VIEWS AND R VIEWS.

The sixth an ual session of the Locomotive Firemen's Association began at Chicago Tuesday. The society is a benevolent one and has fifteen thousand menbers.

A business is said to be carried on in England, France and Germany for the manufacture of fac-similes of United States postage stamps, which are sold to persons who are making collections of postage stamps.

The recent golden wedding of Charles Francis Adams, at Quincy, Mass., was the third held in the same house and family. President John Adams' was celebrated there in 1814, when he was 79, and President John Quincy Adams' in 1847, when he was the same age. Charles Francis Adams is 73.

General Butler, according to a Biston correspondent, will make his fight for Governor of Massachusetts on State issues alone. He will aim to avoid anything like antagonism to the Republicans on national questions, and will, it is said, wholly ignore the currency question and the Southern question.

The railroad drawbridge scene in Boucicault's new play at Booth's Theatre, according to the Herald's correspondent. is received with more applause than 'Booth's best acting in the house of his misfortunes was ever rewarded with,' and he makes this sugg stion: 'If machinery is so much more effective than men and women in BANK.

fairest and abiest of the independent | m r ets will follow. press with Republican proclivities, in speaking of the villainies connected with the affairs of the defunct Freedmen's Savings Bank, offers some pithy, truthful and comprehensive remarks, which we commend to the perusal of our readers.

The Nation says : "The Freedmen's Savings Bank became insolvent in 1874, and special machinery for winding it up was created in the same year, in the shape of a board of three commissioners, at a salary of $3,000 a year each. We commented on this machinery in 1875, calling attention to ing her material progr ss. the fact that no depositor or creditor the commissioners on their bond for the faithful performance of their duties; that they were not required not made accountable to anybody, and that their decisions were final. News now comes from Washington that the "winding up" is still going on, five years after the failure ; that the most shocking falsification of the books has been discovered, pages having been frequently torn out, and the index to the ledger destroyed;

"but, unfortunately," says the dis-patch, "the statute of limitation will prevent the prosecution of the persons responsible for this misman agement of the affairs of the bank.' This is exactly what we expected. The perpetrators of this immense fraud were the members of the Washington Ring, which grew up and flourished under the favor of the White House during General Grant's Administration, and the Freedmen's Savings Bank was simply one of several nefarious schemes. It is very discreditable to the Democrats that they should not have followed this matter up and thoroughly exposed it. Of the effect of it on the thrifty and intelligent portion of the negro population we need not speak. When a buil-dozer goes after a black man with a whip or a gun it fills him with bodily terror, but it does not shake his faith in the existence of weeping over his condition, offer to before somebody will invent a tragedian take care of his money for him, and the rogues is to-day bewailing the "outrages" at the South, and shouting for a "steady hand at the helm" in Washington.' The Nation seems to have forgotten that the Democrats in Congress made every effort possible to arrive at a clear understanding of the condition of the bank and to have its affairs speedily wound up, that the poor duped depositors might receive a moiety out of the general wreck and ruin. The Democrats in Congress did work earnestly and faithful y, in season and out of season, to accom. plish this result, but the strenuous opposition which they met at every step from a Republican majority and the clique who were reaping a golden harvest by sharing the ill-gotten spoils of the bank, made their every effort for good of no avail. It was only when the Congress became clearly Democratic that the rascalities connected with the affairs of the bank have been fully developed.

I have not the time to go into proofs, but leave the problem for you: intelligent readers to solve, but will say, while making it, I have freshly in my mind the revely scheming and stealing of carpet baggers. These the State will soon outgrow, but the Morehead 'North Carolina System,' or policy, has rested as an incibus on the whole State for many years, retard-

And now the euchanting phrase has was empowered under the law to sue been disinterred by designing parties whose interests are inimical to those of North Carolina, and held up to aspiring politicians who will use it as a to report to anybody ; that they were lever for their own elsvation, regardless of other results.

This wonderful announcement set me to thinking and investigating, and on referring to a railway guide I found the A & N C R R commenced at Morehead City and terminated at Goldsboro, a distance of ninety-four miles, and found it was the shortest outlet to the sea from Newbern, and no other point in the State worth men tioning.

Every school girl knows that the great bulk of the State of North Carolina lies west of the W & W R R, and no. one foot of it is naturally tributary to Morehead City, and not or e-hundred th part of that portion of the Sa'e east of the W & W R R would be tributary to Morehead O y even if it could read

On account of the order issued some time ago by Secretary Sherman, requiring that all persons sending national bank notes to the Treasury for redemption shall pay the express charges thereon, there has been such a great falling off in the receipt of these notes that a reduction in the force of the National Bank Redemption Divis ion has become necessary, and twenty-five employes have been discharged, including one teller and one assistant teller.

Clark Brown murdered his father and sister at Winchester, Oat., but there was little evidence against him. The Rev. Mr. Rowan visited him in jail, and told him that if he would confess he would be forgiven. Brown made a full disclosure of the crime. He now says that he understood the minister to promise him forgiveness at the hands of the law, to be followed by release, but he learns that a spiritual pardon only was meant, and he will probably be hanged on his own con fession.

The Nationals of Lawrence county, O. had a convention the other day, and were greatly bothered to find material for a platform. Resumption was an as sured fact; the crops were good; there was no questioning the fact of general and growing prosperity. At last the following declaration of principles was for = mulated: "Resolved, That we are in fawor of the immediate and unconditional repeal of the dog law." On this plate form they propose to make a heroic contest.

The New York Sun has interviewed a Southern statesman who says that Diaon, the Yezoo bulldozer, was killed for circulating the story that Mr. Barksdale's relations with his own sister were improper. The gentleman said: "Idon't think there was ha'f a dozen white persons in Yazoo, no matter to which party they belonged, that looked upon the killing of Dixon as a political murder. He was not a representative of the Republicans, but, on the contrary, had been one of their greatest persecutors. Since his death another man has been nominated by the Independents. The

POLITICAL STORMS ABROAD.

Troubles, it seems, never come singly upon nations nor individuals. The English government at present is almost overwhelmed with difficulties at home and wars abroad. The good Ship of State is encountering adverse winds now from every quarter, and the weather looks thick ahead, with no immediate prospect of a break in the clouds that are dark and lowering. If England succeeds in christianizing India and Africa, she will have to absorb the entire territory of each country in order to establish a revenue of sufficient proportions to meet the demands of the heavy obligations she has incurred to ac_ complish this purpose.

O e of the necessities for bu dia a town is a few square miles of dry land to build it on. Let us sire et our imagination and fancy a site had been c ea'ed and a town of forty or fifty thousand inhabitants had been built thereon, and a hundred ships had anchored in that capacions harbor the night previous to the storm last month.

Would it not have been a sad, yet somewhat ludierou , scene to have rean one hundred captains of vessels, with twice as many of their mates, the next morning searching throughout the marshes and woods for many miles about Morehead City, and enquiring for their missing ships ?

I do not desire to disparage More. head City; on the contrary, I wish her success to the full measure of her advantages, but I do deprecate the waste of energy and effort in trying to accomplish an impossibility, to the detriment of, and retarding, what is practicable, where such a vast interest of the people of the whole State is at stake, and that designing parties should succeed in outching sensible men with such a myth.
