

The Daily Review.

JOSH. T. JAMES, Editor & Prop. WILMINGTON, N. C.

WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 19, 1883.

Entered at the Postoffice at Wilmington, N. C., as second-class matter.

Christopher Columbus does not rest in his grave as quietly as William Shakespeare. The ashes of the great discoverer first buried at Seville, have been moved about till they finally lie in the Cathedral of Saint Domingo, and now they are to be turned out of their resting-place and enclosed in a plate-glass urn.

Mr. John T. Patrick, Agent of Immigration for our State, has opened a State office in New York City. This gives him a splendid chance of placing lands, water-powers and timber into market. This office will be devoted specially to the work for North Carolina, and we advise those desiring to sell lands to correspond with Mr. Patrick at once.

The veterans of the Third Regiment of the State of Maine, at their ninth annual reunion, recently held, adopted a resolution requesting the members of Congress from Maine to introduce a bill authorizing the establishment and maintenance, under government direction, of suitable homes for ex-Confederate soldiers and sailors who were disabled during the late war.

Now that the Japanese have taken to using patent medicine, the picture of the lovely Lydia is as common in the houses of the Orient as a tea-store chromo is in the home of the Occident.

With seaports of her own she must see her produce taken from the very doors of these ports and whirled away hundreds of miles to take water in more favored localities. It is possible that some little remnant of State pride may be awakened, enough, maybe, to refuse the charter for the road to Goldsboro, which must be asked at the hands of the State Legislature, but we doubt it, especially if the next legislative body which meets at Raleigh should in any way closely resemble the last.

MOONSHINE.

Railroad men all speak well of Vanderbilt. They never know how soon he may own the road on which they are working.—New Orleans Picayune.

Gov. Butler is reported to have one eye for the White House. It is probably the bow-legged one. The other eye is for Gov. Butler.—Rochester Post-Express.

"Is that gentleman a friend of yours?" asked a newly introduced lady of another at a reception. "Oh, no, he's my husband," was the innocent reply.—Merchant Traveller.

During the recent sham battle in New Jersey, a number of the participants were seriously injured, and it is reported that they have all applied for pensions.—Rochester Post-Express.

"Is there anything wrong in kissing?" he asked her, as they stood together at the gate. "Certainly there is," she replied, "or there wouldn't be any fun in it."—Rochester Post-Express.

An exchange thinks that if Jay Gould had devoted his time to drinking beer, starving his family and howling "death to monopolists," he would not be as comfortably fixed as he is now.—Rochester Express.

With regard to Mrs. Langtry's allegation that she "was nearly worried to death by American journalists," the dramatic critics are unanimously of the opinion that honors are easy.—Rochester Post-Express.

Now that the Japanese have taken to using patent medicine, the picture of the lovely Lydia is as common in the houses of the Orient as a tea-store chromo is in the home of the Occident.—Boston Transcript.

PERSONAL.

Mr. Windom is in the Scottish highlands for several months.

Bismarck finds three hours a day as much he can work now.

The Queen of Roumania is to be divorced because she is childless.

Sitting Bull writes a good hand and is afflicted with pneumonia.

Queen Victoria is Hanoverian by blood, Scotch by choice and English by accident.

Gen. Butler is recognized as willing to give the woman suffragists the benefit of the "widow's" might.

Engene bids fair to be as permanent a figure of mourning in the world as her sister Express of England.

Two sons of Wachtel, the famous tenor, have adopted their father's profession. Both, August and Ferdinand, are now on the stage.

The Nashville people gave Mrs. Polk, widow of the President, a handsome bouquet with the number 80 in the centre on her 80th birthday.

Mr. B. P. Shillaber, (Mrs. Partington) is said to be much improved in health since the beginning of the summer. He has returned home to Chelsea.

Mrs. Emma Krats Speed, of Louisville, Ky., who has just died in Coburg, Canada, was a niece of the poet Keats. She married Col. Philip Speed, a well-known gentleman of Louisville, and five daughters and three sons.

SHORTS.

Linon is now bleached by electricity.

Caterpillars are seriously damaging Louisiana's cotton crop.

Albany shies about 1,000 barrels of potatoes daily to New York.

At the Newark, N. Y., nurseries two men budded 9,921 trees in a day.

Fifty years ago the West Indies exported at the rate of $50 a head; now the rate is $25.

Bees taken to Florida become lazy and make only as much honey as they need from day to day.

In boring an artesian well in Monroe county, Miss., a petrified log was struck at a depth of 214 feet.

Portland, Oregon, had only about 3,000 population twenty years ago. At the Villard celebration the other day she had a procession two miles long.

A copperhead bit the foot of Mrs. Calvin Deer of Franklin township, Pa., while she was driving cows. At first she felt as though a thousand needles were piercing her feet. Then her stomach was affected, and she lost consciousness. A physician's care brought her out of danger.

Barbadoes is by far the most prosperous of the West Indian colonies, a circumstance chiefly due to the intense attachment of the negroes to their native land. The population is over 1,000 to the square mile, and the negroes, consequently, have to work for a living; hence the planters' prosperity.

The herring fisheries of Scotland employ nearly 500,000 people, one-seventh of the population. The boats represent a money value of $3,600,000. The annual yield of cured fish has risen from 90,000 barrels early in the century to 1,200,000; and has trebled in fifty years, while in the same period the value of the nets has increased 75 per cent.

For seven years Allen's Brain Food has stood the strongest tests as to its merits in curing Nervousness, Nervous Debility and restoring lost powers to the weakened Generative System, and, in no instance has it ever failed; test it. $1; 6 for $5.—At druggists, or by mail from J. H. Allen, 315 First Ave New York City.

Friendship is the only thing in the world concerning the usefulness of which all mankind are agreed.

Prevent sickness by taking occasionally one of EMORY'S LITTLE CATHARTIC PILLS, a wonderful appetizer, an absolute cure of Bileousness.—15 cents. eod&w.

The greatest events of an age are its best thoughts. It is the nature of thought to find its way into action.

FOR DYSPEPSIA, INDIGESTION, Depression of Spirits and General Debility, in their various forms; also as a preventive against Fever and Ague, and other Intermittent Fevers, the "FERRO-PHOSPHORATED ELIXIR OF CALISAYA," made by CASWELL, HAZARD & CO., New York, and sold by all Druggists, is the best tonic; and for patients recovering from Fever or other sickness, it has no equal. tu 2w

The conqueror is regarded with awe, the wise man commands our esteem; but it is the benevolent man who wins our affection.

Dr. R. V. Pierce's "Pleasant Purgative Pellets" are sugar-coated and inclosed in glass bottles, their virtues being thereby preserved unimpaired for any length of time, in any climate, so that they are always fresh and reliable. No cheap wooden or pasteboard boxes. By all druggists. w sa

Ministers Sound its Praise.

Rev. Mr. Greenfield, Knoxville, Tenn., writes as follows: "Samarian Nervine permanently cured my son of epileptic fits." Here's food for thought. Sold by druggists, $1.50

The shortage in grain crops this year is estimated at 70,000,000 bushels.

Dr. Benson's Skin Cure is without a peer. It consists of both external and internal treatment and costs only $1. per package. At druggists.

The falling off of the Texas cotton crop by the drought is placed at 464,000 bales.

ASHBURNHAM, MASS., Jan. 14, 1880. I have been very sick over two years. They all gave me up as past cure. I tried the most skillful physicians, but they did not reach the worst part. The lungs and heart would fill up every night and distress me, and my throat was very bad. I told my children I never should die in peace until I had tried Hop Bitters. I have taken two bottles. They have helped me very much indeed. I am now well. There was a lot of sick folks here who have seen how they helped me, and they used them and are cured, and feel as thankful as I do that there is so valuable a medicine made.

MISCELLANEOUS.

The Poor Little Book-keeper. Though he was the father of a large family, he was a small and narrow-chested man, with weak lungs, a disordered liver, and a dyspeptic stomach. For many years he had been a book-keeper in one of the principal banks. So conscientious was he that, although he had many opportunities to take holidays, he had not been absent from his desk for eleven years. He attended faithfully to duty, and thought that to spend a day in recreation would be a sinful waste of time. Despite constantly increasing weakness he stuck to his post, when he ought to have been at home, resting and gaining strength. He grew weaker and weaker, until at last he had to stay away from his work altogether, and give up his position. He is dead.

Had this poor little book-keeper used Brown's Iron Bitters, he might have kept his position longer, and possibly have saved his life. His case was one of dreadful debility; the debility which undermines the foundations of health and life; the debility which goes hand in hand with disease, and which leads down to death and the grave. He was poorly nourished; in fact hardly nourished at all. His digestive machinery was so disordered that the food he ate did not assimilate and form good blood. What blood he had was poor and thin. There was nothing vigorous about him. Now this was perhaps an extreme case; but there are many debilitated people going down, down, down, just as this poor little book-keeper went.

Weak and forlorn as these unhappy people are, they can be saved. Many of them can be restored to health and vigor. Brown's Iron Bitters will carry to their enfeebled organs the strength that is needed. Its peculiar preparation of iron will give color and nourishment to the blood, and so vitalize the system. Thus digestion has a chance. The liver is restored to proper action. The lungs take healthy inspirations of air. The kidneys begin to work right. That horrible old feeling of lassitude departs, and misery moves off. Every debilitated sufferer ought to know about Brown's Iron Bitters. sept 13-14w nm to d&w c th
