Home From a Long Tram).

Messrs. John L. They express themselves as having had "a glorious time."

Their Business Quarters An addition in the rear to the building occupied by Messrs. Newbury & Chasten, n North Water street, has just been completed. It is 20 x 72 feet and gives a depth in all f nearly 150 teet to the store. This has been necessitated by the rapidly increasing business of the firm. As the river is now just in the rear of their store, the next improvements there must take an upward tendency and maybe it will be a three-story iron-front after all.

Two cases of drunkenness were brought before the Mayor this morning but the Mayor having just returned with pleasing recollectious of a delightful three weeks vacation around among the differ ent summer resorts at the North, could not find it in his heart to be too "hard on a poor case" as Rob the Grinder would say, so he released one upon promises of future good behavior while the other case was continued at the solicitation of detendant until Monday morning.

Attempt at Burglary.

This morning a thief effected an entrance into the residence of Capt. R. S. attempting to go into the parlor made a noise which attracted the attention of Mrs. R. who awoke her husband telling him some one was in the house. Capt. R got up and in his search found that the thief hat effected an entrance through a back window. The man got away without being seen but as he seemed to be only after money he did not trouble the household silver, which was in reach of him. He has a toot exactly eleven inches long and is thought to be a white man and the same one who robbed Capt. R. about four years ago.

Capt. Radcliffe was si ting at his desk last evening doing some writing, and no doubt the thief was peering through the window at him, and it being Friday nigh came to the conclusion that Capt. R. was making up his pay-roll for to-night Any time that the individual in question would like to take an inventory of stationery in Capt. Radcliffe's desk, if he will call during the day, he can do so, and will be assisted in his work as much as possible; but he need never look for money, as Capt. Radcliffe purchased an iron safe for the safe keeping of his money immediately after he was victimized, in 1875.

A letter received in this city from Mr. Dickson Munde, who is now at Saranga, conveys the gratifying intelligence that Mr. A. D. Brown, who as our readers know has been quite sick at that place, is now considered out of danger. There are a number of Wilmingtonians at Saratoga. Messrs. Dickson and Theus Munds, with their mother and aunt, are at the Adelphia, and Rev. Dr. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. E. Burruss, Dr. J. F. King and Mrs. King, and Mr. John Neilson are at Congress Hall. With the exception of Mr. Brown they are all well and are reported as enjoying themselves very much.

What Judge Ru sell Thinks. Hon. D. L. Russell, the Republican member of Congress from this district, who was in Asheville last week, was while there in the office of the Asheville Journal (Republican of course,) and while there was interviewed. He was candid enough to say that he did not believe that the Republicans could command a majority in this State and that it was useless to organize and put out a State ticket. He seemed to think that Black Republicanism was a dead and done for thing in North Carolina, sure enough. As regards the Presidential election Judge Russell, as a matter of course, considering the machinery in the hands of Radcliffe on Chestnut, between Fourth and his party, and the villiany which Fifth streets. He rummaged through the carried Hayes to where Tilden was desk drawer in the sitting room and in elected, thinks that the Republicans have no doubt of success next year. He has, to quote from the Journal, "but few preferences, and no definite opinion as to who would be the nominees in the race; thought just now that the chances of several prominent aspirants were about equal, but if their merits were pooled. would not be surprised if Blaine did no lead the ticket in point of popularity with his party."
