At the request of many citizens, Mayor Fishblate has agreed to please the stargasers by giving orders to have the fire alarm sounded at the first instalment of shooting stars that become visible in the heavens to-night, which, according to the extensively published notice of Professor Tice, takes place precisely at 1 o'clock A. Sudden Death.

Peter McKeever, colored, better known as the "rag man," died suddenly at his residence, in this city, yesterday morning. Peter for some time past has been suffering from a pulmonary disease, but plied his vocation of buying rags, from house to house, up to Tuesday night, when, after going home, as well as usual, he was taken with hemorrhage- of the lungs, and died before morning.

On Hand at Las .

It is to be hoped that Judge Seymour arrived safely in Lumberton yesterday morning and the lawyers, jurers and witnesses who had been waiting on him for two days were at last accommodated by having the business that called them to Lumberton attended to. Judge Seymour was in Charlotte Tuesday and the Observer gives as his excuse for not being at Lumberton that he had been delayed by a failure to make railroad connection.

New Appointment to the Congressional Executive Committee.

We learn that Captain Chas. D. Myers, Chairman of the Executive Committee for this Congressional District, has appointed Mr. W. F. Howland, of Beaufort, to the vacancy occasioned some months ago in Carteret, by the death of Mr. W. G Goffrey, of that county, and that Mr. Howland has signified his acceptance of the same. A Rip Van Winkle Mail.

We read in some of our exchanges a few days ago of the safe arrival at Boston of a postal card which had made the circuit of the globe in 106 days. But we can mention something in the of way the rapid transit of mail matter that beats that all hollow. A gentleman who re sides in Columbus county recieved a lettter through Robeson post office, W. C. &. A. R. R., on the 28d of last month (Oct chased for the season. An outlay of 1879) which bore the date of Elizabethtown, Bladen county, June 24th, 1878. The letter was only fifteen months in going from its starting place to the place of destination, a distance of 75 miles. Our friend, who informed us of the incident, was the party receiving the letter, and he further informed us that he immediately replied to the favor of June 24th, 1878, giving his reasons for not acceding to the request contained in said letter, to wit: that the request came a little over twelve too late. Where this letter had journeyed to all this time is a mystery as yet unexplained as there were no marks of the Dead Letter Office on the envelope when

The Alleged Meteoric Display.

A writer on astronomical phenomena for the month explodes the statement that we are to have that grand meteoric display to-night to which so many people have been looking forward, saying: 'A great deal has been said concerning a grand display of meteors expected to come eff on the night of the 13 h. Such a thing is possible, but no more probable than on the 13th of any other November. The sensa. tion was started by one 'Prof.' Tice, of St Louis, an 'astronomer' who makes all his observations through a bit of smoked window glass. He claims to have discovered Vulcan, a planet supposed to exist within the orbit of Mercury, and to have accomplished the job aided only by such an instrument as we have just named. This little meteoric production of his got into the newspapers by some means or other, going the rounds after the manner of many other similar things; and that is all there is of it."

"The Mighty Dollar." This play will be presented to morrow (Friday) night at the Opera House in this city. The principal characters will be represented by Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Florence, for whom the play was written, sup ported by a first class company. "The Mighty Dollar" is a play which never tires an audience. It has just had a season of unequalled success, crowding the immense New York Opera House to overflowing. It is brim-full of fun, and the characters, Bardwell State and Mrs. General Gilfroy, suit the capacity of Mr. and Mrs. Florence in comedy. Their ability is so well known that the announcement means inimi able drollery and an abundance of hilarity and amusement.
