VIEWS AND REVIEWS.

Thomas Carlyle has expressed a wish to be buried as quietly as possible in the choir of the old Cathedral at Haddington, where he laid his wife twelve years ago. He is believed to be at death's door.

An effort has been made in Ohio to induce Gen. Ewing to modify his soft money views sufficiently to enable the German Democrats to vote for him, but it was not successful. He was willing to admit that he was no longer opposed to resumption, but that was all.

The plague of rats in the Deccan, Bombay, for the second season in succession is occasioning serious alarm. These animals overspread the country like locusts, destroy the crops almost as thoroughly, and are even more difficult to keep down. So grave had become the aspect of affairs that a "Rat Committee" was appointed to inquire into the best means of disposing of these creatures. They advised the people to turn out en masse and face the enemy. Rewards are to be offered for dead rats, and in fact, the invasion is to be treated as a matter to be dealt with vigorously by the whole community. In the mean time the question has arisen as to how the rats have multiplied.

Senator Easton, of Connecticut, does not accept General Grant's reply to the Chinese officials as conclusive evidence that he will not be in the field for a third term. Here is what he said the other day to an interviewer: "I do not attach very much importance to General Grant's reported assertions, for I do not regard the interview as much more than a formal talk between two diplomats, carried on in a complimentary vein and meaning little. In my best judgment, sir, General Grant is a candidate for the Presidency to-day. I haven't the slightest doubt of it, and he is merely playing his cards quietly and shrewdly. His modestly putting away the crown, as he is reported to do, merely indicates, if it indicates anything, that he is ready to put it on."

CASTE.

Boston, the "Athens of America," the "Hub of the Universe," has stepped to the front and begun in earnest the work of regulating the social position of the different trades and professions. In that city it is not now in order for the family of the wholesale merchant to associate with that of the retailer, and we presume that the same social schedule will soon be run in every department of life.

It is usual in the summer season for the merchants of Boston to rent cottages at Nahant Beach, where their families can have the benefit of the cool sea breezes, and the merchants can be in such close proximity to their counting rooms that they can pass the day in the city, and with a half-hour's ride, pass the remainder of the time with their families at the seashore. A couple of merchants from the "Hub," have rented each a cottage at Nahant the present season. The two are father and son, the father being a retail dealer, while the son is a wholesaler. The two families do not associate on account of the more exalted position of the son; although it is a well known fact that the father furnishes the money by which the son carries on his business.

DEATH OF JUDGE KERR.

Hon. John Kerr, Superior Court Judge of the Fifth District died at his residence in Reidsville, Rockingham county, on Friday morning the 5th inst. at 3 o'clock at the age of 68 years.

The health of this distinguished gentleman had for a long time been impaired, and while his friends still looked and hoped for his ultimate recovery his death created no surprise even among his friends, though it caused a pang of regret throughout the State, to all admirers of the sterling patriot and upright citizen.

From the Charlotte Observer of Saturday we clip the following interesting account of Judge Kerr's public career since his advent into political life.

His first appearance before the public as a candidate was in the decade beginning with 1840, when he was nominated for Congress on the Whig ticket. His competitor was Hon. Abram W. Venables, of Greenville. The canvass was in all respects one of the most memorable that ever took place in the State. Both were in the enjoyment of the fullness of their powers, and the campaign was conducted with great ability on both sides. It resulted in the election of Mr. Kerr, and it two years later he was re-elected without opposition.

In 1854 he was the Whig candidate for Governor, and after a brilliant canvass was defeated by Hon. David S. Reid, whose previous success as the free suffrage candidate for Governor rendered him especially formidable.

Two years later, when "Know Nothingism" was at its height, Mr. Kerr was again a candidate for Congress. He utterly repudiated, however, this tenet of his party, and inveighed against its iniquity on every stump of the district. Hon. Edwin G. Reade, of Person, late a member of the Supreme Court bench, espoused "Know Nothingism," then very popular in the State, and defeated Mr. Kerr. From this time forth the latter acted with the Democratic party, and was once or twice elected a member of the Legislature from Caswell.

During the war he was appointed judge of the Superior Court, to fill an unexpired term, and distinguished himself by his championship of the writ of habeas corpus.

After the war he was very pronounced in his political opinions, denouncing without stint the oppression of his fellow citizens by the Republican party. For this he was arrested during the Kirk-Holder war, cast into a foul jail and finally, with other prisoners, was released by Judge Brooks, of the United States District Court, at Salisbury. In his patriotic and manly bearing under these hard conditions, he exhibited his true worth, and established himself yet more firmly in the confidence and esteem of the people.

In 1874 Judge Kerr was nominated by the Democratic party of his (the fifth) district for the Superior Court bench, and was elected, defeating Hon. Thomas Ruffin, of Orange, who ran against him as an independent candidate. He has occupied that position from the time of his election up to the time of his death. Advancing years brought with it a train of infirmities. His health last spring was such as to preclude the possibility of his holding any of his courts, but he and his friends cherished the hope that he would yet regain his strength. These hopes, however, have been falsified, and yesterday morning he yielded up his life, lacking only two years of the allotted three score and ten.

Impetuous he may have been at times, but his zeal was always in behalf of what he believed to be the right, and there never lived, perhaps, a purer, loftier, manlier man. It can truly be said of Hon. John Kerr, if of any man, that the earth that bears him dead bears not alive so stout a gentleman.

HONEST REPUBLICANS.

In view of the super-human efforts being made by the Republicans of Maine to carry the State in the gubernatorial election which takes place to-day, it will be interesting to know in what estimation the average Maine politician was held in years past, by those whose position and opportunities for information afforded abundant means for arriving at a correct conclusion.

It seems that Senator Blaine, who is the leading and controlling spirit of the campaign, has been considerably exercised for fear that sundry barbers of Democratic money might be introduced into the State to help defeat his cherished plans, and aid to accomplish a Democratic triumph; but has been consoled by the reflection that the Democratic managers would steal the principal portion of it for their own personal gain, and that, consequently, it would prove but a small obstacle to a Republican success. Now, this may be Mr. Blaine's sincere opinion, but it really looks as though he had borrowed the opinion which Horace Greeley expressed concerning the Republican politicians of Maine, nearly twenty years ago, before the reality of the party had acquired its present notoriety, and used the same to bring contempt upon the Democracy of the State. The opinion of Mr. Greeley is given in the following letter:

"New York August 31, 1860. "FRIEND PIKE: I very cheerfully contribute $20 towards the Maine election fund providing you will see it honestly expended. I don't trust the average run of Maine politicians, who are thieves (even the priests) and beggarly (even to the leading editors). They are a poor lot and will swallow all the funds they can get hold of. HORACE GREELEY. "James S. Pike, Esq., Calais."

Mr. Greeley made many grievous errors in political action—in fact, it may be said that his entire life was a political error—but his knowledge of prominent public men cannot well be questioned, especially the prominent politicians of the North with whom he was thrown in almost daily contact. Being himself a New Englander, he knew the strong points in the character of New England people. Being one of the original Republicans, his position gave him splendid opportunities of determining the moral status of all the prominent politicians who were added to the fold. He thought in 1860 that the Maine Republicans were "thievish (even to the priests) and beggarly (even to the leading editors)." Subsequent events have not established for them a character any better than that given them by Mr. Greeley, and we might say, in the light of history, of the entire Republican party, what he said of Maine Republicans; "They are a poor lot and will swallow all the funds they can get hold of."

WASHINGTON LETTER.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept 5, 1879. New York Radicals seem to think that the earnest support of a portion of a party is better than the cordial support of the whole of it. This must have been their theory in nominating Hon. A. B. Cornell for Governor. Nothing is clearer than that, thousands of administration Republicans, knowing that Messrs. Hayes and Sherman dismissed Cornell from office for alleged cause, will vote that they are serving those gentlemen by preventing him from again obtaining office. I shall believe that the Administration and its friends will support Cornell when I see Secretaries Sherman and Schurz stumping New York in his interest. All that the Democrats now have to do is to nominate a fit man for Governor and they can carry the State as certainly as the sun rises on election morning.

A Cabinet meeting here just now would be composed of Secretary Sherman. The other members are away and Mr. Hayes starts to-day on his round of visits to the Northwestern Fairs.

A paper will be published in this city on and after the first of October next, in the interest of veterans of the Mexican War. Its publisher and editor will be A. M. Kenaday, Esq., Secretary of the Veterans' Association. The Grant organ, a daily evening paper, will appear during this month and disappear soon after.

Hou. A. V. Lynde, Chairman of the Butler Democratic State Committee of Massachusetts, addresses a communication to the Hon. Reuben Noble, Chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee, which was in effect a request to the latter to combine with them in the coming campaign in that State. Mr. Noble in his reply says: "Much as we desire the union of all Democrats against the common enemy we are compelled to decline according to your proposition." Judge Abbott in a recent interview, reiterates his well-known views in opposition to Gen. Butler, and says he does not believe the Democrats will alienate themselves from their party on the eve of a national election. It is plainly evident that the Massachusetts Democracy do not propose to turn their party over to the Butler organization. It is well settled that there will be three State tickets in the field, Democratic, Greenback and Republican, and the campaign promises to be more hotly contested, if possible, than last year, its near approach to the great Presidential battle of next year giving it additional interest. A writer recently set himself at work to get out a series of papers on "The Great Men of America, but after diligently reading them up in the journals of opposite political faiths he came to the conclusion that he had none at present, and never had more than one or two in all our history as a nation, and he could not find out just who they were.—Burlington Hawkeye.

When the batteries at Montreal were shelling the communists in Paris, M. Thiers frequented the spot, encouraging the sailors that manned them. As he was talking there one evening the thunder of a big gun fired just beside him made him jump. The commander apologized, and said, "This noise must annoy you." "Not at all," replied M. Thiers; "it's rather soothing compared with the Assembly debates."

A small boy with a big cent in his hand stood before a Michigan avenue grocery for a long time before making up his mind to enter. When asked what he desired, he inquired: "If a boy should come here and get trusted for a stick of gum, how much would it be?" "One cent," was the reply. "And if a boy should come here with the cash, how much would it be?" "Just the same." Then I guess I'll get trusted; quietly remarked the financier as he slipped the cent down into his pocket.—Detroit Free Press.

Yesterday little Alfonso kissed his betrothed. Immediately cannon were fired and bells rung, and to-day the Madrid journals will have full accounts of the happy affair. The part selected for the osculation was the forehead, and it is hoped that in the course of a week or so the infatuated youth will be generously allowed a salute on the mouth. Diplomats have full charge of the proceedings, and progress is necessarily very slow.—Buffalo Express.

YELLOW FEVER—BLACK VOMIT.

It is too soon to forget the ravages of this terrible disease, which will no doubt return in a more malignant and virulent form in the fall months of 1879.

MERRILL'S HEPATINE, a Remedy discovered in Southern Nubia and used with such wonderful results in South America where the most aggravated cases of fever are found, causes from one to two ounces of bile to be filtered or strained from the blood each time it passes through the Liver, as long as an excess of bile exists. By its wonderful action on the Liver and Stomach the HEPATINE not only prevents to a certainty any kind of Fever and Black Vomit, but also cures Headache, Constipation of the Bowels, Dyspepsia and all Malarial diseases.

No one need fear Yellow Fever who will expel the Malarial Poison and excess of bile from the blood by using MERRILL'S HEPATINE, which is sold by all Druggists in 25-cent and $1.00 bottles, or will be sent by express by the Proprietors, A. F. MERRILL & CO., Philadelphia, Pa.

Dr. Pemberton's Stillingia or Queen's Delight.

The reports of wonderful cures of Rheumatism, Scrofula, Salt Rheum, Syphilis, Cancer, Ulcers and Sores, that come from all parts of the country, are not only remarkable but so miraculous as to be doubted were it not for the abundance of proof.

Remarkable Cure of Scrofula. &c.

CASE OF COL. J. C. BRANSON. KINGSTON, Ga., Sept. 15, 1871

Gentle—For sixteen years I have been a great sufferer from Scrofula in its most distressing forms. I have been confined to my room and bed for fifteen years with scrofula ulcerations. The most approved remedies for such cases had been used, and the most eminent physicians consulted without any decided benefit. Thus prostrated, distressed, depending, I was advised by Dr. J. C. Branson, of Floyd county, Ga., to commence the use of your Compound Extract Stillingia. Language is insufficient to describe the relief I obtained from the use of the Stillingia as it is to convey an adequate idea of the intensity of my suffering before using your medicine; sufficient to say, I abandoned all other remedies and continued the use of your Extract of Stillingia, until I can say truly, "I am cured of all pain," of all disease, with nothing to obstruct the active pursuit of my profession. More than eight months have elapsed since this remarkable cure, without any return of the disease.

For the truth of the above statement, I refer to any gentleman in Bartow county, Ga., and to the members of the bar of Cherokee Circuit, who are acquainted with me. I shall ever remain, with the deepest gratitude, Your obedient servant, J. C. BRANSON, Atty at Law.

A MIRACLE.

WEST POINT, Ga., Sept. 16, 1870.

Gentle—My daughter was taken on the 25th day of June, 1863, with what was supposed to be Acute Rheumatism, and was treated for the same with no success. In her hour, following, pieces of bone began to work out of the right arm, and continued to appear till all the bone from the elbow to the shoulder joint came out. Many pieces of bone came out of the right foot and leg. The case was then pronounced one of White Swelling. After having been confined about six years to her bed, and the case considered hopeless, I was induced to try Dr. Pemberton's Compound Extract of Stillingia, and was so well satisfied with its effects that I have continued the use of it until the present.

My daughter was confined to her bed about six years before she sat up or even turned over without her pain. She now sits up all day, and seems most of her time—has walked across the room. Her general health is now good, and I believe she will, as her usual strength, walk well. I attribute her recovery, with the blessing of God, to the use of your invaluable medicine. With gratitude I am, yours truly, W. B. BLANTON.

WEST POINT, Ga., Sept. 16, 1870.

Gentle—The above certificate of Mr. W. B. Blanton we know and certify to as being true. The thing is so; hundreds of the most respected citizens will certify to it. As much reference can be given as may be required. Yours truly, CRAWFORD & WALKER, Druggists, HON. H. D. WILLIAMS.

AN OPEN LETTER TO THE PUBLIC

Believing that by cleansing the blood and building up the constitution was the only way with weakness, I have effected a permanent cure, much broken down in constitution, &c., after trying the best physicians and paying out my money for many kinds of medicines advertised without finding a permanent cure, I began doctoring myself, using medicines made from roots and herbs. I fortunately discovered a wonderful Bitters or Blood Cleanser, a first-class tonic, which gave me new life and vigor, and in time catarrh, my lungs became strong and sound, being able to stand the most severe cold and exposure, and I have gained over thirty pounds in weight. Feeling confident that I had made a wonderful discovery in medicine, I prepared a quantity of the Bitters, and myself called upon my giving them away to sick friends and neighbors. I found the medicine effected the most wonderful cures of all diseases caused from humors or scrofula in the blood, Impure Blood, Stomach, Weakness, Kidney Disease, Torpid Liver, &c., &c. The news of my discovery to another utility and myself called upon to supply patients with medicine, I was so wide, and I was induced to establish a laboratory for compounding and bottling the Bitters in large quantities, and I now do it all my time to this business.

They are strongly on the watch for a new small capital, but I am getting braver every day. Since I first advertised this medicine I have been crowded with orders from druggists and country dealers, and the hundreds of letters I have received from persons cured, prove the fact that my medicine is doing good in so short a time and so great a success as the Root Bitters. In fact, I am convinced that they will soon take the lead of all other medicines in use. Nearly one hundred retail druggists, right here at home in Cleveland, now sell Root Bitters, some of whom have already sold over one thousand bottles.

Root Bitters are strictly a medical preparation, such as was used in the good old days of our forefathers, when people were cured by some simple root or plant, and when calomel and other poisons of the mineral kingdom were unknown.
