and Southern armies having been suspended now for fifteen years reasonable men think that it is about time to do away with the harsh legislation which followed so soon after Lee's surrender and therefore it is that the Democrats in the House wish to annul the law which requires jurors in Federal Courts to take the test oath, familiarly known as the "iron-clad." This would, of course, interfere with the practices of such courts as Bonds and would therefore rab the Republicans of to annul and the House objects to their

7,500 University..... 'I he ordinary expenses of running the State government have been $114,000, of which $52,000 were paid the Judiciary. All other administrative expenses amount-ed to only $62,000. The Agricultural Department is provided for out of a special fund, the Guano tax, and is not included in the above. Instead of only $62,000, as in 1878, the ordinary expenses of the government, leaving out the Judiciary, in 1869, were $365,000, a cloar saving of three hundred thousand dollars in one year.

In regard to the allegation which has been made (and from more than one source, to i) that the salaries of the State officials have actually been increased, in . stead of reduced, under Democratic rule our cotemporary shows that under Radical rule the Governor was paid $5,000, and under Democratic rule he is paid $4,000. The Auditor and Secretary cl State were paid $2,400 each; now both together are paid as salary only $2,250.

The number of clerks and their salaries have both been reduced. All fees of State officers are put back to those of 1858. The public printing for 1869 was $34,503; for 1878 it was $5,480, and at this session it has been reduced about one-half.

The Observer thinks that even yet, however, some reduction can be made and ought to be made and in this we heartily agree. In speaking of this fact it says, and this extract closes the entire article:

We have said that without doubt the expenses of administering the Government might be still further reduced. The $52,000 paid to the Judiciary and Solicitors has already been reduced to about $40,000. And the remaining $62,000 may also be diminished. It is the duty their partisan centrel of the Federal of the Legislature to make all proper reductions. But it must be apparent that no very large reduction is practicable when the whole expenditure is only $62,oljection, and thus the matter rests The 000. It being impossible, the popular repeal of the test oath is to be tacked on by mind ought not to be educated to expect the Rouse to the Legislative, Executive it. However severely we may prune in these items, the reduction will not, cannot in the nature of things, be appreciable. At Senate will refuse to receive it in this the very utmost the saving in these matshape. It is to be hoped that the House ters can hardly be more than one cent on the $100, or 1-30 of the present rate of taxation It would seem, then, that the Democratic press might well be careful not to raise public expectation for the mere purpose of disappointing it. The great expenditures are not embraced within the $62,000 spent in administering the government at Raleigh; they are to be found in the appropriations for the penitentiary with its 1,150 convicts, $120,000, in the appropriations for the asylums $167,000; and in the $100,000 spent because of the Western North Carolina Railroad. These items, amounting to $387,000, are the great expenditures. 'It is understood that the Legislature making a thorough examination of these expenditures, and whether they can be reduced or not can be ascertained only upon the report of the retranchment committee; but it should be clearly apprehended by the public that if any cousiderable reduction in the public disbursements is to be made, it must he made in these items. Why, if all the departments of administration were to be utterly abolished, the consequent relief in taxation would be so slight that the people generally would fail to note it unless attention should be particularly called to the reduction We are not informed whether the appropriations for the penitentiaries or for the public charities can or cannot be reduced (that for the W. N. C. Railroad is made in the State's interest and to save it from loss), but unle s they can be rcduced, the people will suffer disappointment should they be led to believe that by any possible curtailment of other expenses their taxes might be considerably ightened.

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 13, 1879 Largest City Circulation.

In Georgia, one of the most Democratic of all the Southern States, there are fiftytwo companies of colored troops, fifty of which are infantry, one calvary and one artillery. Savannah has twelve, Atlanta three, Macon four, Augusta two, and Columbus one, and yet the colored man has no rights in the South.

Senator Thurman's advice to the Democracy to inaugurate an aggressive policy, and to maintain it, is the best that has yet been announced. In any trouble with an adversary there is nothing like carrying the war into Africa. The first blow is almost always the best and surest, and the most decisive of the entire fight, but this must be followed up by an equal aggressiveness. It is better to attack than to defend.

Gov. Tilden went before the Potter Committee and told what he knew about the Presidency steal. He goes on record. Mr. Hayes is strongly suspected of knowing his share, and yet he has not been bes fore the Committee, has not been summoned, and has not "kindly offered to tell all he knows about it." He should be

THE ZEAL OF THINE HOUSE.

We very much fear that the zeal of those Democratic papers who are so insistent in regard to "retienchment and reform" as embodied in a reduction of the salaries of State officers, "from Governor down," will work more evil to the party at the next election than if the subject had never been broached at all. It is unfortunate, perhaps,-for the people-that some of the oldest of our State exchanges, whenever they assume to lead or dictate on questions of State or National polity, are always on the wrong side of the question. They are spiendid at following, but very poor in leading others.

The matter of a reduction of the salaries of State officials has been agitated to such an extent as to absorb everything else that would savor in any measure of retrenchment. Weightier matters of weightier moment have been forgotten or overlooked, and the agitation carried to such an extent as might justify an outsider in the opinion that the weal or woe of the Democratic party in this State hung upon this great question alone. These things are all wrong. We can't all agree at all times, but we can always discuss a question fairly and upon its merits alone. But it is not worth while to come to the conclusionand worse than all to print that conclusion -that because a few papers cannot bulldoze the rest into thinking as they do the party must founder and go to Davy Jones' locker in the very next election which takes place.

The Raleigh Observer discusses this question in a very admirable article in its Tuesday's issue. Its facts are supported by figures which cannot lie and what it says must exercise an important bearing on this question. Here are the expenses under Radie .1 and under Demo cratic rule:

For the year ending September 30, 1869, the ordinary expenses were $425,-000; for the next year they were $400,-700. The Democrats then came into power, but the fruits of their labor were not manifest until the succeeding year when the ordinary expenses were less than $190,000; that is, where the Resummonod before that Committee and put publicans spent two dollars the Demoupon record. Mr. Tilden asked to be crats got along with less than one. But
