TheDaily Review. A BALLAD OF DREAM-LAND. I hid my heart in a nest of roses. Out of the sun's way, hidden apart; In a solter bed than the soft white snow 18. Under the roses I hid my heart. Why would it sleep not? Why should it slart Whenever a leaf of the rose tree stirred? What made sleep flutter his wings and part? Only the song of a secret bird. Lie still, I said, for the wind's wing closes. And mild leaves mufile the keen sun's dart: Lie still, for the wind on the warm sea dozes, And the wind is unquieter yet than thou art. Does a thought in thee still as a thorn's would smart? Does the lang still fret thee of hope deferred? What bids the lids of thy sleep depart Only the song of a secret bird. The green land's name that a charm encloses. It never was writ in the traveler's chart, And sweet as the fruit on its tree that grows is, It never was sold in the merchant's mart The swallows of dreams through its dim fields dart, And sleep's are the tunes in its tree tops heard; No hound's note awakens the wild wood hart, Only the song of a secret bird. ENVOL. In the world of dreams I have chosen my part, To sleep for a season and hear no word Of true love's truth or of light love's art. Only the song of a secret bird. -Swinburne.
