THE COTTON CROP.

The New Orleans Picayune says: Of late the Southern cotton markets have been broken down, and quotations have been reduced at a rapid rate. At this season of the year, especially with quarantine difficulties impeding or actually existing, holders are exposed to local inconveniences, and the business is of such a character as to scarcely afford a basis for quotations, the offerings being mainly of small lots and sales meagre. New crop cotton has made its appearance in Texas in larger proportions than was expected. This was a late crop, and with the pinch for supplies in Europe, the position depended upon the extent of receipts at Southern seaboard markets during the early months. European spinners would be in a very awkward predicament in October and November, were the American crop movement to the seaboard retarded for any cause whatever on account of the small stock they have left to work on. The disastrous drought which has occurred in Texas, forcing the plant to premature development and furnishing early cotton for the market, though greatly reducing the ultimate yield, which must tell seriously on the final crop output in a State producing so large a percentage of the aggregate growth of American cotton, has been taken advantage of by the bears to depress the market. Tuesday's receipts of 452 bales of new crop at Galveston set the New York sharps to calculating, and 25,000 bales was figured as the amount of new cotton that port would furnish during the month of August. The subsequent day's small receipts caused a rally, and yesterday's figures a relapse. As it is now a question of "bales," and the speculators fear the actual staple, though in imagination they handle so many millions of it, the prospect of early cotton has caused demoralization. However, we are far from thinking that planters are to be prejudiced by the turn the market has taken. If we start the year with average rates, the result will be more satisfactory to producers. Last year the bulk of our crop was sold at or below the cost of production. Speculators received the benefit of the rise a little later on, and manufacturers were helped over a very trying period. This season we are likely to have a different order of things. The world's surplus supply of cotton, accumulated during the palmy days of Indian and Brazilian production, has been swept away, and we shall start the new year with scanty stocks in Europe, and a demand sufficient to absorb a larger American crop than we are likely to furnish. From the planting season to the present time the American crop has fared worse than last season. The small increase in acreage has been far more than counterbalanced by the less favorable conditions, and as we enter upon the critical period, that of picking, the conditions are again changing for the worse in comparison with last year. The old proverb, 'A dry season for a good cotton crop,' like all other proverbs, is only half a truth. A dry spring is too apt to be followed by a wet autumn.

ANOTHER ROSE.

We all remember "His Honor, Judge Logan," of Rutherfordton, in this State, on of the Reconstruction Judges in North Carolina who was made to give place to a better man when once the Democrats came into their own again. Logan has fallen from his "high" estate, like unto the Louisiana rose we spoke of a day or two ago, of the same political complexion, with this difference, that while the one rests in jail, awaiting trial, the other was smart enough, or, perhaps, fortunate enough, to evade an infraction of the State law while violating more grossly the moral and unwritten law of the land. Which of the two is the bigger rascal we will leave our readers to determine, after reading the following, which we extract from the columns of the Charlotte Observer:

It is to be wondered what posterity will think of this generation of North Carolinians when it comes to read the next copy of the North Carolina Reports and finds in these the Supreme Court's opinion of the character of a man who lately occupied a seat upon the bench and ministered at the altars of justice. It is to be hoped for the sake of this generation, the posterity, reading this opinion, may be able to turn to a reliable history of these times and from it learn how it was possible that such a man as the defendant in Egerton vs. Logan should ever have gotten himself into the ermine.

Our readers would perhaps like to know something of the merits of this case. A lawyer has recited to us the facts and these are somewhat as follows: A number of years ago, while Mr G W Logan was a practicing lawyer in the village of Rutherfordton, before he was ever elevated to a judgeship, 'an ignorant and unlettered client,' one Egerton, went to him with certain notes to place in his hands for collection. The notes on their face called for about $2,250, though we do not profess to be perfectly accurate as to the figures. Logan looked at them and knew that the paper was good. Turning to his client, he expressed grave doubts as to his ability to collect a dollar on it, 'but,' he added, 'I will take a risk on it; I will give you $200 in cash for the notes, and then if I can collect on them will pay you what I collect, less the $200 and the fee for collection.' (Again, we are not entirely positive that $200 was the exact amount of purchase money paid for the notes, but this is in the immediate neighborhood.) The client, trusting fully to the integrity and judgment of his lawyer, acceded to his position, received his money and went his way. Mr. Logan collected the face value of the notes with interest. Egerton, bearing of this some time afterwards, applied to Logan and asked for his money. Logan declined to make any return whatever, saying that he had paid $200 for the notes in the beginning, and, having bought and paid for them they were his and he alone was entitled to what might be realized upon them.

Egerton, finding his counsel obdurate, entered suit against him for wrongfully withholding money which did not belong to him, and, the case having just been passed upon by the court of last resort, the dishonest lawyer is confirmed in the possession of his ill-gotten gains. Undoubtedly the court has construed the law properly in holding that Egerton is not entitled under the circumstances to recover, but to an honest man, a man of any sensibilities, a man who desires to live in repute among his neighbors and, nearing the grave becomes the more anxious to leave behind him the incense of a good name, a paltry $2,000 would be but a poor price for having it said of him by the highest judicial tribunal of his State, that, "while feeling itself bound so to decide by the letter of the law, it expresses its strong disapprobation of the great wrong and fraud perpetrated by him upon an ignorant and unlettered client."

The French are planning to open up Africa. The government is about to extend the railway system to Senegambia, and contemplates the laying of some 1,200 miles of railway, which will enable it to throw into the hands of the Frenchmen the bulk of the trade of immense populous regions in Northwestern Africa. M. Soleillet, the Sahara explorer, advocates a canal instead of a railway between the Niger and the Senegal. The bar, however, at the mouth of the Niger will have to be removed, for vessels have been detained three months by it, or a railway may be made between St. Louis and Dakar, which has an excellent port, the country to be traversed being likewise very productive.

Wicked for Clergymen.

"I believe it to be all wrong and even wicked for clergymen or other public men to be led into giving testimonials to quack doctors or vile stuffs called medicines, but when a really meritorious article is made of valuable remedies known to all, that all physicians use and trust in daily, we should freely commend it. I therefore cheerfully and heartily commend Hop Bitters for the good they have done me and my friends, firmly believing they have no equal for family use. I will not be without them."

LIFE IN A BOTTLE.

The Most Valuable Medical Discovery Ever Known to the World—No More Use for Quinine, Calomel or Mineral Poisons—Life for the Blood, Strength for the Nerves, and Health for All.

AN OPEN LETTER TO THE PUBLIC.

Believing that by cleansing the blood and building up the constitution, I can do the way of banishing disease and being troubled with weakness of the lungs, catarrh, very much broken down in constitution, &c, and after trying the best physicians and paying out my money for many kinds of medicines advertised without finding a permanent cure, I began doctoring myself, using medicines made from roots and herbs. I fortunately discovered a wonderful ditinger or Blood Cleanser, the first bottle of which gave me new life and vigor, and in time effected a permanent cure. I was free from catarrh, my lungs became strong and sound, being able to stand the most severe cold and exposure, and I have gained over thirty pounds in weight. Feeling confident that I had made a wonderful discovery in medicine, I prepared a quantity of the Koot Bitters, and was in the habit of giving them away to sick friends and neighbors. I found the medicine effected the most wonderful cures of all diseases caused from humors or scrofula in the blood. I had cured, Bad Stomach, Weakness, Kidney Disease, Torpid Liver, &c, &c. The news of my discovery in this way spread from one person to another until I found myself called upon to supply patients with medicine far and wide, and I was induced to establish a laboratory for compounding and bottling the Koot Bitters in large quantities, and I now devote all my time to this business.

I was at first backward in presenting either myself or discovery in this way to the public, not being a patent medicine man and with small capital, but I am getting bravely over that. Since I first advertised this medicine, I have been crowded by all the druggists and country dealers, and the hundreds of letters I have received from persons cured, prove the fact that no remedy ever did so much good in so short a time and had so much success as the Koot Bitters. In fact, I am convinced that they will soon take the lead of all other medicines in use. I sell one hundred retail druggists, right here in Wilmington, in Cleveland, now sell Koot Bitters, some of whom have already sold over one thousand bottles.

Koot Bitters are strictly a medical preparation, such as was used in the good old days of our forefathers, when people were cured of whatever simple root ailment they had, when calomel and other poisons of the mineral kingdom were unknown. They act strongly on the liver and kidneys, keep the bowels regular and build up the nervous system. They penetrate every part of the body, searching out every nerve, bone and tissue, and they purify, cleanse, and strengthen the fountain springs of life, hence they must reach all diseases by purification and nourishment. No matter what your feelings or symptoms are, what the disease or ailment is, use Koot Bitters. Don't wait until you are sick, but if you only feel bad or miserable, use the Bitters at once. It may blot out your disease. Thousands of persons in all parts of the country are already using Koot Bitters. They have saved many lives of consumptives who had been given up by friends and physicians to die, and have permanently cured many old chronic cases of Catarrh, Scrofula, Rheumatism, Dyspepsia, and all the diseases, where all other treatments had failed. When you are troubled with sick headache, constipation, dizziness, weakness, bad taste in the mouth, nervousness, and broken down in constitution? You will be cured if you take Koot Bitters. Have your humors and pimples on your face or skin? Nothing will give you such good health, strength, and beauty as Koot Bitters. I know that jealous physicians will cry humbug because my discovery cures so many of their patients, but I care not. It is now my desire and determination to place my Koot Bitters as fast as possible within the reach of all those suffering throughout the world. Sold by wholesale and retail druggists and country merchants, or sent by express on receipt of price, $1.00 per bottle, or six bottles $5.00. For certificates of wonderful cures, see my large circular around each bottle of medicine. Read and judge for yourself.

Ask your Druggist or merchant for FRAZIER'S KOOPT BITTER, the great Blood Cleanser, and take no substitute, because he makes a large profit. G. W. FRAZIER, Discoverer, 338 Superior St., Cleveland, O. For sale by J. C. Munds and T. M. Burbank march 26th eow-daw Druggists.
