VIEW AND REVIEWS.

The Wheeling Democrat avers, as a fact unprecedented in the history of West Virginia, that not a dollar of delinquent taxes, fines, or licenses is due from any Sheriff for 1877.

Mr. Henry, inventor of the Martini-Henry rifle barrel and ammunition, is seeking in vain for adequate remuneration from the British War Office for the use of his patents by that Government.

Mr. Ottendorfer, the editor of the New York Staats Zeit ng, who was one of Mr. Tilden's most ardent champions in 1876, now declares that Mr. Tilden will not do. In an editorial he says that 'Mr. Tilden's reform glory has passed away long since.'

Mr. Arthur Sullivan will arrive in America next October. The opera which he with Mr. Gilbert is preparing for this country is said to treat military affairs in the same spirit as naval affairs are treated in 'H. M. S. Pinafore.'

The Princess Louise has been making the exciting trip down the slides, near Ottawa, on a raft. Through these slides, or ways, sections of the heavy rafts go down the rapids of the Ottawa River, the passengers usually get scared and wet but there is not much danger.

When an old backwoodsman was about to take his first ride in a Mississippi steamer he was asked whether he would take deck or cabin passage. 'Well,' said he, in a resigned sort of way, 'I've lived all my life in a cabin, and I guess cabin passage will be good enough for a rough chap like me.'

A perfect fossil specimen of the archæopteryx, the most ancient bird of which there is any knowledge extant, and which by some is considered the connecting link between birds and reptiles, was recently purchased by a Professor in Ghent, Switzerland, for $6,000. The first specimen discovered is in the British Museum but it is imperfect.

A man bought some of the Government certificates at the Cincinnati office, and missed one after retiring from the window. He could find it nowhere. 'Give me a dollar and I'll get it for you,' said a boy. The offer was accepted. The boy yanked another urchin out of the line, and choked him until he opened his mouth, from which the hidden certificate dropped out.

Hobart Pacha, the English Turk, is very fond of boasting of his success in running the blockade on the American coast during the civil war, and telling of the perils he encountered and the profitable cargoes of arms and ammunition that he carried into Southern ports, and how he ran out to sea between the Union blockaders, loaded down with cotton bales. 'Those were times,' he says, 'for making money.'

A Denver dispatch of Monday says at one o'clock this afternoon the Denver South Park and Pacific Railroad reached the Kenosha summit with the track, and at 3.30 p m the first passenger train reached the summit, 10,140 feet above the sea level, the highest point yet attained by any railroad in North America.

All the difficulties in the way are now overcome, and tracklaying will continue at the rate of a mile a day until the road reaches Leadville. Persons leaving Leadville in the morning now arrive in Denver before midnight the same day.

Peer, who jumped from the suspension bridge at Niagara Falls, a few days ago, wore a rubber life preserver, to lessen the depth of his penetration into the water; a sponge over his mouth and nostrils, to prevent the water from being forced into them; and thick cloth over his feet and legs, to protect them from concussion. A brass wire, attached to his shoulders, was reeled out as he fell, with just enough tension to keep him in an upright position. To strike the water flatwise would be certain death. Peer dropped 192 feet in four seconds. He was exceedingly nervous just before the feat, and it was thought his courage had given out.

Mr. Stanley arrived at Zanzibar in his little vessel, the Albion, on the 18th of March. The secret of the objects of his new African expedition had been well kept up to the time of the departure of the last mail, but it was generally supposed that his destination was the Congo, it having been remarked that he carries with him a steam launch and a large cutter, with a quantity of pierced iron plates, evidently intended to form a shield round the boats in case of attack; in short, a sort of preparation just suited for river navigation in a hostile region such as Mr. Stanley passed through on his memorable descent of the Congo. He has engaged a large number of his old followers at Zanzibar, and paid them advanced wages, promising them that they shall see Europe when their work is over.

HARRIET BEECHER STOWE; ON THE STAND.

While Senators Windom, of Minnesota, Blaine, of Maine, and other shining lights of the revolution party at the North are filling the Congressional record with their lying sensational sectional barbauges about the treatment of the negro by the Southern whites, it would be well for them to take a glance at the past history of their own inimitable Down-east New England States where so much sympathy, on paper, is expressed for the African race while but seldom anything more tangible than words to ameliorate the sufferings of this unfortunate race of people is ever forthcoming. It is a little singular circumstance that while the bitter partisans of the class above mentioned are vilifying the South and the Southern people, alleging as the cause of the exodus to Kansas from the Southern States of so many of the colored population, their ill treatment by the Southern white people, that Mrs. Harriet Beecher Stowe, a woman of intellectual ability and Northern birth, produces in the June number of the North American Review the following scrap of history in regard to the treatment of the colored race by these very same howling New Englanders, which transpired no longer ago than 1832, in the little town of Canterbury, in the Wooden Nutmeg State of Connecticut. Says Mrs. Stowe:

'Miss Pudence Crandall undertook to open a private boarding school for young colored girls in Canterbury, Conn. The enterprise was denounced in advance by the people of this place at a public meeting. When the term opened with fifteen or twenty young girls from Philadelphia, Boston, New York and Providence, store-keepers, butchers, milkmen, and farmers with one consent, refused to sell provisions to the school, and supplies had to be brought from expensive distances. The scholars were insulted in the streets; the door steps and doors were besmeared with filth and the well filled with the same; the village doctor refused to visit the sick pupils; and the trustees of the church forbade them to set foot in the building. The house was assailed by a mob with clubs and iron bars; they broke the glass of the windows and terrified the inmates. Finally, the State Legislature passed an act making this school an illegal enterprise, and under this act Miss Crandall was imprisoned in the county jail.'

Now we do not endorse the author of Uncle Tom's Cabin and the woman who would rake up the ashes of the past for the sake of a little notoriety, to scatter filth of such a character as she threw upon the dead poet's grave, but we presume the North American Review, a standard literary monthly which stands in the front rank of the current literature of this country, would hardly have published the communication unless there was at least some shadow of truth in the historical facts quoted. But let us make another quotation:

Now, when a new York merchant got a letter from his lawyer, apprising him that he had taken twenty thousand dollars worth of negroes as security for his debt, and returned answer to sell and remit, it was but natural that he should hereafter be very excitable under such teachings, and denounce them as incendiary and fanatical. The bitterness of Southern slave-holders was tempered by many considerations of kindness for servants born in their houses, or upon their estates; but the Northern slave holder traded in men and women whom he never saw, and of whose separations, tears and miseries he determined never to hear.'

And all of this comes from a woman who has been a life long enemy of the South and who might possibly be classed among the "strong minded women of the North;" one who has in her literary character, forgotten the sex to which she belongs and assumes a sort of masculine manner in discussing political questions and other current topics of the day; who has been in perfect accord with Wm Lloyd Garrison, Joshua R. Giddings and other extremists of the North in their undying hatred to our section and people. And yet, after the lapse of time and a residence of a few years among the very people whom she has defamed so often, she now comes forward with the publication of her historical facts which in all probability were in her possession at the very time when she wrote her most famous work "Uncle Tom's Cabin." Time works wondrous changes, and makes all things even at last. Mr. Blaine and his coadjutors might look into the past history of their own Northern States and learn some lessons for their future benefit.

But we have come to the conclusion that they have about spent themselves and exhausted their subject of sectionalism and bloody shirt theories at last. We have an abiding faith in the returning good sense of the American people. We believe that they can be humbugged for a season, but we believe further that no one man or set of men can stick his finger in their optics and keep it sticking there for more than a dozen years at longest. There is certainly bound to be a revolution in this country, but not such a one as the stalwarts of the North predict. It will be a revolution of sentiment among the Northern people, the voting masses who will retire into the shades of private life, in due course of time, the Congress, Blaines, and other stirrers-up of strife and turmoil in this country. They will all follow little "Yewgeen" Hale and be put upon the shelf where little Schuyler Colfax and the other political sanctimonious hypocrites of his creed are being year by year gathered in by the great political sexton of the Democratic party and stowed away beyond the hope of a correction for all time to come.

THE BUSINESS OUTLOOK.

By all accounts, says the Baltimore Sun, business has made a great improvement in the past few weeks, and this not alone or chiefly in speculative lines. The exchanges last week were surprisingly large, being in fact 50 per cent greater than during the corresponding week of last year. Exclusive of stock speculations the increase in legitimate business exchanges is calculated at 35 per cent., and the volume of business in the first half of May has been larger than in any year since 1873. In fact, to use the political catchword of the day, things are "booming."

NEW YORK'S TRAMP LAW.

The tramp law, which has now passed both Houses of the New York Legislature, imposes not less than a year's imprisonment on all transient persons who rove about from place to place. The act is so drawn up as to put the burden of proof on the accused person, and under it any stroller can be required to show that he is not a tramp. Trespass, kindling a fire on the highway or any premises without consent, carrying firearms, or threatening to do any injury to any one, are made punishable by this law with two years' imprisonment in case of tramps, while any resident of a town where an offense is committed is empowered to make arrests.

THE ORIENT.

The situation in India does not improve. Anxiety has existed for a long time because of drought in the Punjab, Oude and the Northwest provinces; and although rain has fallen, uneasiness has not been completely allayed. Of late serious apprehensions have been excited regarding the crops in the Lower Provinces, and in a portion of the Eastern Decan, not yet recovered from the late famine, excessive and unseasonable rains first and a plague of rats next, have destroyed the local harvests. Under these circumstances there is need for the most rigorous economy. Orders have been issued cutting down expenditure on public works, and forbidding the undertaking even of works already authorized, without special instructions.

ILLINOIS CONFEDERATES.

In connection with the recent dispute in Washington, as to whether General Logan (now Senator from Illinois), was ever engaged in recruiting for the Confederate service, the following may be of interest. It is taken from a very interesting article called "Vicksburg During the Siege," written by Edward S. Gregory—himself one of the Vicksburg garrison surrendered by Gen. Pemberton—which was first printed in the Philadelphia Times. In connection with other articles of like character, it was afterwards published in book form, under the title of "Annals of the War."

It seems that at the time of the surrender of Vicksburg, Gen. Logan held high rank in the Federal army. It is also equally evident that a short time previous here had been Illinois troops in the Confederate army, though by whom recruited does not appear. Can Gen. Logan enlighten us? Mr. Gregory says:

To Logan's division was assigned the duty of taking possession of the captured town. [Vicksburg.] Logan himself stood on the east portico of the court house and looked with swelling pride and profound gratification on the scene so picturesque and historic. By the by, the fact has never been published, but it is no less true, that a company of Illinois soldiers, on the Southern side, once constituted a part of the Vicksburg garrison, though it went to pieces long before the siege. Some of their unassigned officers—I well recollect one named Parker—may still have been there.

The long talked of plan of laying telegraph wires under ground is soon to be put to the practical test. In New York the wires are to be laid all over, or under, the east side of the city and up as far as Harlem River. Telegraph, telephone, stock-reporting and other wires will be all put down. They are wound in cloth and carried through ramifying distributors that branch all over the city. The scheme was first brought up during the efforts to "bear" Western Union, and the cry to have the wires down was urged as likely to throw heavy expense on the company. Now that the stock is up higher than some men ever expected to see it the thing is undertaken voluntarily.

American Wines.

But few persons are aware of the great amount of grapes raised in New Jersey. Alfred Speer is known to be the largest wine grower east of the Rocky Mountains. His Port Grape Wine is the best, and is considered by physicians and chemists as the best wine to be procured. It is ordered to London and Paris, where it is becoming very popular among wealthy families. For sale by J. C. Munds, P. L. Bridgers & Co and Green & Planner. Apr. 1-2w

Have heretofore refrained from saying anything on the subject of the

Duff Gordon Sherries, AND W. T. Walters & Co's Baker Whiskey,

Both of which they have kept since opening, although some of their friends and competitors CLAIM to be Sole Agents.

W. T. WALTERS & CO. Refuse to make any one their Agent, reserving the right to sell to whom they please.

By Business Men

It is well known that such articles as the DUFF GORDON SHERRIES, MUM'S CHAMPAGNE, etc., have no Local Agents throughout the country, as they can always be bought much cheaper, in small quantities, from second hands, than the Agents can sell at, they being compelled to protect the trade of those who buy hundreds of packages at a time.

WE ARE SURPRISED

That our friends, with their long Business Experience, should have brought forward such a weak point as this, but can now understand, paying package rates to the Agents, why they supposed, on account of the low price at which we were selling the goods, that ours was not the genuine article. Respectfully, and truly,

COTTON for GUANO!

In offering to you the WILCOX, GIBBS & CO'S MANIPULATED GUANO for another season, we do so with the most perfect confidence that you will find it the BEST AND CHEAPEST FERTILIZER in use.

It is no new article, requiring experiments to establish its value, but has been used for years with unbounded success, gaining in favor from year to year, until it is now accepted as the STANDARD FERTILIZER.

It has been our study, not to make it EQUAL to others but SUPERIOR, and for our success in these efforts we refer you to the many of our neighbors who have used it, as well as to the thousands in the South Atlantic Cotton States.

This Guano is so well known that it is unnecessary to publish any certificates but we annex a few testimonials in our circulars only from Planters who have made special tests of it alongside the Peruvian Guano, as showing how it compares with Peruvian Guano, which has heretofore been generally esteemed above all other Fertilizers.

They will only have a moderate supply for sale and would request Planters to make their orders early.

Our Agents are authorized to sell the MANIPULATED on very favorable terms payable in cotton next Fall.

LIFE IN A BOTTLE.

The Most Valuable Medical Discovery ever known for the World—No More Use for Quinine, Calomel or Mineral Poisons—Life for the Blood, Strength for the Nerves, and Health for All.

AN OPEN LETTER TO THE PUBLIC.

Believing that by cleansing the blood and building up the constitution was the only way of banishing disease and being freed from weakness of the lungs, catarrh, very much broken down in constitution, &c., and after trying the best physicians and paying out my money for many kinds of medicines advertised without finding a permanent cure, I began doctoring myself, using medicines made from roots and herbs. I fortunately discovered a wonderful bitter or Blood-Cleaner, the first bottle of which gave me new life and vigor, and in time effected a permanent cure. I was free from catarrh, my lungs became strong and sound, being able to stand the most severe cold and exposure, and have gained over thirty pounds in weight. Feeling confident that I had made a wonderful discovery in medicine, I prepared a quantity of the Root Bitters, and was in the habit of giving them to my sick friends and neighbors. I found that so many ever died of the most wonderful cures of all diseases caused from humors or scrofula in the blood, impure blood, Bad Stomach, Weakness, Kidney Disease, Torpid Liver, &c., &c. The news of my discovery in this way spread from one person to another until I found myself called upon to supply patients with medicine far and wide, and I was induced to establish a laboratory for compounding and bottling the Root Bitters in large quantities, and I now devote all my time to this business.

I was at first backward in presenting myself or disclosing my way to the public, not being a patent medicine man and with small capital, but I am getting braver every day. Since I first advertised this medicine, I have been crowded with orders from druggists and country dealers, and the hundreds of letters I have received from persons cured, prove that the Root Bitters is doing more good in so short a time and with such success as the Root Bitters. In fact, I am convinced that they will soon take the lead of all other medicines in use. See my hundred ready-distributed right here at 32 Market Street, Cleveland, Ohio, where all who have already sold over one thousand bottles.

Root Bitters are strictly a medical preparation, such as was used in the good old days of our forefathers, when people were cured by some simple root or plant, and when calomel and other poisons of the mineral kingdom were unknown.

They act strongly on the liver and kidneys, keep the bowels regular and build up the nervous system. They penetrate every part of the body, searching out every lurking humor and disease from the head to the feet, cleansing and strengthening the foundation of life, hence they remove every impurity by purification and newness of blood.

No matter what your ailings or symptoms are, what the disease or ailment is, use the Root Bitters. Don't wait until you are very bad, or until you feel bad or miserable, use the Root Bitters at once. It may save your life. Thousands of persons in all parts of the country are already using Root Bitters. They have saved many lives of a miserable old chronic case of Catarrh, Rheumatism, Dyspepsia, and other ailments where all other treatments had failed. You troubled with sick headache, constipation, dizziness, weakness, bad taste in the mouth, nervousness, and broken down in constitution, you will be cured if you take Root Bitters.
