City Court.

Lewis Green, colored, arrested for larceny, was ordered turned over to Justice Hall for trial.

Plummer Young, arraigned for trespass, was given over to the tender mercies of a trial Justice. This completed the Mayor's session for the day.

Committed Upon a Serious Charge.

Samuel Faison, colored, was sent here for safe keeping from Perder last night under commitment from Justice C. W.
McClammy, Jr., upon the charge of rape, alleged to have been committed upon a colored girl twelve years of age. The prisoner was lodged in jail where he will be kept for safe keeping until the next term of Perder county Superior Court.

Aladdin.

Professor Agostini has in preparation "Aladdin, or the Wonderful Lamp" and will present it to the good people of this city on Friday evening, the 18th inst., at the Opera House. The characters of the play will be represented by the pupils of his dancing school and in their instruction he is assisted by ladies of well known ability. The days and other scenery necessary for the proper mounting of Aladdin is being painted by an artist in this city. We are promised a rich treat and such dancing by the performers as was never seen in this city.

Magistrate's Court.

Lewis Green, colored, charged with larceny of $5 from another colored man, was arraigned, had a preliminary trial before Justice Hall this morning and was bound over to the Criminal Court in the sum of $50.

Plummer Young was arraigned before the same Justice upon the charge of trespass in that the defendant walked into the apartments of W. H. Tyler, a colored resident of Paddy's Hollow, and ensconced himself in said Tyler's bed. The defendant was discharged upon payment of $8.25 costs.

The Good Templars.

The following officers of Wilmington Lodge, No. 64, I. O. G. T., were elected last evening:

W. C. T. — W. M. Hays, Jr.
W. V. T. — Mrs. V. A. O'AKES
W. R. S. — J. N. Spooner.
W. F. S. — Mrs. M. A. Walton.
W. T. — Miss Agnes Keene.
W. C. — Miss Nellie Spooner.
W. M. — O. R. Branch.
W. D. M. — Miss Mattie E. Orr.
W. I. G. — Miss Emma Gurley.
W. G. M. — P. Orr.
W. A. S. — Miss Ella Smith.
W. H. S. — Miss Mary Jones.
W. L. S. — Miss Mary Yopp.

That Sewing Society.

The teller of one of our city banks was very much astonished this morning when a deputation of ladies, matrons grave and ladies fair, marched up to his desk and deliberately counted out about two thousand and coppers, for which larger currency was politely requested.

But for the surprise of the Bank Officer we fear our fair friends would have had a bootless errand coppers to that amount at least, not being a very desirable addition to a cash drawer. As it was, however, bank bills were duly substituted, and that teller is now wondering what it all meant. When he reads this he will find out.

Some time ago certain ladies of one of our church congregations organized a Sewing Society. They gave it at the time no distinctive appellation, but subsequent events caused it to be denominated "The Society for Making Aprons and Selling them for Ten Cents a piece and Applying the Proceeds to the Payment of the Church Debt."

The male relatives of the said ladies were elected honorary members, their privileges being to escort the other members from and to the meetings, to refrain from making suggestions, or listening to the confidential confab which the working members might be supposed to wish to indulge in, and finally, to make good any difference between what ought to be accumulated and what actually was.
We have not space to enumerate all the good the Society actually accomplished, but we have heard that among other benefits the trade in aprons in the City was so enlivened that new stocks have been ordered.

It is said also that one merchant alone sold about two hundred patterns. Who bought them is not known, but it is certain that each member of the Society had a package of seven left at her residence, with request to "have them done by this evening." Last night the final meeting was held, and the earnings were to be counted up.

Yesterday mysterious looking little packages were left at the homes of the fair sempstresses with this caution distinctly written thereon: "Not to be opened before the meeting."

The agony of curiosity endured all day by that troubled Society is possibly not comprehensible to the masculine mind, but the ladies were amply rewarded when on opening the packages at night they found, in each, thirty-six large coppers, of all countries, shades of colors, dates &c. neatly put up in cotton. The ladies distinctly counting their funds about 12 o'clock, and then unanimously resolved to carry them to the Bank in person to be exchanged, not daring to trust the honorary members, for fear of more tricks.

The subjoined report was sent to a member of the Society through the Postoffice.
As the President disclaims having written it we suppose it is to be attributed to the same source whence came the aprons and coppers:

WILMINGTON, N. C.
April 9th, 1879.

Ladies of the Patent Apron Sewing So- ciety:

Pursuant to an agreeable custom exercised, if not inaugurated, by the Presidents of many deliberative bodies I feel called upon at the closing scene of our labors to congratulate you upon the success which has crowned your efforts.

Another custom, probably intended as an offset to the above and most likely conceived at if not encouraged by the officers aforesaid, is to present retiring Presidents with a handsome gold watch or some other little trinket, in recognition of his or her valuable services, but as I have heard no intimation of this kind intimated, I will not pursue the subject at this moment.

The first Sewing Society of which history makes any mention was that instituted by the firm of Adam & Eve, incorrectly stated to have been the only one ever known to exist in which there was no more talking done than work. Their labors, we know, were principally confined to the making of aprons, and I do not doubt that the taste developed by some of the members of this Society for that branch of housewifery art has been directly inherited from that famous couple. It is not stated how long Adam remained a member of that first Society, but unless some of his descendants belie their ancestry greatly, we are not called upon to doubt that he soon left the whole drudgery upon Eve's hands and contented himself with finding fault with what he could not improve upon. We will, however, (to give the gentleman in black his full deserts) admit that he was never known to grumble because his shirt was minus a proper complement of buttons.

I am sure that none of this fair and ladylike has often thought of the terrible loneliness to which that poor soul Eve was subjected while busily plying her needle, deprived even of that sweet solace, the company of a confidential friend to whom she could whisper her most private opinion of the style of dressing indulged in by her daughter-in-law and her fear that it would certainly ruin poor Seth. I suppose I might sketch the various improvements in the art of sewing from that time when fig leaves were used as material and thorns doubtless as needles, to be present when with that triumph of art, the sewing machine, we can afford for the small sum of ten cents to make a double scooped, hemstitch centre, cross biased, cut around the corner apron, or for 50 cents whip a two plaited bonnet on both ends, put in three rows of gathers and even embroider a monogram in each corner; but I will not try your patience so far, for I know you are all anxious to tell your friends exactly how diligent we have been and how much we have accumulated.

Of the great benefits we have derived from our Society a few words will suffice.
We have not only been able to assist the Church in the payment of its debt but we have laid up a store of information in regard to our neighbors which will afford an inexhaustible conversational supply for at least a year to come. Not a new dress has been worn, not a new bonnet displayed, but we have been able to ascertain the exact cost both of material and work. Not a husband has come home late from the Club but we have recorded it against him and identified the old bachelor or forlorn widower, who has tempted him to stay away from the sweet society of his home. To my young unmarried friends I would say, beware of such friends in human disguise.

I do not not know that it is exactly germane to this subject, but I cannot forbear availing myself of this opportunity to vindicate my sex from one aspersion recently cast upon it. A recent lecturer, in a reference to the celebrated King Midas, stated that the secret of his assues was revealed through the weakness of a female servant. I have taken pains to inform myself upon this subject, and I find that history states that it was Midas' barber (and undoubtedly a man) who disclosed the fateful secret. In conclusion, I would recommend, ladies, that enough of our funds be reserved to pay the expenses of a big sound party, and the balance immediately devoted to its intended object, with one proviso, to wit, that we will give one-half of the amount to know who sent those aprons and those coppers.

Respectfully
President.

A Narrow Escape.

At about 11 o'clock this forenoon, while the wind was blowing quite a severe gale, a young gentleman of this city, the owner of the pretty little yacht Addie Louise, thought he would test the merits of the boat. He started with her from Messrs. Blossom & Evans' yard, and when about halfway across the river the main sheet became entangled and in a moment the boat was capsized. When first discovered the young yachtsman had the bow line in his mouth and was making good headway for the wharf, with the boat in tow. Fortunately no further damage than a ducking occurred, but it was a narrow escape.

Schooner Wrecked.

Last Tuesday's Newbern Nut Shell says: We learn from Mr. Loui Angell that the schooner Clara Merrick, from Philadelphia, with coal, bound for Wilmington, N. C., struck on the Diamond Shoals, near Hatteras, on Friday morning, at 12:30 o'clock, and was totally wrecked. The vessel sank so deep that the crew had to climb to the mast heads, and even there an occasional wave washed over them. The schooner Mary Louisa Capt. Gaskill, went to the rescue of the crew and all were saved. The Clara Merrick was a schooner of about 110
tons.

Criminal Court.

The following cases were disposed of to-day:
State vs Solomon Bowea, charge with assault and battery. Verdict guilty. Judgment suspended upon payment of costs.
State vs James Heaton, charged with embezzlement. Motion by defendant to quash indictment motion granted. Appeal craved by the State. Appeal granted.
State vs James Heaton, charged with embezzlement. On trial.
In six different cases a not pro was entered by Solicitor.

"Good Wine Needs no Bush."

Neither does DOOLEY'S YEAST POWDER, matchless for all kinds of bread and pastry. The purest cream tartar made from grape acid is used in its composition.
And each can is exactly full weight. It's not merely a question of economy in price, however. The products in which it is used are most healthy and delicious.

Sudden Death of a Worthy Citizen.

Our community was very much shocked this morning to learn of the sudden demise of one who, though a stranger comparatively, was yet highly esteemed by all who enjoyed the pleasure of his acquaintance. Dr. Carl F. Burkhardt, a native of Switzerland but for the past three years a resident of this city, died suddenly this morning between the hours of 8 and 4 o'clock at the residence of Mr. Geo.
C. McDougald, where he boarded, on the corner of Ninth and Chestnut streets.
The deceased had not been entirely well for several months, having at different times during that period been confined to his room from sickness, but no one supposed that his end was so near. In fact his most intimate friends had predicted for him a long and successful career of usefulness in the profession to which he was so devotedly attached and in which he was beginning to attain such eminence.

The friends with whom he resided had planned for him a short trip into the country, in which they were all to participate, in the hope that the recreation and relief thus afforded from his professional duties might improve his physical condition and this morning was the time appointed for their departure.

From the lady of the house where the deceased boarded we gather the following particulars concerning the untimely end of this genial, courteous, whole souled gentleman, whose death we have just recorded: Dr. Burkhardt, after arranging everything last night for his departure on the Carolina Central train this morning, retired to his room in apparent good health, about 12 o'clock. At 2 o'clock our informant states she was awakened by hearing a peculiar kind of noise or breathing in the room of the deceased, as if some one was whining, and that upon entering there as soon as she conveniently could do so, found the deceased in a stupor.
Restoratives of every kind that could be thought of were applied but without affording the necessary relief, while several messengers were dispatched for different physicians. Dr. King was the first to arrive, who after an examination discovered that the unfortunate gentleman was beyond all human aid and in the agonies of death, caused from an attack of apoplexy.
Doctors Love and Lane also reached the bedside of their friend, but too late to do any good.

Dr. Burkhardt, as stated above, was a native of Switzerland, and while a student at the Medical College in Zurich, some five or six years ago, became involved in a personal difficulty which resulted in a duel and caused him to flee the country, when he came to America, and first located at Goldsboro. He afterwards entered the Medical College at Charleston from which he graduated with distinction as a physician. He remained in the last named city during the prevalence of the yellow fever there, three summers ago, doing much good in practicing among those who were afflicted with that terrible disease.

Dr. B. was a gentleman of refinement and culture and spoke fluently five or six different languages. He was possessed of a genial, kind hearted nature which won for him hosts of friends in our community, who sorrow at his untimely end. The funeral will take place to-morrow at 8 o'clock, from the corner of Ninth and Chestnut streets, to St. Paul's Lutheran Church and thence to Oakdale Cemetery.

MAY HIS REST BE PEACE!

Board of Aldermen.

The Board of Aldermen met in regular monthly session, last night, at the City Hall.

The Finance Committee, in the matter of the petition of Henry Taylor, reported progress.

The Ordinance Committee asked for and were granted further time.

The Committee on Fire Department, in the matter of B. Solomon, reported that the City Clerk and Treasurer notify the Company that they must pay the claim at once, or it will be paid by the city and deducted from the appropriation.

The same Committee reported favorably on the petition of Mrs. E. Warren and both reports were adopted.

The Sanitary Committee recommended that Health Officer James be instructed to carry out the recommendations as contained in his letter.

The special committee on telephone connection with engine houses made a report and, on motion, it was referred back to the committee with request that they make a written report at the next meeting.

The special committee on the removal of the market house made their report, notifying the Board that after hearing arguments for and against the proposition, they were unable to agree, and referring the matter back to the Board of Aldermen, which was received and the committee discharged.

A communication was read from Mr. J.
E. Lippitt, containing a proposition of the stockholders of the New Market; one from S. H. Manning & Co., proposing to build the Market House; one from T. H. Johnson and Hermann Hintze covering like proposition, and resolution of Alderman Hill, on the subject; together with an offer of F. W. Foster, Esq., to sell the city a site for the Market House on the corner of Third and Princess streets; were all referred to Committee on Market and Fees.

Communication from Cape Fear Engine Company was referred to the Committee on Fire Department.

Alderman Flanner, from the Sanitary Committee, submitted the action of the Board of Health as to quarantine regulations, signed by Dr. W. G. Curtis, Quarantine Physician, and Drs. Wood and Walker, Consulting Physicians, heretofore referred to in the REVIEW, which was approved and adopted.

Communication from Dr. W. W. Lane, in relation to the City Hospital, was referred to the Sanitary Committee, and a communication from W. Kellogg was referred to the same with power to act.

Petition of D. Cortjohn, for a lamp, was referred to the Committee on Lights.

Bid of Colville & Co., to furnish lumber at $11.25 per M., was accepted.

Petitions from J. F. Stoller, Harding Johnson and Colville & Co., to erect buildings, were referred to the Committee on Fire Department, with power to act in the case of Colville & Co.

Application from N. Morris, for position as Standard Keeper, was received, and on motion, he was so appointed.

Norwood Gilis, Esq., was (at his own request) required to give a bond to the city for $5,000, as Commissioner of the Sinking Fund.

The Board took a recess for ten minutes then went into executive session, and finally adjourned, without transacting any other legislative business.

The steamer North State took a very large freight and quite a full passenger list up the Cape Fear this afternoon.

IN MEMORIAM.

BURKHARDT—Died in this city, and denly, from congestion of the lungs, this morning, April 10th, at 3 A. M. Dr. Carl F. Burkhardt, aged 33 years, born in Hor-gen, near Zurich, Switzerland.
Funeral services will take place from St. Paul's Lutheran Church to-morrow afternoon, at 3 o'clock, and thence to Oakdale Cemetery.

Dr. Burkhardt was born in Horgen, a beautiful village on the shore of Lake Zurich, in Switzerland, near the city of the same name.

He came to this country in company with a number of emigrants, about ten years ago, when quite a young man, and settled in Goldsboro, where he engaged in small fruit farming. But having received a liberal academic education and attended a course of medical lectures in the University of Zurich, this occupation became distasteful to him, and through the aid of a friend he was enabled to finish his professional course at the Medical College in Charleston, S. C., where he graduated with much honor to himself, and the following year, in consideration of his merit received the appointment of House Physician in the City Hospital.

Shortly after this, he removed to Wilmington, where by his honesty of purpose, gentlemanly conduct and genial good nature, he soon acquired the confidence of the community and, by his zeal, kindness of heart and industry, was rapidly obtaining a reputation as a painstaking and skilful physician.

He was a man of cultured intellect and fine classic attainments, devoted to his friends, and possessed of much personal magnetism, which won for him a warm regard wherever he was known.

No stranger has ever settled in our midst who has so generally won upon the esteem of his fellow-men as did Dr. Carl F. Burkhardt.

Dr. B. was a member of the New Hanover County Medical Society.
