No more garbage is to be stored near the corner of Seventh and Market streets. It is said that peach trees that bloom in March are not very apt to be killed by frost.

As a reliable and cheap remedy for the various affections of the throat and lungs, we heartily recommend Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup. Price 25 cents.

Sturgeons are coming in more freely and are shipped to northern markets as fast as received. The man who was tossed over the back of an irate bull was reported as not dead, but only gone beef'er.

A young lady in Hartford, Conn., has been badly poisoned in the face by the aniline dye in the new blue veil.

The members of the Carolina Yach Club will meet next month for the election of officers for the ensuing year. Did you notice the number of cows and hogs in the streets yesterday? Truly we are becoming a stock raising community.

City Court.

The only offender before his Honor this morning was Ned Hubbert, colored, who was arrested upon the charge of disorderly conduct and a Saturday night drunk. He was fined $5 and costs or allowed to remain in the city prison for ten days. Times being hard, he remained.

Only a Rumor.

There was a report in very general circulation on the streets to-day to the effect that several men were drowned near Meares Bluff on Saturday night by the upsetting of a boat. We have made diligent inquiries about the matter, but were unable to trace it to any reliable source.

Personal.

We acknowledge the pleasure of a visit this morning from Mr. George E. Pittman, editor and proprietor of the sprightly little Nut Shell which is published daily at Newbern.

It always gives us pleasure to meet with those whom we knew in the times that tried men's souls, and Mr. Pittman is one whom the writer knew when the surroundings were not so pleasing or agreeable as the circumstances under which we viewed each other to-day.

Our genial friend, Mr. E. Conklin, of the Raleigh Observer, was in town last night and left on the train this morning for Columbia, S. O. He is working in the interest of that paper, and will return here again in a day or two for a brief stay.

Meeting of Railroad and Steamboat Men.

The Southern Railway and Steamship Association met in Augusta, Thursday, for the purpose of reorganizing and fixing freight rates. The attendance was very large. The association is holding its sessions at the Planter's Hotel.

On Friday the association was to have been engaged in fixing freight rates, and reports from the several committees were expected. Col. A. Pope, of this city, General Freight Agent of the Atlantic Coast Line, was in attendance, representing the interests of his line in the meeting.

Outrageous.

On Saturday last some eight or ten young lads congregated in front of the residence of Dr. John D. Bellamy, on the corner of Market and Fifth streets, and indulged in the pastime of throwing each other's hats over into the garden, which, by the way, is one of the finest flower gardens in the city, and one in which the Doctor and his family take great pleasure and upon which they have expended considerable time and money.

Rather Hoggish.

The Carolina Farmer.

We have just received the March number of this most useful magazine. We consider this journal as one of the best agricultural periodicals in the South, as we have ever found it replete with information of importance to the farmer.

United States Depository.

We learn that Col. E. R. Brink has to-day received from the Secretary of the Treasury a notification that by reason of his being the postmaster in this city he has been designated as United States Depository of public monies at this place, under the provisions of section 3,634 of the Revised Statutes of the United States.

Delinquent Taxpayers Attention.

The Treasury Department of the city government has been kept busy to-day in making out a list of all delinquents in the license tax due the city. Saturday night between the hours of eleven and twelve, Dick Crawford, colored, took a canoe at the foot of Market street to start across the river to his domicile. The water was very rough, and as Dick had been drinking he was admonished by those standing around not to venture across in his frail craft. He was determined and paid no attention to the advice of his friends.

A Park or Place of Resort Needed.

Wilmington needs most sadly a public park or place of resort, where those who are compelled from sheer necessity to toil from "early dawn to dewy eve," from Monday morning until Saturday night, may, on Sunday afternoon, seek a little recreation by a sniff of fresh air or an inhalation of the perfume of fragrant flowers or plants while the eye rests upon a change of scene not incident to the regular routine of daily life.
