THE ATTEMPT TO COERCE SOUTHERN DEMOCRATIC CONGRESSMEN.

The New York Herald has launched out again in gratuitous advice to Southern Representatives in Congress, and devotes a column of editorial upon this subject in its issue of the 23d inst., in directions for the Democrats in general and the Confederate Brigadiers in particular, in Congress to follow, and tries first by threats and then by cajoling the Democratic Congressmen, to coerce them into the belief that the only safety for the country, and particularly for this section of the country, lies in an immediate appropriation by the House of the supplies for the army and likewise for the Legislative, Judiciary and Executive branches of the government.

Mr. Randall, it is understood in Washington, is the leader of those Democrats who are inclined to 'let the army slide.' He urges his followers to pass the Legislative bill, but to defeat the Army bill. Do the Southern men know what the country says of this policy? It says that the South, in spite of Mr. Randall, is that the South, out of vindictive hatred of the army which helped to beat down the rebellion, and out of a secret determination to drive out the present officers and fill their places with men who served in the rebel armies, insists upon the starving and disbandment of the army. That is what men all over the North think and say. We do not believe it is true; but it is of a good deal of importance to the Southern men to prove it untrue by their conduct, because their silence and inaction up to this time give at least good color to the accusation.

Now, of what importance is it to the people of the South what the North thinks or says? Have we not tried by fourteen years of political tribulation, of physical sufferings, of wrongs inflicted by the vile emissaries of the Radical party in the North, and patiently endured by the South for the sake of peace and harmony, to prove our devotion to the Union with all the illegal amendments that were forced down our prostrate State throats, while they were lying helpless upon their backs immediately after the surrender of the armies of the Confederacy? And what has it all availed us? Do not Blaine, and Conkling and the infamous Hoar and Edmunds, of Electoral Commission infamy, with other Radical demagogues in the Senate and House wilfully and maliciously misrepresent and pervert everything that is said and done at the South, so that their speeches, which are reported in lying sheets like the New York Tribune, may reach the voters of the North and poison their minds against the people of this section? May more, has not the editor of an able and influential magazine at the North which has a very large circulation throughout the country generally, in a recent number of his periodical slandered the South by saying in substance that murder was frequently committed among those of high social position at the South, with impunity? This, too, while all of the Northern newspapers were full of the proceedings of the trial of Cox, the unfortunate murderer of the lamented Alston, who were both men of high social position in their State. But as offset to this unfortunate occurrence he might have mentioned the murder at the North of Mr. Bishop by her husband and the murder afterwards of Mr. Cobb by Bishop and his paramour, who was the wife of the last victim of their unholy passion. But why draw any comparison between crime at the North and South? The best evidence that our people are considered for their real worth and as superior to our Yankee accusers, is the fact that when any of our representatives ever venture abroad they are feted and toasted and their society courted by those of noble birth and entertained without seeking it like Grant, as witness, Mr. Jefferson Davis, Gen. Richard Taylor, Gen. Beauregard and others of less prominence whom we might mention. We trust the Herald has made a mistake for once and that neither by threats or entreaty can they reduce or induce our representatives to eat any more dirt under the promise that they will have apple pie to feast upon after this. We have nothing to gain by any such line of conduct; on the contrary we have everything to lose. Our people have been compromising since the early days of the Republic with the puritanical fanaticism of New England, yielding inch after inch of our constitutional rights until we are finally dispossessed of everything we had; and now that we are back in the Union with the same privileges and rights in North Carolina that New York or Maine is entitled to, let us demand them, as it is our just right to do. The one great and fatal mistake made by the South, which we all now see, was in not contesting our rights in the Union instead of leaving it in '61. Southern valor and Southern treasure helped to establish this confederation of States, and we are not to be cheated out of our rightful inheritance. We have control now of all of our State governments, and if the Northern people can stand the revolution which the radical stalwarts are forcing upon the country, we who have endured so much might endure a little more, rather than sell our birthright for a mess of pottage. Neither can we be forced out of the Union again. If there is to be any more intestine strife the Slightly New Englanders and the bummers of Sherman's army of the West must do the fighting; we beg to be excused. But we do hope that the Southern Representatives will stand as adamant under the leadership of the Hon. Sam'l J. Randall and let the Army, Legislative Judiciary and Executive Appropriation bills go by default rather than accept the humiliating terms offered by the fraudulent President and his stalwart advisers.

OUR MINING INTERESTS.

The past year has witnessed an important increase in interest relative to the mineral wealth of North Carolina, and within the past few months the excitement has reached a fever heat. The people of the western counties of the State have become almost wild over the auriferous deposits which are supposed to lie hidden in the bosom of the hills and mountains. Speculation runs high. Northern capitalists, who have had experience in gold mining operations have become interested and are investing their money freely in purchasing gold producing lands. All the appliances which experience can suggest in science, art and mechanical contrivances, by which the ore can be more easily, expeditiously and cheaply separated from the rock and sand with which it is surrounded are being brought into requisition to make the enterprise as completely successful as possible. Prospectors are searching for indications by which to establish new mines. Old mines that have been neglected as no longer profitable have been sold, and the new purchasers are working them with success and profit. In fact, the entire gold producing section of the State has become awakened to an excitement such as it has never known before. It has become a modern Ophir, to which capital, science, art, intelligence, industry and perseverance are making pilgrimage. The excitement, enthusiasm, mania, or whatever it may be, is not confined merely to the people of that section nor to the State, but extends throughout the entire country. New England, New York, Pennsylvania and other States, North and West, have become interested and are visiting the mining regions in numbers prepared to invest their capital in the development of the mineral wealth of the State.

We rejoice at this, for, while there are undoubtedly many exaggerated reports concerning certain localities, this advent of capital and population to our State will add to our material advancement, and while the mines already developed may be worked with profit, enterprise and energy will seek hitherto undiscovered deposits and the mineral wealth of the State will be fully developed. But in this development of the mineral wealth of the State is not the greatest blessing which we are to derive from the excitement incident thereto. It will bring here men seeking investment for capital and our genial unsurpassed climate will cause them to become permanent residents. The western counties will be the objective point of a highly desirable population, and the business and wealth of that section will be enhanced.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 23 1876. It has seemed to me for months that Mr Thurman was the proper Democratic candidate for Governor of Ohio. It is getting clearer every day that he is the man. The Democrats can hardly afford to throw away any chances, and unquestionably the Senator is the strongest man in the State. The Legislative bill, with its so-called political sections, passed the House today, the immaterial amendments of the Senate being agreed to. For two days the Republican Radical organ, and the Star, kitchen organ of the administration, have said that a veto will be sent in on Monday or Tuesday, probably. Then the Democratic majority of the two Houses will have before them the question whether or not they shall vote supplies to the Government, notwithstanding the unpatriotic course of the Radical minority in Congress, and the unpatriotic and deceptive course of Mr Hayes. The Democratic majority was clearly right in all that it asked. I believe that nine men out of ten, North and South, admit that. The false issues raised by radical speakers like Garfield, Blaine, Chandler, and others, can have no permanent effect. The Democrats were right. The people will in due time approve their action. But it does not follow that the Democratic majority would be justified in imposing penalties upon the whole people simply because an unscrupulous administration—a fraudulent one, for that matter—has succeeded in temporarily defeating legislation. The true course for the Democracy, as your correspondent has heretofore held, is to continue the supplies to government, at least until December, when Congress meets again. Secretary Sherman has written a letter declining a Republican nomination for Governor of Ohio. He does not put his declinations upon the ground of personal disinclination, but he thinks the general government cannot spare him. His own words are as follows: 'I am now engaged in a public duty which demands my constant attention, and which can clearly be better completed by me than by any one coming freshly into office. To now accept the nomination for Governor, though it is an honor I would otherwise highly prize and feel deeply grateful for, would be justly regarded as an abandonment of a trust which is important to the whole country, to promote my personal advancement.'

This inane and senseless in keeping with all that the Secretary has said and done in the last two years. He has been, so far as the Treasury has been concerned, the Congress and the Administration. He has executed or neglected to execute laws, as he has pleased. He is paying with regularity and promptness the interest on the public debt, and refusing to pay all other classes of debts. The Commissioners of Pensions is preparing for payment five or six millions of dollars worth of claims per month under the arrears of pension act, and Secretary Sherman coolly says he can pay two millions worth. Suppose the Secretary should pay but a half or third of the interest on Government bonds. It would be just as honest and just as proper. But the Secretary keeps up the payment of interest on the bonds, and because he does that, no matter at what loss and suffering to other creditors of the Government, he believes no one else can fill his place. Probably no man with a soul would attempt to do so.

Hanging is too good for a fifteen-cent chromo.—Stanford Advocate.

A promising young man is chary of his promises.—Philadelphia Record.

The New Orleans Times says: 'Perseverance is the cheapest luxury of the poor.'

Beware of dried apples; they live not wisely, but to swell.—Philadelphia Carondelet-Herald.

'Tears cannot restore my wife, therefore I weep,' was the inscription on a French tombstone.

'My lord,' began a pompous young barrister, 'it is written in the book of nature—' 'On what page, sir—on what page?' interrupted the judge, with pen in hand.

An Irish orator at Ballinasloe being ordered to clear the court did so by this announcement: 'Now, then, all ye blackguards that isn't lawyers must lave the oor.'

An ambitious young writer having asked 'What magazine will give me the highest position quickest?' was told: 'A powder magazine, if you contribute a fiery article.'

Norristown Herald: What newspaper does an editor remind you of? asks a subscriber in the country. He reminds me of the Christian at Work; but this is not the answer furnished with commendation.

Let the dogs bark; but confound them, they shan't do all the growling—not if the forty-odd millions of people in the United States know themselves.—Boston Transcript.

A prominent attorney residing in Syracuse, while fishing a day or two since pointed out to his companion a signboard, remarking, 'The fellow that put up that sign is a liar.' 'Why?' asked his companion, 'B—cause that sign reads, 'No fishing in this brook,' and I caught the best trout in my basket directly under that board.'—Rocheester Union.

A gentleman not extremely given to piety was dismayed by being asked to say grace at a strange table. To refuse and explain would be embarrassing; to comply would be equally so. He chose the latter, and started off briskly enough with 'Oh Lord, bless this table'—Just here, being unused to the business, he nearly broke down, but by a gigantic effort pulled through with 'World without end. Yours respectfully, amen.'

Protect the System from Malaria. It is possible to do this even in regions of country where malaria is most rife, and where the periodic fevers which it causes assume their most formidable type. The immense popularity of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is very largely attributable to the fact of its efficacy as a remedy for chills and fever, billious remittents, and as a preventive of the various forms of malarial disease. In those portions of the West and South, where complaints of this nature prevail, and in the Tropics, it is particularly esteemed for the protective influence which it exerts; and it has been very widely adopted, as a substitute for the dangerous and comparatively ineffective alkaloid, sulphate of quinine. Physicians have not been among the last to concede its merits, and the emphatic professional endorsements which it has received have added to the reputation it has obtained at home and abroad.

Miscellaneous. DISLIKING TO ENTER INTO A NEWSPAPER CONTROVERSY, P. L. BRIDGERS & CO., Have heretofore refrained from saying anything on the subject of the Duff Gordon Sherries, AND W. T. Walters & Co.'s Baker Whiskey, Both of which they have kept since opening, although some of their friends and competitors CLAIM to be Sole Agents. W. T. WALTERS & CO. Refuse to make any one their Agent, reserving the right to sell to whom they please.

By Business Men It is well known that such articles as the DUFF GORDON SHERRIES, MUMS' CHAMPAGNE, etc., have no Local Agents throughout the country, as they can always be bought much cheaper, in small quantities, from second hands, than the Agents can sell at, they being compelled to protect the trade of those who buy hundreds of packages at a time.

WE ARE SURPRISED That our friends, with their long Business Experience, should have brought forward such a weak point as this, but can now understand, paying package rates to the Agents, why they supposed, on account of the low price at which we were selling the goods, that ours was not the genuine article. Respectfully, and truly, P. L. BRIDGERS & CO.,

Wilcox, Gibbs & Cos., CELEBRATED FERTILIZER, THE MANIPULATED GUANO! The Best and Cheapest! COTTON for GUANO!

In offering to you the WILCOX, GIBBS & CO'S MANIPULATED GUANO for another season, we do so with the most perfect confidence that you will find it again the BEST AND CHEAPEST FERTILIZER in use. It is no new article, requiring experiments to establish its value, but has been used for years with unbounded success, gaining in favor from year to year, until it is now accepted as the STANDARD FERTILIZER. It has been our study, not to make it equal to others but SUPERIOR, and for our success in these efforts we refer you to the many of your neighbors who have used it, as well as to the thousands in the South Atlantic Cotton States. This Guano is so well known that it is unnecessary to publish any certificates but we annex a few testimonials in our circulars only from Planters who have made special tests of it alongside the Peruvian Guano, as showing how it compares with Peruvian Guano, which has heretofore been generally esteemed above all other Fertilizers. He will have only a moderate supply for sale and would request Planters to make their orders early. Our Agents are authorized to sell the MANIPULATED on very favorable terms payable in cotton next Fall. JAN 29-24 W. JAS. T. PETTEWAY, Agent.

NEW RICE BLOOD! LIFE IN A BOTTLE. The Most Valuable Medical Discovery Known to the World—More Use for Quinine, Calomel or Mineral Poisons—Life for the Blood, Strength for the Nerves and Health for All. AN OPEN LETTER TO THE PUBLIC. Believing that by cleaning the blood and building up the constitution was the only way of banishing disease and being free from weakness of the lungs, catarrh, rheumatism, broken down in constitution, after attending the most celebrated physicians and trying out my money for many kinds of medicines advertised without finding a permanent cure, I began doctoring myself, using medicine made from thirty pounds of herbs, and discovered a wonderful mixture of Root Bitters, the first bottle of which gave me life and vigor, and in time effected a permanent cure. I was free from catarrh, my lungs became strong and sound, being able to stand the most severe cold and exposure, and I have gained from thirty pounds in weight, having gained weight, I had made a wonderful discovery in medicine, I prepared a quantity of the Root Bitters, and was in the habit of giving them away to sick friends and neighbors. I found the medicine effected the most wonderful cure of all diseases caused from impure blood, such as Catarrh, Impure Blood, Bad Stomach, Weakness, Kidney Disease, Torpid Liver, &c. &c. The news of my discovery in this way spread from one person to another until I found myself called upon to supply patients with medicine for miles around. I was induced to establish a branch store for compounding and bottling the Root Bitters in large quantities, and I now devote all my time to this business.
