Trust not a horse's heel nor a tooth, neither a man who says he'll pay you

But one trifling case for the Mayor's consideration this morning, which was dismissed.

A boy the other day with his elbows out was asked the cause and replied: "I laughed in my sleeves till I burst them."

Eve was the first and we reckon the only woman who did not gather up her dress in both hands and yell at the sight of a snake.

Dr. E. Porter, of Pender county, was on our streets to-day working in the interest of the projected Burgaw and Onslow Railroad.

Refreshing and needed showers fell at an early hour this morning and vegetation smiles gladly in thankful appreciation of the healthful blessing.

The young man up town who wrote and asked his girl to accept a "bucket" of flowers, became a little pale when she said she wouldn't wear them.

There is no chance for idle hours among the farmers in the country, as they are all putting in their best "licks" to kill the grass and give the corn a chance.

When asked how the ladies were dressed at a fashionable party the other evening a modest youth replied:
"About as much as an oyster on the half shell."

Baby shows are the fashion now, but as long as mothers continue to nurse their little ones with laudanum or other opiates, they cannot expect their Babies to look bright. If your Baby needs medicine give a good and harmless one such as Dr. Bull's Baby Syrup.

Indications.
WAR DEPARTMENT,
Office of the Chief Signal Officer,
Washington D. C. June 4, 1879.

For the South Atlantic and East Gulf States slowly rising barometer, cool northerly winds gradually shifting to warmer westerly and southerly, and generally clear weather probably preceded by light rains along the South Atlantic coast.

Result of the Works at the Mouth of the River.

The latest report of the soundings made by the pilots in Bald Head Channel represent 10 feet 9 inches of water at extreme low tide, which is an increase of 6 inches since last report, made on the 1st of May.

The ordinary rise of the tide is 4 feet 6 inches, but Spring tides which occur on the change of the moon, rise 6 feet, making the depth of water a vessel can now calculate upon at 15 to 16½ feet—according to the tides.

Centennial.

On the 12th day of February, 1779—an act of the Legislature of North Carolina was ratified making the counties of Warren and Franklin from the then county of Bute. In honor and commemoration of that event the people of Franklin county have determined to celebrate its centennial anniversary, and have selected the 4th day of next July as the day upon which it will be celebrated. The citizens of the county are making endeavors to have the day enjoyed in such a manner as to be remembered by those who participate in the festivities. The celebration will be held at Louisburg, which is the county seat of Franklin county. We tender to the management our best wishes for the success of the enterprise, and also our thanks for a cordial invitation to be present.

"Among the Breakers."

The Thalian Amateurs of this city will give another of their popular and pleasing entertainments at the Tileston Upper Room on Friday evening, the 13th inst.
The drama which they will present upon that occasion, is entitled "Among the Breakers," and like the others presented by them, it is both moral in character and effective in design. We bespeak for our young friends a good house, as they deserve well of our citizens.

Excursionists from Shelby

A party of seventy-five or eighty of the business men of Shelby and vicinity, came to this city this morning on the Carolina Central train, and to-day they have made an excursion on the Passport to the fortifications near the mouth of the river. They will probably visit Smithville and other places of interest on the Cape Fear before they return. Quite a large party of Wil-mingtonians also went down this morning, giving our genial friend, Capt. Harper, a crowded boat load of passengers to look out for.

The Temple of Israel.

The society held its annual meeting for the election of officers for the ensuing year at the vestry last night. The following officers were elected:

President—S. Bear.
Vice President—A. Weill.
Treasurer—H. Brunhild.
Secretary—J. I. Macks.
Trustees—F. Rheinstein, M. M. Katz,
S. H. Fishblate, S. Hanstein and Wm.
Goodman.

A. Weill, Esq., was elected as a delegate to represent the congregation at the General Convention of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations, which is to be held in New York in July next.

Remember the New Law.

It is well to remember that the act of the last Legislature prohibiting the carrying of concealed weapons went into effect on the 1st day of June and it is made the duty of Sheriffs, Constables, City Officers and all other State Officers to enforce the same, and remember further, that razors carried about the person are considered concealed weapons in the eyes of the law. In regard to this last favorite weapon of some of the colored population of this city, we are happy to testify that the Mayor has already dealt rigorously with those who have been brought before him with those articles of warfare found upon them, and we feel assured that he will continue to do so in the future.

Remembering the Fallen Heroes.

It cannot be otherwise than gratifying to the friends and relatives of some of our fallen heroes, to know that although the dust of their loved ones, who died in the cause of the South, is in many instances, mingling with its mother earth in a distant land, among strangers, that there are still some to be found among the living near that far-off spot, who remember with patriotic devotion the deeds of valor performed in their country's cause, by the now quiet sleepers in Greenwood and other cemeteries, at the North, while living, and although the extract given below only mentions one instance, we know that there are other Southern hearts and hands scattered through the North who at this season, offer the same testimonials of appreciation to the departed worth and valor of our fallen braves as are mentioned by H., the New York correspondent of the Raleigh Observer, in his letter of the 30th inst., from which we make the following extract:

I have just returned from a very pleasant trip, in which I was joined by Mr.
Cameron, Col. Peter Mallett and his little nephew, and Mrs. Thomas, of Wilmington.
Our first object was Greenwood and Gen.
Whiting's grave, which we found after a long search, as usual. In addition to my own contributor, Mrs. Thomas had brought a beautiful bouquet. We found the grave entirely concealed by most luxuriant shrubbery, very much grown during the past twelve months, and rich with thousands of blossoms. The flower pot that I had placed there last year was where I left it, the plant killed by the winter.
This time it was a luxuriant lily of the valley that I planted there, and this will stand the climate, and I am told will spread over the whole lot, and bloom annually, as it is on the point of doing now.

Thermometrical.

From the United States Signal Office in this place we obtain the following report of the thermometer, as taken this morning at 7:31 o'clock:

Wilmington Gardens.

Our German fellow-citizens give their second picnic for the season, at this favorite resort to-night, the 4th inst., commencing at 5 o'clock. The arrangements are all perfected for a pleasant time, and undoubtedly a large attendance will be present to enjoy the occasion.
Refreshments will be furnished to those who may desire at reasonable rates.

The Sound and Turtle Eggs.

A party of young men from this city propose taking a moonlight ride to the Sound to-night, and as the full moon in June is the time for turtle eggs to be found in abundance on the banks, we suppose the feasting will be principally upon those delicious eggs, unless they should perchance be of the species known as the Mediterranean turtle, which, if our memory serves us right, Goldsmith in his Actimated Nature pronounces poisonous; i. e. the meat of the turtle, and we presume the eggs would be the same. So look out young men that you don't get poisoned by sucking eggs.

Pointed Questions

Ye local dropped in at the City Hall this morning to give in his poll tax to M. Cronly, Esq., the tax lister, and he politely referred us to a respectable looking young man seated at a desk with a pen stuck behind his ear, who asked us all sorts of impertinent questions, beginning with "how old are you?" Then desired us to state the value of our real estate as if we could tell how much the little interest we might have in a narrow spot out in Oakdale was worth. Then wanted to know the extent of our personal property, horses, buggies, carriages, hogs, pigs, ducks, chickens, etc., and the extent of our possessions in jewelry, diamonds, gold double-case hunting watches, silver watches, &c., as if we were a jewelry merchant. Then the number of shares of bank stocks, bonds, certificates of other stock, railroad and such like; why the man talked like he was stark crazy, and then coolly asked us how much salary we got or words to that effect; well, we were getting sorter warm about that time, but he wound up with only one more question which is all that saved the gentle youth from our righteous wrath and just indignation, but which if he had propounded it sooner, or first of all he would have seen the folly of asking any more questions. To wit: "what is your occupation?" and when we told him newspaper reporter, the youthful ink slinger with a very knowing smile looked as though he meant to say, "well I thought so."

Pass It Around.

The following from a West Virginia paper should be passed around by all of the State exchanges. There is a slight mistake, however, in the date of the battle recorded below, the difference being one month and three days. The battle of Cedar Creek was fought on the 19th day of October, 1864. North Carolina has good cause to remember that eventful day for she lost some of her best and bravest on that memorable occasion, and among the number slain was the gallant Major-General Stephen Decatur Ramsour, who received his death wound while bravely attempting with his single division to stay the tide of Sheridan's innumerable hosts. There was a battle fought on the 22d of September, 1864, but it is known as Fisher's Hill, and is two miles this side of the little town of Strasburg in the Shenandoah valley, while Cedar Creek is perhaps double the distance it is not the other side of Strasburg. But here is the article referred to:

A RELIC OF THE WAR.

We have in our possession a small pocket Testament which was found upon the person of a dead Confederate soldier, killed at Cedar Creek at the great battle fought there on the 22d day of September, 1864. It was taken from the inside breast pocket of the dead man's coat by Mr. Edward G. Eaglen, of Palatine, who was then a member of Company C, 14th Regiment of West Virginia Infantry, and handed us last Monday. On one fly leaf of the Testament is the following inscription:

Alpha C. Co., Company A, 21st Regiment, N. C., Hoke's Brigade, Early's Division.

Mr. Eaglen informed us that the soldier had been struck by a bullet, which entered his body about an inch above where the book rested, and the blood as it flowed from the death wound, ran down and colored its pages, and they yet plainly bear the dark stain of the life fluid that coursed through the veins of "somebody's darling." It may be that a mother, a sister, a wife or a sweetheart yet weeps for the unreturning brave, who sleeps where he fell—on the battle field of Cedar Creek.

The Crops

Our farmers in this and neighboring counties were never more busy than now cleaning out their crops and stirring the ground that contains the young corn, cotton, peanuts, rice and garden vegetables.
The late excessive rains and cool nights were unfavorable upon the crops, but now, that the weather is warmer and more dry, the efforts to eradicate the grass and weeds are very active and vigorous.
We see daily in our office some farmer from some surrounding county, and the general report is that the crops are now doing well and are promising. June is the month they all say for securing a good stand and for destroying the grass and stirring the land. A dry June seems to be the general hope and wish of our best farmers, and we trust they may all be gratified in having a dry and favorable June for farming operations.

Fashion Notes.

Lovely gauzes and grenadines are brocade in natural hued flowers.

The new polonaise, with simulated coats, have vests and full paniers.

Striped bourette and checked summer silks are trimmed with plain satin.

Lawn tennis, archery, croquet and gardening suits are conveniently shortskirted.

Linen and white vests are replacing those of the brocade and heavy silken fabrics.

Black stockings embroidered or clocked with purple white, are used for mourning.

Dotted or plain Brussels net may form mask veils, which are worn as deep as the chin.

Lace dresses for children and misses are to be worn over slips of colored silk, satin or cambric.

The parasol novelties in Pekin satin and Polka dots, have exquisitely carved handles in coral and pearl.

One of the ribbon novelties is in imitation of mother-of-pearl, shaded and tinted like iridescent glass.

In the new grenadines narrow Roman stripes illuminate dark colors, like garnet, black, blue and green.

Pique costumes for children may be trimmed with Smyrna and Russian laces, as well as Hamburg embroideries.

A pretty galloon has a border of thunb fringe and a soft, thick centre, formed with silk tape curled in tiny rings.

Cascade of lace, for fronts and sides of dresses may be adorned with loops and bows of ribbon and clusters of spring floriettes.

Breton lace is in great favor for trimming white and delicately-colored organdies and lawn dresses.

A SURE CURE for the blind, bleeding, called Dr. William's Indian Ointment. A cases of twenty-five and thirty years' standing.
