is well known that a large majority of the human race die in childhood. Of course everybody has to die, some time or other.

A growing child is exposed to more risks than an adult. The system is in its formative state, and very receptive.

A growing child is liable to all manner of accidents. Cuts, wounds, bruises, and casualties of various kinds may happen at any moment.

A growing child is worthy of the very best care. It should be guarded against disease and accident. To conquer the diseases which attack the digestive organs, the blood, the kidneys, the liver, and the nerves, here is nothing like Brown's Iron Bitters.

A growing child's future depends much on what his condition is during the years of growth. It is essential that he reach the complete adult maturity in healthfulness and vigor.

THE SUN.

NEW YORK, 1884. About sixty million copies of THE SUN have gone out of our establishment during the past twelve months.

If you were to paste end to end all the columns of THE SUNS printed and sold last year you would get a continuous strip of interesting information, common sense wisdom, sound doctrine, and sane wit, long enough to reach from Spring House square to the top of Mount Copernicus in the moon, then back to Printing House square, and then three-quarters of the way back to the moon again.

It is only by little calculations like these that you can form any idea of the circulation of the most popular American newspaper, or of its influence on the opinions and actions of American men and women.

THE SUN is, and will continue to be, a newspaper which tells the truth without fear of consequences, which gets at the facts no matter how much the process costs, which presents the news of all the world without waste of words and in the most readable shape, which is working with all its heart for the cause of honest government and which therefore believes that the Republican party must go, and must go in this coming year of our Lord, 1884.

If you know THE SUN, you like it already, and you will read it with accustomed diligence and profit during what is sure to be the most interesting year in its history.

TERMS TO MAIL SUBSCRIBERS. The several editions of THE SUN are sent by mail, postpaid, as follows: DAILY—$6 per month, $6 a year; with Sunday edition, $7.
