The C. F. M. A.

The next session of the Military Academy begins October 1st, under the management of Capt. Washington Catlett as Principal. Capt. Catlett is well known to our people. He has been connected with the Academy from the date of its revival by Major Burgess and has given ample evidence of his ability to control as well as to teach the pupils of that institution. The rooms have been newly fitted up and the school will open next October with a thorough equipment and a full corps of competent teachers.

New Lodge K. of H.
 A lodge of Knights of Honor, with thirty three charter members, was organized in Rockingham, Richmond co., a few days ago. Our informant states that the membership is composed of the best material of the town and that persons who were restricted of account on age from being beneficiary members have sent in their applications as honorary members. The lodge numbers forty beneficiary and honorary members. New lodges are being established in many portions of the State and in consequence thereof the membership of the order is being rapidly increased.

Why Letters are Detained.
 Our attention has been called to an article in the New York Sun explaining why letters are so frequently delayed in stead of going directly to the address. It is because the writers do not place the names of States in the address. It should be borne in mind that there are in the United States 7 Philadelphia's, and of Brooklyn's, 18; of Williamsburg's, 20; Baltimore's, 6; Boston's, 10; Buffalo's, 15; Burlington's, 17; Charleston's, 17; Chicago's, 4; Cincinnati's, 7; Cleveland's, 10; Dayton's, 25; Detroit's, 15; Lowell's, 15; Milwaukee's, 3; Nashville's, 14; Omahas, 5; Pittsburgh's, 8; Portland's, 14; Richmond's, 22; Springfield's, 25; St. Joseph's, 15; St. Paul's, 12; Toledo's, 7; Washington's, 30; Wilmington's, 18, and 3 called Memphis and 4 called St. Louis. When these facts are considered it will be seen how necessary it always is to include the name of a State in the direction of a letter, a newspaper or a package.

The Other Race—Bets Offered.
 There was a little race on the river yesterday which was "not down on the bills" but which proved none the less interesting because of its being impromptu. The steam tug Nyce challenged the Passport for a race from the Dram Tree to the Market Dock. The Nyce started ahead of the Passport but the gap was soon closed and the Passport glided by the challenger as gracefully as a duck. The Nyce tried to get into the Passport's snout but Captain Harper threw her stern around and backed water up against the little tug.

During the short race there was evinced considerable interest on both boats. The venerable agent of the Passport stepped down from his pinnacle of decorum, planted his feet on the horse pipes, waived the rim of his hat off and wore out two pocket handkerchiefs telling the Nyce good bye. Capt. Harper was attending to business and chucking inwardly over the "soft thing." Frank Wilkerson, the Mate, had the crew sweeping the decks off to make the steamer lighter, and is willing to bet twelve months wages and his official position on the boat that they could beat the Nyce one mile and a half in a race from the Dram Tree to the Market dock. Engineer Ellenhaust was serene and placed his thumb on his nasal organ, wiggled his fingers at the engineer of the Nyce and pronounced the parting words, ta, ta, Gibbs, the cook, fired up the galley stove and in his contortious got his head rammed in a pot which was on the floor, while his legs described semi-circles on the wall. Frank Bryant, the silent-man-on-the-quarter-deck, was supposed to have fallen overboard, but was finally discovered dancing the fisher's horn pipe on the rudder head, and helping the steamer along with a canoe paddle. After all of the cook's excitement in firing up the galley stove with flour, coffee and potatoes and placing wood and coal in the pots, the steam gauge of the Passport registered only twenty eight pounds. Her victory was owing greatly to the decks being swept off and the work done by the canoe paddle in the hands of the silent-man-on-the-quarter-deck, who had changed his base for the occasion.

Some of the imported dresses are entirely without flounces or trimmings.

Repository and Reading Rooms.

Capt. W. J. Potter, Missionary Colporteur for the coast of North Carolina and Bahama Islands, has established a reading room and repository in Smithville, where newspapers and religious works will be accessible to those who wish to use them. Capt. Potter will start out on his work in a few days. See advertisement in another column.

A Perilous Leap.
 A fire setter dog, which had been overlooked and locked-up in the third story of the Evans block, on Princess street, probably at the meeting of the Red Men last evening, became hungry and impatient to-day and deliberately jumped from the window to the pavement below, a distance of some thirty feet. He was not killed but one of his shoulders was badly fractured. Five minutes after he took the leap, his owner came down with the key of the room to look for him.

The Lecture To-Night.
 An hour of rare intellectual enjoyment is offered in the lecture which is to be delivered this evening by Gen. Colston on "Modern Egypt," a subject which there is no man West of the Atlantic who is more capable of handling than is he. During his term of service in the Khedive's army, Gen. Colston embraced the many opportunities presented to inform himself fully as to the manners and customs of the people of that country and the view which he was enabled to sketch will be handsomely illustrated through the stereopticon. We bespeak for him a large and appreciative audience.

A Very Narrow Escape.
 We have learned of a very narrow escape from a terrible accident by Gen. R. E. Colston yesterday. He was in the Opera House at the time, engaged in generating gas which is to perform a part of the illustration of his lecture, when the retort exploded with fearful force, driving a piece of the copper into the woodwork of the stage and igniting it, and inflicting some painful injuries on Gen. Colston's person. He was in his shirt sleeves at the time and his clothing was set on fire but, fortunately, he had a bucket of water near at hand and at once put out the fire. Gen. Colston had just left the retort when the explosion occurred, otherwise he might have been knocked down and rendered senseless and, as he was the only person in the building, a serious disaster might have resulted. As it is, all is well. It was a truly Providential escape.

Moonlight Excursion and Concert.
 By reference to our advertising columns it will be seen that the Cornet Concert Club propose on Monday evening next to give a moonlight concert and excursion to Fort Fisher on the steam yacht Passport. The Italian Band will furnish music for dancing and during the evening the fine male quartette will render some of their choicest pieces. Sufficient time will be allowed at Fort Fisher for promenades on the beach and surf bathing, and the committee have concluded to furnish refreshments to those who want them. Everything which will be conducive to the pleasure and comfort of the excursionists will be done, both by the committee and Capt. Harper, the justly popular commander of the Passport.

Criminal Court.
 The majority of the time of the court was taken up this morning with the trial of Glasgow Hill, upon the charge of burglary.
 The prisoner was ably represented by Messrs. E. S. Martin and T. W. Strange, who were the counsel appointed by the court to conduct the defense. Mr. Solicitor Moore conducted the prosecution in behalf of the State. After the conclusion of the argument by the counsel, His Honor Judge Meares delivered the charge in his usual light style and presented the law bearing upon the case in the most comprehensive manner to the jury. The jury then retired and after agreeing among themselves returned with a verdict of larceny. Judge Meares passed sentence upon the prisoner of ten years, at hard labor, in the State penitentiary.
 Judgment was taken in a number of ex parte cases, after which the court adjourned between 1 and 2 o'clock until 10 o'clock to-morrow morning.

Two colored militia companies from Fayetteville, forming a part of the Fifth Battalion, N. C. S. G., arrived here last night on the steamer A. P. Hurt, and take part in the exercise this afternoon.

Sudden Death at the Purcell House

The inmates of the Purcell House were much shocked this morning on learning of the sudden demise of Monkey Walker. She has been an inmate of the Purcell House for the last eleven years, was always faithful and trusty, was widely known and highly esteemed, and naturally leaves behind a host of sorrowful friends.
 She was the mother of quite a number of children, but most of them are off in different portions of the country. Two of the younger ones, however, were with her in her last moments, and soothed and comforted her. Requiescat in pace. Although a dog, she was, as H. C. says "high toned and respectable."

The Interest Divided.
 Two little colored boys, J. J. Wilson and Mike Peden by name, got into an altercation down on the wharf yesterday during the progress of the boat race and just after the fleet had rounded the buoy the first time, which for a time divided the interest of the large crowd assembled on the wharf, about one half of which the part composed of small boys, was divided between the contest between the boats on the river and that between the two little pugilists on shore. The police, however, arrested the belligerents and took them to the Guard House. This morning Wilson was discharged, but Mike Peden, a notorious little scoundrel, was held and will remain in the cell a few days longer to feast upon bread and water.

As has been stated by us already, the Sunday School of the First Presbyterian church will have an excursion to-morrow to Lake Waccamaw. Ample arrangements have been made to assure a pleasant day to all who may go. The cars will leave Union Depot at 8 30 A. M., and return by 7 o'clock.

The Passport on her excursion down the river to-morrow will stop near the old site of Fort Fisher and allow those who wish to disembark to throw a cork and line for a few sheep head and in the afternoon will return and take all the sheep-head on board again.

The family excursion given at the Hamme place by the Lutheran Sunday School to-day, was well attended, judging by the number who have gone up from the city. They are all expected to return here by sunset.

Mr. R. T. Henderson, of Pender county, has located in the city as an inspector of naval stores and will give prompt and close attention to all business entrusted to his care.
 Don't forget the Family Excursion to be given on the Passport to-morrow, by Prof. Agostini.

The stores on Market and Front streets will close their doors, commencing on Monday next, at 7 o'clock.
 Hon. D. L. Russell, M. C. from this district, is in the city on a short visit.
