WILMINGTON, N. C.

ENTERED AT THE POSTOFFICE AT WILMINGTON, N. C., AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER.

TUESDAY, DECEMBER 9, 1879.

VEWS AND REVIEWS.

Capt. Thomas Simpson, of Burnet, Texas, keeps the remains of his wife, recently deceased, in his parlor in an elegant metallic case.

Thirty million cigars were made in Wheeling, W. Va., last year, and the number will be largely increased this year.

A statistician computes that 2,500,000 watches and 4,000,000 clocks are annually turned out in different parts of the world.

Fifty thousand acres of land in Parker and Palo Pinto counties, Texas, have just been purchased by a French capitalist for colonization purposes.

German newspapers in the United States are one-third more numerous than in the Fatherland, where Bismarck's censorship keeps them in perpetual fear of fine and suspension.

Telegram from Sierra Leone states that two Frenchmen, MM. Zweifel and Moustier, agents of the Marcellus house of Verminck, discovered in the course of September the source of the Niger.

Rudolf Falk, the explorer, has written from San Francisco to German friends to inform them that the monument in Bolivia, much more ancient than the time of the Incas, has given him a clue to the origin and development of speech and writing.

Memphis is taking steps to prevent a return of the yellow fever, and among other measures it is more than probable that a sewer system, to cost not over $225,000, and to be capable of performing all the necessary service, will be agreed upon.

An impression is gaining ground that John Sherman sold his own report on the sly to the newspaper sharks in advance and pocketed the money. Mr. Sherman has grown rich on small salaries in the service of the Government, and it is hardly possible that he would let a chance to pocket $500 slip by.

According to West End, London, gossip, the libels in Touch Talk on Mrs Langtry and Mrs Cornwallis West, for which Mr Rosenbergh is undergoing imprisonment, are the work of a rival beauty, who found herself eclipsed by their superior charms. Her father's name appears in the baronet's list, and money and influence were successfully interposed to prevent exposure.

Paris has now fifteen thousand metres of tubing laid down under the main thoroughfares, for the purpose of unifying the time of all the public clocks and setting them all by Observatory time. These pneumatic clocks will also be placed in private houses, and in future the time of day will be laid on just as is done with gas and water.

The long-pending 'disruption' between the Jesuit order in England and Cardinal Manning is to be inquired into by his Holiness the Pope before the close of the present month. Father Porter, the head of the Jesuit College at Rochampton, England, has been at Rome for some time preparing for the conflict, and the head of the order is on his way. Cardinal Manning has also arrived in Rome.

Harmon Wagner, a German cabinet maker of Troy, N. Y., has invented an automatic theater, sixteen feet wide, fourteen feet high and thirty feet deep, which shows a marvellous ingenuity. Everything goes by clock work. More than three hundred puppets, from nine to fourteen inches in height, are the actors, and go through their acts and scenes with wonderful precision. The work cost $3,000 and several years labor.

The Duke and Duchess of Buccleuch have been celebrating their golden wedding. The "bold Buccleuch" is the premier Duke of Scotland in wealth and social and political weight, though not in heraldic degree. He has been a Conservative for half a century, was a member of Sir Robert Peel's Cabinet, and has always subscribed large sums to the Conservative electioneering fund. He is of immense wealth, lord of 450,000 acres, from which he draws a rental of £230,000 a year. This stretch of territory seems petty, compared with the domains of the Duke of Sutherland, who is master of over 1,200,000 acres, but the greater part of this is heath a d bare rock. The Duke of Buccleuch, as father of the Earl of Dalkeith, whom Mr. Gladstone has ventured into the heart of Mid Lothian to encounter, will be no ordinary influence to overcome. Lord Roseberry, also of immense wealth, of the same shire, leads the fight on Mr. Gladstone's side, and it is difficult to say how the struggle will end. Both speak with confidence, and both are creating "faggot voters."

ORGANIZE FOR SUCCESS.

In a recent number of the Washington Post was a report of an interview with a prominent political leader in the Democratic party, whose name is not given, but who is outspoken and earnest for the nomination of Samuel J. Tilden for the Presidency. The great man reported was very confident that Mr. Tilden would be the nominee of the party offered many reasons why he should receive the nomination, and predicted that if nominated he would be elected by a larger majority than any other Democrat could possibly obtain. His reasoning upon all the questions discussed seems to us specious and entirely untrustworthy.

We publish a Democratic newspaper, advocating nothing, politically, but true, pure and unadulterated Democratic doctrine, as laid down by the wisdom of our fathers, and our duty to the party and to ourselves both demand that we should devote every honorable energy to Democratic success, and to sound the note of warning against any and every movement which will in the least degree jeopardize its complete prosperity. We aim also to be a faithful exponent of the wishes of the Democracy of our State in all that pertains to political questions and persons; and we are well aware that the nomination of Mr. Tilden is not desirable among nine-tenths of our people. We have carefully investigated the subject, both by reference to the columns of the press of the State, and by conversation with the most prominent and influential men of the party, and we speak advisedly upon the subject. We are under no obligations to Mr. Tilden which do not apply with equal force and pertinency to Bayard, Seymour, Thurman, Hendricks, and others whose names have become great in their devoted struggles for the supremacy of good, patriotic Democratic principles and doctrines. In fact, we believe that either of those we have named are better entitled to the consideration of the party than he is, and it is our imperative duty to sound the note of warning, that his nomination would be the choice of but a moiety of the people of this, and, we believe, of every other Southern State; and that, instead of taking the aggressive, as we might with almost any other candidate that could be named, we would at once be forced to stand on the defensive. It is well known throughout the entire South that in his own State of New York there is a most bitter and relentless opposition to Mr. Tilden, and the recent defeat of Gov. Robinson for reelection in that State was owing solely to the fact that thousands of the voters believed that he was kept on the ticket to further the designs of Mr. Tilden in obtaining the nomination for the Presidency. We know that his political supremacy in his own State is dead beyond the power or even the hope of a resurrection, and we also know that we need and must have that State to ensure a victory. We know that he was fairly elected and justly entitled to the seat now occupied by R. B. Hayes, and that he was cheated out of the position by the most stupendous and infamous frauds ever perpetrated against the expressed voice of a free people. That act, notwithstanding its villainy, however, most effectually killed, politically, Samuel J. Tilden, and the recent election in New York as completely and as effectually buried him, and it would be worse than folly—it would be madness—to exhume the corpse and force it upon the Democracy of the country to carry through the approaching campaign. Let us admit that he is an able man, an eminent lawyer, a shrewd politician and a skillful wire-puller among machine politicians and that he may be sure of a strong support in some northern localities and may possibly arouse a fair share of enthusiasm in those sections, but we, at the same time, know that in the South it would be an impossibility to excite the ardor of the voting population—those sturdy sons of the soil who take no active part in politics except to vote, but who always vote just right and with a clear conscience—to such an extent as to develop the full Democratic strength. Our people will be excited to the highest pitch of enthusiasm and will work with a will for the success of a live candidate, while they will look on with apathy if not disgust at the appearance of a political corpse at the head of the ticket. It is a victory they wish to celebrate instead of being mourners at a funeral.

As Democrats, earnestly wishing and working for the success of the party, knowing it to be only party devoid of sectionalism but truly and wholly national, we shall work and vote for the nominee of the party, whoever he may be; we shall work with a will and in good faith, but here and now we deem it a duty which we owe to the Democracy of the country, to the South and to ourselves, to utter this note of warning of the peril of all our hopes should Mr. Tilden be nominated. We have labored cheerfully in the past, and have submitted quietly to defeat, even when it was the work of fraud. We feel assured that, if wise counsels prevail, and a candidate is placed at the head of the ticket who has not been doomed by previous defeat, the next President will be the choice of the Democratic party. If Bayard, Thurman, Seymour, Hendricks or Hancock is nominated, the Democracy will surely triumph, but if Tilden is nominated, the result will be clothed in too much doubt to anticipate with any degree of pleasure.

A deaf mute used the new audiphone, "Can you pay me that $5?—these were the first words he heard. 'I prefer to remain in my original condition,' he said, sternly, and threw the audiphone out of the window.—Buffalo Express.

Tom Scott receives a salary of $25,000 a year. For this reason we believe the stories of his intended resignation on account of poor health are false. No person could afford to have poor health on that salary.—Oil City Derrick.

Lord C—, whose popularity was not excessive in the Scotch town of A—, having refused an importunate beggar, she renewed her applications with: "Now, no lord, if ye'd just give me one little sixpence I could treat ivery friend ye have in the town."

An emaciated humorist, who had been sick for a long time, was required by his doctor to have a large mustard plaster put on his chest. "Look here, doctor, isn't that a great deal of mustard, when the quantity of meat is taken into consideration?" asked the sufferer.
