The Pall Mall Gazette charges that Stanley, the African explorer, is build. ing the road along the Congo by means of slaves, which he buys for the purpose, the laborers he took along with him haying either sickened or deserted on account of the hard work.

Prince Bismarck is said to have written an autograph letter to Mrs. Garfield, in which he begs her to accept his heartfelt condolence and best wishes for her husband's recovery. The Prince is now leading a quiet, valetudinarian life at Kissingen, maintaining a strict seclusion and occupying himself little with state allairs.

Lord Beaconsfield's will has just been proved, and the net amount disposed of after deducting debts and funeral expenses, is shown to be $316,562. All the late Lord's real estate goes to his nephew, Coningsby Ralph Disraeli, and is to be entailed for the benefit of the latter's male descendants. The rest of the personal estate is to be used in purchasing more land, to be settled in a similar man-

Two Italian girl students, the Signorina Carolina Vagistrelli, of Mantua, and the Signorina Evangelina Bottero, of Acqui, who had previously passed with great distinction examinations in Greek, Latin and Italian literature in the Roman University, took the other day doctor's degrees in natural sciences. The Rome Opinione says that as far as it knows, no woman has, until now, taken a degree in the Roman University since its foundation by Innocent IV:, in the thirteenth century.

It is announced in Philadelphia political circles that Mayor King will shortly appoint several colored policemen, and it is discussed by politicians as a revolution in Pennsylvania politics. The Philadelphia Times advocates the plan, however, and says: "The votes of the col ored race hold the balance of power between the two parties in Republican Philadelphia. They have been lavishly promised political honors by the Republicans in every election contest, and their votes have been, as a rule, cast solidly for the candidates of that party; but had Mayor Stokley, a partisan Republican Mayor, appointed a black man to his police force he would have had a volcanic eruption among the spoilsmen of his organization."

shire, England, aged eighty-three, is, it is stated, so firmly convinced of the appreaching end of the world, that he has ordered an immense balloon to be made for his own convenience, by means of which he hopes to witness the destruction of the planet without sharing the fate of its inhabitants. He will take with him in his ascent tinned provisions, brandy, soda-water, claret and other creature comforts in sufficient quantities clusion that Mr. Randall has no rights to meet his requirements for three years, by which time he calculates his life will suggestion is that the Secretary of State, have come to a natural close. He is of opinion that among the debris of the world will be several large fragments, on one of which he will be able to effect a descent at an opportune moment and and a refuge for his few remaining years. He proposes to take with him 'no companion but a gamekeeper, who has been long in his service and for whom he has a great regard. He has, however, warned this faithful retainer, who is only fifty-two years old, that when the provisions in the balloon are exhausted he will have to shift for himself, and may therefore in three years' time be without means of subsistence. Having mide these arrangements, the old gentleman is per fectly calm, and indeed cheerful. He expects, he declares, to get on better without the world than with it.

THE CASWELL MONUMENT.

Mr. Cicero W. Harris writes to the Goldsboro Messenger a description of the monument to Gov. Caswell, which is to be unveiled at Kinston next Wednesday. He says :

The handsome monumental shaft to be erected to the memory of Gov. Caswell, in Kinston, on the third proximo, will be shipped to that place to morrow. It is the work of Mr. Mc Menamin, of this city, who, with two assistants, will accompany it to its destination and put some finishing touches to it. He has had only fortyfive days in which to do the work. It is an obelisk, built of Richmond granite, and is thirty feet in height, including three bases. The shaft is sixteen feet high. The plinth is beautifully moulded. The cap is formed of Roman arches .-The base which contains the inscription | Whiteville, at Whiteville, . . The Key to Health.

Have you found the key to perfect health and strength? It is Kidney-Wort, the only remedy that overcomes at once the inaction of the kidneys and bowels. It purifies the blood by cleansing the system of foul humors and by giving strength to the liver, kidneys and howels to perform their regular functions See displayed advertisement.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

Washington, D. C., July 23, 1881. The President's condition at this writng as considered by the physicians is favorable. They are understood to mean by this simply that the dangerous symptoms of Saturday do not necessarily indi cate a fatal result. There is, however, now greater liability to new and dangerous complication than there was believed to be up to Saturday morning. The President is weaker and does not take An eccentric old gentleman in Lincoln. nutritious food as readily as he did. I do not think one of the physicians would be surprised if conditions should appear in the President's case to-day (or any day) rendering recovery impossible.

Two absurd theories of the succession, in the event of the disqualification of the President and Vice-President, are suggested here. One is that Mr. Randall. Speaker of the House wuring the 46th Congress, would become President. The plan of reasoning is too long and too intricate to be followed and leads in the opinion of almost everybody to the conwhatever in the premises. The other by reason of the authority conferred on him to order a new election for the Presidency, becomes President himself until such election is regularly made known. A sufficient answer to this is that the constitution and laws provide especially who shall become or act as President in certain contingencies, and except the persons so named no one is or can be President, and to so act would be usurpation. But the law can and should make more extended provision for possible vacancies. It should for instance, be made the duty of the Senate te elect from time to time presiding officers-President of the Senate-they are called, and the sessions of Congress should be so arranged that the House would never be without a Speaker. Four lives between order and anarchy present law is that there shall be four, viz., the President, the Vice President, the Senate and the are not too many, and the idea of the the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House ; but now there is only the fraillife of a desperately wounded man, and the life of the Vice President.

Justice Nathan Clifford, who has just died, was a very pronounced Democrat, but had the sincere respect of all public that should be expelled naturally. Justice Nathan Clifford, who has just men without regard to party. His decisions were written in a style singularly pure and clear, and he exhibited all sources of legal knowledge in their preparation. He was the last Democrat appointed to the Supreme Bench and his death leaves thereon but one Justice of similar conservative ideas. President PILES, CONSTIPATION, URINARY Garfield would do a graceful as well as a patriotic act by recognizing the fact in naming a successor to Justice Clifford. But that, I suppose, is more than can be hoped for.
