The line will be a part of a derful Woman-Her Thumb through line from Boston and New York, by way of Philadelphia, Wilming Whiteville Circuit at Fair ton and the Delaware Peninsula Road. The Delaware Road is now being extended Southward by the Pennsylvabia Company to a point opposite the Northern terminus of the New York, Norfolk and Charleston line, and the two will connect through the waters of Hampton Roads and Nortolk Parbor. The 220 miles of air-line from Norfolk to Charleston, by cutting out the existing triangular, circuitous lines, will effect a saving of 180 miles and seven hours in time between Boston, New York and Philadelphia in the North, and Charleston, Savannah, New Orleans and Mobile in the South. It is claimed for the new route, therefore, that it will command the bulk of through passenger and freight traffic between the North and South. JOHN JACOB ASTOR.

A witching stillness holds the breath His Miles of Houses, His Heavy Taxes and His Charities.

The third richest man in the Union is John Jacob Astor, the chief owner and heir of the Astor estate. Unlike many millionarires, Astor has both name and riches-a name linked with fabulous wealth for three succeeding generations. The estimated value of the Astor estate is from $90,000,000 to $100,000,000, a veritable mountain of gold. John Jacob and William B. are its sole owners, the former's interest said to be two-thirds. For nearly a century the title of being "the land-lords of New York" has attached itself to them. John Jacob's interests in houses, lots and farms may be comdealer's yesterday a stranger halted and puted in the thousands. Among the valuable buildings principally owned by Mr. Astor as chief heir to the estate is the old landmark, the Astor House, which was sold to his father by his grandfather, the founder of the immense estate, for $1. Its present valed at $1,750,000. The Guarantee and Indemnity building, chiefly owned by "You bet I do, and I'm here to get Mr. Astor, was purchased a short time ago for $1,000,000, while the Astor es-"My frendt, you made a dreatful tate pays taxes on $50,000,000 of real mistake.
