

The Daily Review.

OSH. T. JAMES, Editor & Prop. WILMINGTON, N. C.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 28, 1884.

Entered at the Postoffice at Wilmington, N. C., as second-class matter.

Gen. Jubal A. Early expresses the hope that Senator Bayard will receive the Democratic nomination for President. He says: "Bayard is the representative of pure statesmanship, of honest administration and of sound business principles."

There seems to be something in the rumor that the Administration is preparing to tip its horns by doing what Buchanan wanted to do but couldn't, and what Hamilton Fish might have done but didn't—buy Cuba for a song.

President Arthur, having been selected to make the opening, and Secretary of War Lincoln the closing speech, at the New Orleans Exposition, the managers have determined to have an intermediate address delivered by some prominent Democrat, not yet named.

As an instance of the wonderful rapidity with which words and messages can now be transmitted to the various commercial centres of the world, we may mention the fact recorded in the London Electrician, that conversation had been carried on between an operator in London and another in Calcutta, at the rate of twelve to fourteen words to the minute, over a wire extending some 7,000 miles, by way of Constantinople to Teheran, in Persia, thence to Bombay, and finally to Calcutta.

A Boston man claims to have a collection of 50,000 pins, all of different kinds and sizes. He is probably married and picked them up around the house. There are in London 4,000 professors of music, including vocalists, instrumentalists and teachers. No wonder that devoted city is shrouded in funeral logs and vapors.

Not a few of Blaine's warm adherents were amazed to find in the New York Tribune on Wednesday morning a thirteen column report of the Arthur meeting of the night before and an editorial commending the character and general conduct of the gathering. As the Tribune had been up to that time an enthusiastic Blaine organ everybody was asking what it meant. The New York Times now charges that it was urged to publish the same report by a promise of the sale of from 75,000 to 100,000 extra papers for that day, on the condition that it would say nothing derogatory of the meeting in its editorial columns. The Times declined the offer, and the inference is left in the public mind that the Tribune accepted it.

A Liberian now in Philadelphia talks rather despondently of the outlook of the little black republic. It is a fine country, he says, the finest in the world rich soil, broad rivers, gold, ivory and palm oil close by. But the Government owes over $1,100,000 in London, and pay day is drawing near. In the person of one Harris, an English adventurer with half a dozen negro wives, England has already seized 150 miles of coast. English gunboats have shown themselves off Monrovia. The native tribes are unfriendly, and the Liberians themselves are a prey to political dissensions. Altogether, the black individual now in Philadelphia regards the situation as desperate and expects to become a British subject by annexation before he is very much older.

Mr. Hollingsworth, of Vineland, N. J., "has manufactured what, considering all the circumstances, is an excellent sample of native grown and cured tea. The 'leaf' was by arrangement forwarded by express from a plantation near Georgetown, S. C., a distance of several hundred miles, and was nearly five days in transit. The quantity necessarily was small, but ample to demonstrate the perfect practicability of homegrown tea being successfully manipulated by experts, solely by means of American machinery and means, the tea being 'fired' and dried by a fruit evaporator, which did its work perfectly." This notice, taken from the Vineland News-Times, gives only a mere suggestion of the manner in which this tea was manipulated. Experiments in curing tea by means of fruit evaporators, if intelligently conducted, might lead to valuable results. The Chinese method is not only rude, but too costly at the wages paid to laborers in America. The success of tea culture in the Southern States having been assured, the interest now centres in tea curing so as to obtain and preserve the proper flavor.

Boils, blotches, pimples, and all skin diseases, are quickly cured by cleansing the blood with Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

The Paris correspondent of the Boston Journal writes: "The death of Judah P. Benjamin excited but small interest in the American colony here. Mr. Benjamin lived in a handsome house which he had had specially constructed for himself in the Avenue de Jena, and of course moved but little in the American society of the capital. Most of the old Southern aristocratic circles which were once conspicuous in Paris are dispersed by death or decay of fortune, and Mr. Benjamin was furthermore, during most of his residence here, too ill to participate in general society. His chief amusement since his retirement from the English bar was an occasional visit to the London haunts where he had been famous since the close of the civil war. Lord Coleridge and other legal luminaries of the metropolis were very fond of him, and his fine talents won him universal recognition in his profession. It is said that during the closing years of his practice in London his fee for a consultation at his own house was three hundred guineas, and that he habitually refused to go into any court other than the House of Lords and the Privy Council except for a fee of one hundred guineas."

MAY MOONSHINE.

It only takes about two seconds to get up a du'l.

"Shall I play 'Over the Garden Wall'?" asked the organ grinder. "No," replied the citizen, "I would rather you play in the next street."

"Men live a great deal faster than women," says a writer. This must be true, because you never see a woman quite as old as a man born in the same year.

"What's tea this morning?" asked Frink of his grocer the other day. "Sixty cents." "Well, ain't that too steep?" "Of course it's too steep; you wouldn't roast tea, would you?"

"He stood six feet two, in his stock shoes, and every inch a man," says an exchange. "I'm! That is seventy-four inches; 'every inch a man,' would make seventy-four men. This must be the same identical customer who was a 'host in himself.'"

Dr Roger's Vegetable Worm Syrup instantly destroys worms, and removes the secretions that cause them.

THAT $15,000 PRIZE Drawn by Engineer Isaac Haines.

The lucky holder of one-fifth of ticket 10,842, which drew the capital prize of $75,000 in the Louisiana State Lottery last Tuesday, is Mr. Isaac Haines, the engineer of passenger engine No. 51, on the Memphis and Charleston Railroad. The gentleman was interviewed at Chattanooga last Wednesday, by an attaché of the Times, and that journal on yesterday had the following on the subject: "I'll tell you how it happened," said Mr. Haines. "I happened to find an old dollar bill in my pocket-book when in Memphis last week, and, while sauntering along the street, concluded to buy a lottery ticket. I put it away and thought no more of it until this morning when a gentleman showed me a telegram from New Orleans, stating that ticket No. 10,842 had drawn the capital prize, $75,000, in the Louisiana State Lottery. Remembering that I had a ticket I hunted it up, and found that it corresponded with the number telegraphed." Mr. Haines is undecided whether he will do with the money, but it will be put to good use. He has been running an engine on the Memphis road 14 years, and is held in high esteem by his employers. He has supported two sisters and an aged father for years on his farm near Stevenson, Ala. A few months ago he was in a pool for a ticket in the same lottery and drew a large prize, receiving $600 dollars for his share—Memphis (Tenn.) Ledger, May 16.

A Grinning Death's Head is scarcely more abhorrent to a refined observer, than a row of discolored teeth made visible by a smile. Correct the hideous blemish with delightful and healthful SOZODONT, which whitens yellow teeth, imparts ruddiness and hardness to colorless, unhealthy gums, and a floral balsam to the breath. The feminine mouth becomes wondrously attractive in consequence of its use. Leading actresses and cantatrices regard it as indispensable.

Hens may be a little backward on eggs; but they never fail to come to the scratch where flower beds are concerned.

MISCELLANEOUS.

The Emperor Louis Napoleon smoked only the finest cigars the world could produce. Prof. Eborford says the Emperor's cigars were made specially for him in Havana from leaf tobacco grown in the Golden Belt of North Carolina, this being the finest leaf grown in the best and purest made. All Smoking Tobacco is made from the same leaf used in the Emperor's cigars, is absolutely pure and is unquestionably the best tobacco ever offered.

Thackeray's gifted daughter, Anne, in her sketch of Alfred Tennyson, in Harper's Monthly, tells of her visit to the great poet. She found him smoking Blackwell's Bull Durham Tobacco, sent him by Hon. James Russell Lowell, American Minister to the Court of St. James.

In these days of adulteration, it is a comfort to smokers to know that the Bull Durham brand is absolutely pure, and made from the best tobacco the world produces.

Blackwell's Bull Durham Smoking Tobacco is the best and purest made. All dealers have it. None genuine without the trade-mark of the Bull.
