate purpose of this committee is not to solicit moneymen contributions, but to invoke a broad and generous interest in behalf of the company. The first and greatest requirement is that its membership shall be swelled to seventy-five or one hundred earnest, active men. In such an event, it would not only reach the highest grade of efficiency, but would prove at once self-sustaining. To those representing our business community—the class of employers—we would appeal to encourage the young men in their employ to join its ranks, and allow them opportunity for occasional parades and other duties. We spare less time from business than any commercial community in this country, and that required for this purpose could be readily accorded. We know that many young men would join the Wilmington Light Infantry if the necessary encouragement was given by employers.

We would also appeal to the young men themselves to enroll their names, promising them a reasonable degree of pleasure and amusement, coupled with healthful exercise, habits of discipline and control and much pleasant friendly intercourse.
In conclusion, having set before you the danger which threatens the existence of the organization, we beg a general and united interest in its behalf, and confidently trust that Wilmington will not be content in the matter of her military companies to be behind her less important sisters, nor yet without an effort see one of her proudest institutions fade from existence by reason of an apathetic indifference on the part of her citizens.

P. L. BRIDGERS & CO.
Those who'll read this rhyme and visit our store
Will appreciate more than ever before
That our muse does not vainly aspire
To climb Olympus, and ingloriously expire
In the attempt, but keeps an even pace
With the time, and always point to the place
Where they "blow" about one special thing,
Which has, without doubt, the true business ring.
And this thing we will briefly explain,
With the hope that we will cause no pain
To brother grocers, who, in years gone by,
Learned to get good at figures that were high.
Unfortunately we see some of them incline
To follow the customs of "Auld Lang Syne,"
But we consider it matter of congratulation
That we're no foggy no lions in our education
In old time "big profits" had a wide range,
And old habits are hard, hard to change.
Of Wilmington grocers we take the lead!
Now to prove this assertion we only need
To remind the public that our clean new store
Made others be painted and swept a little more!
Like all business men who are truly wise,
We at once began to extensively advertise,
When our friends catching the idea, thought
It well
To increase their space, as the printers will tell!
At first we put some poetry in our "ad,"
But when they saw this plan was not bad,
They followed our lead. And when we tried
Prose
They followed as nicely as if led by the nose!
We next thought 't would be well to try
Rhyme,
When lo! they grasped the idea as sublime!
Though they have followed in it, we have done,
When this battle is well fought and won,
Some will see that "extra percent." isn't
"nonsense."
But with old stock and such heavy expense,
They will find that the prices of P. L. Bridgers & Co.
If followed will surely bring them to woe!
To prove that we mean what we say,
We announce that we sell for a week from to-day,
Eleven pounds of "A Sugar" for only one dollar,
Which lead we invite all grocers to follow.
The muse here caught sight of that horse grinding machine of Herr Von Kr's
Kriegle, and was so thoroughly disgusted at the cheap way of grinding out poetry that neither love nor money could induce him to finish our rhyme, so it had to come to an abrupt ending.
Respectfully and Truly,
Jan 5th

HAVE SINCE THE HOLIDAYS renewed their stock. It is now large and complete.
To our retail friends we will state that we are glad to see them. We buy close and we sell close. Our motto is "CAN'T BE UNDERSOLD!" "Do you mind that?"
Some of our friends who have put up counters once said we were "retail men." Now, you gentlemen, who buy at wholesale, we will state, if you will come and examine our goods and prices, and we don't put them to the blush, we will acknowledge we have been in the Grocery business for twenty-five years to little purpose.
To our friends who have been owing us four months and more we will state we positively need what is due us. We gave you value received, and we think it as little as you can do to come forward and make a showing. You can all have credit if you will "vote fair" and pay your bills promptly at the end of the month. Faith in each other is what we need in this land. Nearly all debts now are debts of honor. Won't you pay for what you eat, something to sustain life? To those who pay their bills promptly we will sell on thirty days lower than he who sells for cash.
