This day, May Day, is painfully remarkable this year for a rekindling of fires and a resumption of winter clothing. The season seems to be going backward instead of forward.

What this country most needs at present is a species of honey bee which will work all winter and give as big a ring honey. The idea of a bee loafing about six months of the twelve is absurd.

Death of Mrs. Anderson.
Mrs. Alexander Anderson, relict of a gentleman whom only our very oldest citizens can recollect, and the mother of Dr. E. A. Anderson and Mr. James Anderson, both residents of this city, died last evening at 7 o'clock, at the residence of her daughter in this city. The funeral ceremonies take place this afternoon from the First Presbyterian church.

Really Remarkable.

A venerable citizen of this place, Mr. P. W. Fanning, who on the tenth day of last month scored his 80th year, yesterday celebrated his wooden wedding, he having been married just five years. Many friends and relatives, of the youthful couple called during the day and tendered their congratulations and a number of handsome presents appropriate to the day were tendered and received.

Magistrate's Court.

Calvin Bronson and Dave Martin, two colored citizens from Perder, got into a dispute this morning at the foot of Princess street, which soon waxed warm when blows were exchanged and Bronson belled his antagonist with a stick of wood by striking him over the head making an ugly scalp wound. Bronson was arrested and carried before Justice Hall for assault and committed in default of $50 to await his trial before the same Justice on Monday, the 5th day of May.

The Fashion.
New white lawn ties have the ends finished with black Broton lace.

New parasols have covers of the finest tating made in wheels and crescents. Old-fashioned changeable silks are again in fashion for dresses and hat trimmings.

A new suit material is called "Amazon cloth." It is not necessary to be stragminded to wear a suit of it.

The rage for striped goods as a trimming gives us the "Valerie" basque. It is very stylish in cut, perfectly moulding the waist, and rounding over the hips. The striped comes below the edge of the basque, and the striped fabric of which it is formed is repeated as collar, cuffs and revers. The ribbon loops are composed of the two colors of the stripes.

A very beautiful dress, imported as a pattern by a fashionable establishment, has very fine black cashmere for its material. This has a deep embroidery—fully a quarter of a yard—of forget-me-nots in their true color and crowded together. The design runs up another quarter of a yard on the deep polonaise. The tablier front consists entirely of this exquisite embroidery, as do also the cuffs and the small vest. A heavy fringe, blue and black, finishes the drapery.

Some of the new parasols are gorgeous. Jockey designs in narrow gay stripes, wide bright stripes, and fanciful handles; the bright red umbrellas of two summers ago are coming in very gayly. Striped fans are also decidedly fashionable. Also a shaded, sheeny, shot silk is used for both parasols and fans. There seems to be a great jump from the quiet and low ton to the high and gay in dress and equipage. Bandana handkerchiefs are painted on percales, and Madras colors and combinations shine forth on the foulards.

Knights of Honor—The Workings of the Order.

From an official circular, published by the Supreme Lodge Knights of Honor, and dated April 10th, we gain the following information, which will be found of importance to all persons interested in the workings of the Order. During the past year the ranks of the Knights of Honor have sustained a large number of deaths from yellow fever, besides which the death rate during summer months was unusually large. Up to July, 1878, the deaths in the Order had never numbered over 21 in any one month. From the first of that month on to December the death-rate was as follows: July, 30; August, 54; September, 140; October, 80; November, 32; total, 336. Of these 198 deaths were from yellow fever, showing the number of deaths not caused by that disease, 143.

This heavy death-roll made the call upon the Widows' and Orphans' Benefit Fund amount to $670,000, a sum greater than had been disbursed from that fund during the previous five years. To meet this extraordinary demand two assessments were laid in November, two in December, three in February and two in March.

These assessments were cheerfully met, and orders on the benefit fund were issued upon all deaths up to January 24th, 1879, and the assessments now in process will pay all deaths to March 1st 1879. The orders issued on the W. O. B. Fund since October 1st, 1878 were as follows: October, $78,000; November, $60,000; December, $100,000; January, $90,000; February, $140,000; March, $154,000; April to date, $59,000; total, $679,000. Orders upon the W and O B Fund for deaths from yellow fever were issued during the period included between November 20th, 1878, and March 21st 1879.

With a total loss more—the circular claims—than double that of any other beneficiary society, the Order of Knights of Honor has paid in full every benefit caused by the epidemic and proved very satisfactorily its ability to stand the severest test. The work was done with hardly more than the usual number of suspensions, and though the growth of the order was temporarily checked by the extraordinary demands upon its resources a rapid increase in the membership of the Order is now taking place all over the country, and it now numbers over 150,000 members. Aside from the payment of death benefits, $15,000 was contributed for the relief of the living brought to want by the epidemic.

This is an excellent showing, and very creditable to the Order. It will be read with interest by the members of the large and influential lodge of Knights of Honor in this city.

Robert Manning, a colored boy, was brought before the Mayor this morning for fighting and sentenced to pay a fine of $2 50, in default of which he was sent below to spend a few days in the solitude of a cell.
Eggs are retelling here now at 11 to 12 cents a dozen.

The Picnic at Waccamaw.

Yesterday was a gala day for the old, the middle aged and the young connected with the First Baptist and the Brooklyn Mission Sunday Schools of this city, together with their "sisters and their cousins and their aunts," the whole aggregating about 500 people, on the picnic excursion to Lake Waccamaw, on the W. C. & A. Railroad 36 miles from Wilmington. The early morning hours considerably dampened the ardor of many of the young ones, (and well they might, for it was a very damp time) who had looked with eager expectation to the day, for the threatening clouds the vivid lightning, the reverberating thunder and the torrent of rain cast dismay upon their hopes. Glad were their hearts when the clouds were scattered and the clear blue sky gave evidence of a beautiful day, and as the hour approached at which the train was to depart they began to flock to the depot, and long before the time of starting the cars allotted to the excursionists were crowded to overflowing while more than a hundred were standing upon the platform unable to effect an entrance to the cars. But Capt. James Knight, of the Railroad, was equal to the emergency, and extra cars were furnished and speedily filled and the train hauled out, and off we went, a happy hearted party of mortals on pleasure bent. In due time Flemington was reached where we disembarked, and a rather straggling procession of men, women and children, loaded with the inevitable and well supplied baskets, were en route to the lake, which is about a short half-mile distant. Here the party dispersed themselves along its margin, forming small squads under the trees, as best suited themselves. Some went boating, some fishing, some swimming, a good many went wading, while others sauntered around under the beautiful shade trees on the banks of the magnificent Waccamaw. It was a day for pleasure, and the only serious faces we noticed were those of the love-makers, of whom there were quite a number present, if we are any judge of such matters. A sumptuous dinner, at which all were served, plenty of lemonade, and everything to satisfy the appetite, contributed to the happiness of the day. At about 4 o'clock the excursionists in small groups began to collect at the cars, and before the train which was to bring them back had arrived, the cars were crowded, all pleased with the sports of the day and tired and anxious to get home. In due season the train arrived, and after a short delay we were whirling with lightning speed on our homeward journey, where we arrived without accident and with happy thoughts in the minds of all, which will be long remembered and quoted as "The day we went to Waccamaw Lake."

Freshet and Hail Storm.

From Captain Green, of the steamer North State, we learn that owing to the recent rains in the up country, there is plenty of boating water between here and Fayetteville now, there being as much as twenty feet of water on the Shoals, with the river still rising, though slowly. Captain Green says further that there was a right sharp hail storm at Willis' Creek twenty miles this side of Fayetteville, yesterday morning, and that the hail stones rattled down pretty sharply for the space of an hour, but it is thought that little or no damage resulted from the storm.

Friday for Memorial Day.

The Ladies' Memorial Association have concluded, at the request of a good many of the business portion of our community, to observe Friday, the 9th of May, as Memorial Day, instead of the 10th, because of the latter day's falling on Saturday this year. This, we believe, will give general satisfaction to all parties concerned, at least we trust this will be the case as it is the earnest desire of the ladies, as we are informed, to fix upon the day that will be most acceptable, under the circumstances, to those who would otherwise be prevented from participating in the ceremonies if they were conducted on Saturday.

Another S. S. Concert.
As will be seen by reference to our advertising columns, the Sunday School Concert at the Front Street Methodist Church, on Tuesday evening, will be repeated at the same place on Friday evening, (the 2d inst) with a change of programme. We are glad of this for it was very pleasant treat on Tuesday evening and we are confident they can furnish another entertainment of equal merit. We hope that the house may be as densely crowded to-morrow evening as it was on the first occasion, that all will give as liberally as their means and their duty to their families will permit, and we earnestly hope that the last song may be sung and the last note of the organ become hushed in silence before one single step may be taken towards leaving the Church. Courtesy demands this and certainly, the sweet songs of children are too pure and holy in their influence to be shocked by even a discordant whisper.

Sunday Trains Discontinued.

On the Weldon road hereafter, on Sunday, no passenger train will arrive at 8:16 o'clock, a. m., nor will one leave here on that day at 9:20 o'clock p. m., as has been the case. On the Columbia and Augusta road, the train that formerly left Wilmington at 8:36 a. m., on Sunday, will be discontinued, as will that which arrived here at 9 p. m. Other trains will run on both roads on Sundays as heretofore. No changes will be made in the running of the trains upon other days.

RAILROAD CONNECTIONS.

Trains from the South arriving at Wilmington at 6:18 a. m., connect at Meares' Bluff with trains for all points on the Carolina Central; and trains on the latter road which are due here at 10 p. m., connect also at Meares' Bluff for Charleston, the South and stations on W. C. & A. Railroad.

A Card.
To all who are suffering from the errors and indiscretions of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood &c., I will send a recipe that will cure you, FREE OF CHARGE. This great remedy was discovered by a missionary in South America. Send a self-addressed envelope to the Rev. JOSEPH T. INMAN, Station D, New York City.

The Mail Robbers.

An investigation of the mail robbery, reported by us yesterday, was had this morning before U. S. Commissioner McQuigg. George Davis, the defendant, was brought in from the jail and placed in the dock. After a patient investigation he was ordered to give bond in the sum of $1,000 for his appearance at the next term of the District Court, which meets here next week, in default of which, he was committed to jail. John L. Holmes, Esq., appeared for the defendant and Mr. J. I. Macks for the United States.

James Davis, colored, the party now confined in jail on a charge of larceny, who made affidavit yesterday to the effect that he is the real party who robbed the mail and that one Charley Williams, also colored, was his accomplice, was brought into Court He sticks to his assertion that he, together with Williams, who has been arrested, will be examined before Commissioner McQuigg in a day or two. In view of the facts developed on the trial of George Davis it is as impossible to believe as it is to entirely disbelieve his statement and Col. Brink thinks it likely that he may be referring to some other mail robbery in which he was concerned. The only motive which can be assumed in support of his affidavit, if false, is that he feels certain of being convicted of larceny and prefers going to Albany to being sentenced to convict work in this State.

In Trouble.

Yesterday's Charlotte Observer, at hand this morning, gives a rather disagreeable prominence to a well known colored individual who has from this place and who has heretofore occupied a prominent position among his race in this city. We speak of John P. Sampson who will be remembered, the defeated Republican candidate for the State Senate at the last election. The Observer says:

Thomas Jefferson, the well known Charlotte Hotel barber, is in much trouble by reason of the infidelity of his wife. Some two weeks ago there came to this city from Wilmington one J. P. Sampson, a colored man, who represented that he was a phrenologist and that his home was New York. During his stay here he became quite intimate with several colored women, and visited Jefferson's house several times during the absence of the latter. Last Friday Sampson left here, saying that he was going to Chester, S. C. Saturday night late when Jefferson went home his wife was gone and with her a trunk and all of her wearing apparel. She had, during the day, packed up her effects, and in addition had sold a quantity of the bedding. The injured husband at once bestirred himself and at half-past three o'clock Sunday morning intercepted his wife at the Air Line junction, she being at the time on the Richmond & Danville train and having in her pocket a ticket for Salisbury. He carried her home, and directly after daybreak the same morning she started from home with the avowed purpose of going the sunrise prayer meeting, since which time she has not returned. Her husband heard yesterday that she was seen to get on the 12 o'clock south-bound train at Pineville, on the Charlotte, Columbia & Augusta Railroad, and he believes that she went to Chester and joined the "phrenologist," having walked from Charlotte to Pineville in order to avoid detection. Jefferson does not understand her having started to Salisbury in the first instance, unless it was by agreement with Sampson that she should go there and wait until he called for her, he probably considering that they could thus dodge her husband more effectually than if she joined him directly at Chester.

Destructive Fire in Newbern.

There was a destructive fire in Newbern, yesterday morning, on Middle street, near at its intersection with Broad street. The fire originated in one of the engine houses and the flames spread with such rapidity that several dwellings were burned before they could be extinguished. The fire department, including the two steam fire engines, worked faithfully, and it was owing to their efficient service that a general conflagration was prevented. The news comes by telegraph and we have not been able to learn further particulars than those above stated.
