TUE DAY, FEBRUA Y 19, 1884. Entered at the Postoffice at Wilmington, N. C. as second-class matter

It is proposed in New Orleans to cremate the garbage, as well as the dead. Under the present system it is partially disposed of by being thrown into the river, where it is likely to become a source of trouble, whereas it burnt it can cause no further harm-That's a good idea, so far as the garbage is concerned. But it isn't likely to concerning the matter (believed to be popularize cremation of corpses. A man doesn't want his remains treated his residence, in a suburban part of as a lot of old swill.

A Liverpool correspondent writes: "The largest s eam yacht ever constructed is on the stocks at Grith for Baron Rothschild, She is 246 feet long and 27 feet beam, and her engines 1,400 horse power, and it is expected she will be the fastest as well as the biggest steam yacht in the world She is to be ready for sea in June next, and is to be christened the Gros. reports that there were still at that time about 19,000 weavers out, in the English cotton districts, with a prospect that the strike would last a month or six weeks longer. The employers in districts where the operatives are at work continue their contribution of one shilling perloom in support of firms requiring assistance, this aid being an offset to the help given by working weavers to the strikers. Trades unions are responding ganerously to the appeal of the weavers. and for the week ending January 26 the contributions from all sources exceeded those of the previous week by $10,000.

The Washington correspondent of the Philadelphi : Times writes: 'It is no longer a secret that the work of the department of justice in exposing robbery on the part of United States officials in the South has seriously intrfered with President Arthur's scheme to get the Southern State delegations solid for himself in the next National Republican Convention. Everybody here knows that there has been the greatest uneasiness at the White House for a long time. * * * Nobody misunderstands the attitude of the Pr. sident toward the attorney-general and the reasons for it. It is the difference between the methods of Chandler and Bliss and the methods of officials who seek to do their duty to the public.

A BAD MAN.

Ex-Speaker Keifer has long since made himself odious to the more respectable of the Republican members of Congress, and it would seem that he is bound to make himself despised by the entire country, with every prospect of being successful. Not long since he preferred very grave charges against General N. V. Boynton, Washington correspondent of the Cincinnati Commercial Gazette, accusing that gentle man with attempting to bribe him in the discharge of his official duties .-Keiter made these charges in a speech delivered upon the floor of the House, and, as a matter of course, that body was obliged to take official notice af his allegations. For this purpose a committee was appointed to inquire into the matter, and Keiter was present with his counsel. General Boynton was also present and ready, willing and anxious for the investigation, but Kiefer objected, through his counsel, to be examined until it was established by proof that he had made the charges. As these charges were made on the floor of the House, in open session, it may well be imagined that such an objection took the committee by surprise, who de clared, as they should have done, that the plea was not good. Mr. Keifer then, through his counsel, objected to the examination on the ground that he could not be held res ponsible for language used in the House but it was decided that, although he could not be held responsible by the Courts, he was accountable to the House, through its Committee. He then asked for delay in order to obtain important witnesses, but, as he had averred in his speech that the attempted bride was made when he and General Boynton were alone together, and that the conversation was entirely private the committee could see no possible need or use of witnesses. Failing in all his endeavors he continued to ask for delay and finally succeeded in having the examination postponed until Wednesday next.

The fact is Mr. Keifer had made allegations in his speech which he could not maintain with the sauctity of an oath resting upon him, and he dared not submit to the examination and rigid cross-examination to which he knew he would be snbjected, and he sought every mean and contemptible subterfuge to get rid of the searching cooking stove, don't fail to see the Ex and trying ordeal. He has been guilty celsior Penn. Zeb. Vance and Yang of many mean and contemptible acts during his official life, but this last eclipses them all and makes him magnificent in littleness.

to Printing House square, and then three-quar ters of the way back to the moon again. But THE SUN is written for the inhabitants of the earth; this same strip of intelligence would girdle the globe twenty seven or twen-

If every buyer of a copy of THE SUN during the past year has spent only one hour over it, and if his wife or his grandfather has spent another hour, this newspaper in 1883 has afforded the human race thirteen thousand years of steady reading, night and day.

It is only by little calculations like these that you can form any idea of the circulation of the most popular of American newspapers, or of its influence on the opinions and actions of American men and women. THE SUN is, and will continue to be, a news paper which tells the truth without fear of consequences, which gets at the facts no mater how much the process costs, which pre sents the news of all the world without waste of words and in the most readable shape, which is working with all its heart for the cause of honest government, and which there fore believes that the Republican party must go, and must go in this coming year of our Lord, 1884.

If you know THE SUN, you like it already, and you will read it with accustomed diligence and profit during what is sure to be the most interesting year in its history. If you do not yet know The Sun, it is high time to get into
