

THIS PAPER is published every evening, Sundays excepted by JOSH T. JAMES, EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR. SUBSCRIPTIONS POSTAGE PAID: One year $4.00. Six months, $2.00. Three months, $1.00; One month, 35 cents. The paper will be delivered by carriers free of charge, in any part of the city, at the above rates, or 10 cents per week. Advertising rates low and liberal. Subscribers will report any and all failures to receive their paper regularly.

The Daily Review has the largest circulation of any newspaper published in the city of Wilmington. Another large consignment of Sash, Doors & Blinds at factory prices, just received at Jacon's Hardware Depot. It looks very much like Cleveland.

Republican ratification meetings are not booming much up North. Blaine's broom will sweep the cleaner for having a "Black-jack" handle.

Gail Hamilton is supposed to be very busy writing Blaine's letter of acceptance. We suppose that the Liberal Democrats, so-called, of this State are all ready to shout for Blaine.

The Mulligan letters will not form any portion of the Republican campaign literature this year.

It is said that Jay Gould has abandoned the idea of a voyage around the world, and has given his famous yacht Atlanta to his son George.

One of the oldest cities in the country is York, Mo. One of the newest Republicans in the country is York of North Carolina. Both are unimportant.

Signor Salvini, the tragedian, is named in a New York journal as the happy man in a wedding at which his former step-daughter, Miss Adele Belgarde, is to figure as the bride.

It is said by some of his enthusiastic admirers that Blaine will sweep the country, but it looks to us as though his old broom will be worn out before he gets through Connecticut.

The ex-King and Queen of Naples will receive a fortune of over a million sterling under the will of the Empress Dowager of Austria. It will be very welcome, for they have been in needy circumstances.

Miss Anna Laurens Dawes, a daughter of Senator Dawes, advocates a Jewish State in Palestine. She praises the intellectuality of the people, and she finds that in statescraft, that the Jew has done brilliant things.

It is said that Manager Abbey has invested in 10,000 medallions of Henry Irving and Miss Terry, which he intends to sell to admiring Americans. A London artist designed the portraits from which the medallions are to be cast.

Fifteen Massachusetts girls are about to undertake a tramp of 300 miles in the Adirondacks. Somebody has been giving them some exaggerated pointers about the number of unmarried men who have taken to the woods.

In reply to a report that he had said of Pack, "We have no animosity toward Blaine," Mr. Kepler writes:—"The course of Pack has been shaped only by a sense of public duty and while we have no personal malice toward Mr. Blaine, we feel ourselves bound to oppose his candidacy."

Congressman Rockwell of Massachusetts, has identified the unnamed portrait among the pictures of the Speakers of the House in the lobby behind the House of Representatives in Washington as that of Theodore Sedgwick of Massachusetts, who was speaker from December, 1799, to March, 1801.

A Parliamentary paper, devoted to deaths from starvation and deaths accelerated by privation in London for the year 1883, shows that 44 such deaths took place in the several districts. Of these, 25 occurred in the Eastern division of Middlesex district and 14 in the Central division of Middlesex district.

A South Carolina family has offered for sale, through Mr. Thomas Maillard, of London, three heads by Copley, in excellent condition and good examples of the artist. They are portraits of Lord William Campbell, last British Governor of South Carolina, Lady William Campbell, and a relative, Mrs. Colin Campbell nee Izard. Copley was born at Boston in 1737. In 1774 he settled in London, England, and became famous as an historical and portrait painter. In 1783 he was elected a member of the Royal Academy, and died in 1815. His son, John Singleton Copley, afterward became Lord Chancellor of England under the title of Lord Lyndhurst. The pictures have been in the possession of the family now owning them since they were first painted.

Now is the time to give Smith's Worm Oil.

THE DAILY REVIEW.

VOL. VIII. WILMINGTON, N. C., SATURDAY, JUNE 21, 1884. NO. 148

Statistics of the population of the Italian Kingdom for the year 1881 show that in a century, the population has doubled. Further facts shown are that among young men from 20 to 25 years of age the number of the illiterate is 17.05 per cent. of the population. Among the whole population the proportion is 67 compared to 73 in the previous census.

Mr. E. T. Boykin, of Sampson, is not a candidate for the nomination for Congress from the Third district. The Clinton Caucasian says:

Mr. E. T. Boykin is now absent at Pender Superior Court. We understand that on Saturday at the county convention many of his friends approached him with reference to his candidacy for Congress, and that he then stated that he was not then and had not been a candidate for Congress at the Burgaw convention.

At a railway station at Palouse Junction, in Washington Territory, a well 185 feet deep was dug to supply water for the locomotives. An abundant supply was obtained, but the well has one remarkable peculiarity. In digging the last fifty feet the workmen had to wear thick clothing and wrap their feet and legs in gunny bags to keep them from freezing, although the men above ground worked in their shirt sleeves.

Water left over night in the bucket would freeze. The water in the well does not congeal because it flows too fast.

It seems that Jay Gould, Sidney Dillon, Russell Sage and Solon Humphreys are on about $2,000,000 of paper of the Wabash Company. That paper has been coming due for two weeks now, and the endorsers decline to take it up. This gave rise to the rumor in New York that Gould was broken financially, but the story is denied. It is naively said that Mr. Gould declined to pay the notes because he was afraid he might not get his money back, and, we may add, this sort of fear has worried a good many endorsers of bad notes in the past. It is also pleasantly said that, now that the Wabash Company is in a receiver's hands, the receiver will issue "certificates" for these $2,000,000 of notes, and they will then come in ahead of the mortgages. This is cheerful news for the bondholders.

It is said by some of his enthusiastic admirers that Blaine will sweep the country, but it looks to us as though his old broom will be worn out before he gets through Connecticut.

Personal.

Prof. M. C. S. Noble arrived in the city last night, having completed his labors at the Goldsboro Graded School at Goldsboro. He went to Smithville on the Russport to-day.

For Fayetteville.

The bag of Confederate corn which was sold at the Produce Exchange yesterday, was purchased by Mr. Wm. M. Cumming, who has sent it to Fayetteville, where it will be offered for sale in like manner and for the same purpose that it was sold in Baltimore and in this city.

Additional Delegates.

Mr. H. McL. Green, chairman of the County Convention, has appointed the following additional delegates to the National Convention: F. W. Kerchner, Josh T. James, Samuel Bear, Jr., John Haar, Jr., John G. Oldenbuttel, C. G. Southerland, Alex. Adrian, John H. Strauss, August Duemeland.

Every Farmer ought to get a "Boy Clipper Plow," greatest invention of the age. JACOBI is the Agent.

Seaside Park.

Wrightsville Sound was the direction in which a large number of our citizens travelled yesterday, and the Seaside Park Hotel was the objective point. Every sort of suitable conveyance to be had in the city was put in requisition to convey those who desired to be in attendance and witness the attraction at the Sound, and it was estimated that at least 500 people were present.

The first attraction presented for the occasion was a match game of baseball between the Seaside Park and the Old North State Nines. The game was called at about half past 4 o'clock, and resulted in a victory for the Seaside Club, in a score of 30 to 13 for the Old North State Club.

As was announced, the Cornet Concert Club went down and enlivened the occasion by a concert in the Pavilion, after which dancing was begun and was kept up until about 2 o'clock this morning.

Telegraph and Railroad Meeting.

The Wilmington, Clinton & Warsaw Telegraph Company held its first annual meeting at Clinton on Wednesday last. The report of the Secretary and Treasurer, Mr. W. L. Faison, was submitted and showed a favorable result of the first year's work. There had not been a break in the line during the year. The old Board of Directors was reelected, and also the officers, as follows:

President—W. A. Johnson.
Secretary and Treasurer—W. L. Faison.
Superintendent—F. W. Foster.

The business of the Telegraph Company having been concluded, at the suggestion of E. T. Boykin, Esq., the assembly resolved itself into a railroad meeting and the construction of a road from Warsaw to Clinton was advocated by Messrs. Boykin and Foster, who, it seems, but echoed the sentiments of the meeting. The people are strongly in favor of the scheme, and there seems to be no doubt that it may be carried through at an early day. In fact, subscriptions were offered on the spot.

Closing Exercises.

The Cape Fear Academy closed its eleventh session yesterday. The examination of the classes has been going on for the past week the pupils have so acquitted themselves more satisfactorily than ever before. This session has been the most successful one which the school has enjoyed, there having been 73 pupils enrolled.

After some very pleasant exercises in declamation by the pupils, Prof. Catlett, the Principal, addressed the young men upon the great essentials of a business man's character; punctuality, constant attendance upon duty, independence and self-reliance, closing with sound advice which it would be well for all to follow. The report was then read as follows:

The highest attainments in classes made by each pupil is in the order of their names:

Second class.—Jno. C. Heyor, Jr., J. C. Lumsden, Jr.

Third class.—E. D. Cowan, H. H. Parsley, A. J. Howell, Jr., N. Rosenthal, J. D. Bellamy, Jr., J. Jacobi, G. Harr.

Fourth class.—W. W. Smith, C. J. A. Blomme, Jas. L. DeRosset, J. W. Keen, Geo. Howell, R. Bellamy, Willie Kordlauder, Wm. N. Bowden, Jr., Sigmond Bear.

Introductory class.—First Division.—C. S. Grainger, R. L. Meadows, A. L. DeRosset, Jr., A. H. Harris, Jno. D. Bellamy, Jr.

Second Division.—Norwood Smith, T. A. Heide, Eddie David, Reid Williams, H. Oldenbuttel, E. A. McKoy, Julius P. Taylor, Willie Hodges, I. Solomon.

J. W. Keen has never been tardy or absent during the entire session, and received only one demerit.

Prof. Catlett is a most accomplished teacher, is devoted to his noble profession and we are glad to know that his efforts have been so successful, and we also are glad to know that they are highly appreciated by the patrons of the Cape Fear Academy.

Trade-Marks and Patents.

From the Patent and Trade-mark Office, Melbourne, Australia, Mr. Edward Waters writes, that one of his household suffered with toothache and rheumatism, and was cured immediately and quickly by the use of St. Jacobs Oil, the great pain-cure.

The thermometer indicated 90 degrees in this office at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon.

Grand Demonstration of the Opening of the Cape Fear & Yadkin Valley Railroad at Greensboro—Distinguished Men from all Sections of the State Present.

(Special Corr. DAILY REVIEW.)
GREENSBORO, N. C., June 19, '84.
With the arrival of the train last night commenced the pouring in of the people, and by 11 o'clock, A. M. to-day all the excursion trains had arrived bringing between two and three thousand people, from almost every section of the State.

At 12 M., the vast assemblage—and it was indeed vast—assembled at a beautiful grove near the depots of the different railroads to hear the address of welcome and speeches by the various distinguished gentlemen present. The address of welcome was delivered by that true and tried North Carolinian, Judge John H. Gilmore, and it was a graceful and beautiful effort, eliciting rapturous applause throughout. Judge Gilmore then, in behalf of the reception committee, introduced Governor Thomas J. Jarvis, who came forward and delivered one of his very best efforts, replete with statistical information as to the construction of the various railroads during his administration. North Carolina has no truer son to her interests than Thomas J. Jarvis. At the conclusion of this speech, Judge Gilmore introduced our esteemed Senator, Hon. Zeb. B. Vance, who made a most admirable speech, varying it with his inimitable wit and good humor, and eliciting the applause which always follows his speeches. It was listened to throughout with the most earnest attention.

Judge Gilmore said, as several of the distinguished gentlemen who had been invited were prevented from attending, and on looking around he saw such an array of talent, could not himself say which to select from, but would leave to the audience that duty. At this Col. Duncan K. McRae, of Wilmington, was vociferously called for, and came to the front, and made one of the best speeches of the occasion; without meaning to detract one iota from the other distinguished gentlemen who proceeded here. His speech was brimful of his usual wit and good humor. He was followed by Treasurer Worth, in a short but well conceived speech, admonishing our people to be more self-reliant, and more good would ensue. Dr. Worth was followed by Col. T. M. Holt, of Alamance, in a short but very highly gratifying speech. We did not know our esteemed friend was a speaking man, but his trumpet tongue, gave no uncertain sound and his speech was highly appreciated.

This concluded the speaking at the grove and until after the banquet. The town of Fayetteville suspended business and all of her merchants, lawyers, doctors and railroad men are here. The Beaver Creek and Bluff Mills suspended too, and are represented here to-day. Fayetteville has poured into Greensboro her business and professional men, and left the women folks to look after the town and business.

THE BANQUET AND BALL AT THE BOW HOUSE.

At 8 p m a magnificent banquet was served in the dining room of the Bow House to which ample justice was done, after which came the toasts in the following order:

The Occasion—Responded to by, Col. Duncan K. McRae.

The White City of the Mountains—Response by W. A. Moore.

Our City by the Sea—Response by Mr. E. G. Worth and Hon. A. H. Van-Bokkelen.

The Dan, the Deep, the Cape Fear and the Yadkin—Response by C. B. Watson.

The Locomotive—Response by J. W. Reid.

Joseph Caldwell, Arch. D. Murphy and John M. Morehead—Response by M. S. Robbins.

Our Judiciary—Response by Hon. Thos. S. Kenan.

Our Agriculturists—Response by F. C. Robbins.

Our Manufacturers and Minds—Response by W. W. King.

The Press—Response by Henry A. London.

The C. F. & Y. V.: Another Link Between the East and West—Response by Theo. W. Pool.

Our Twin Sisters—Response by J. C. Buxton.

The Old North State—Response by Gov. T. J. Jarvis.

These were followed by volunteer toasts and responses by different gentlemen present.

THE GRAND BALL.

Here, at the Bow House, the beauty from all parts of North Carolina and Virginia was represented in the persons of their lovely daughters. It was remarked by every one present, that there was an amount of beauty rarely if ever excelled in the State or anywhere else.

invitation and reception the writer was placed under many obligations, and the 19th of June will be a day long remembered by those fortunate enough to be present. M. P. T.

Mayor Hall in Newbern.

The Newbern Journal has the following pleasant references to Col. E. D. Hall, Mayor of this city, in connection with his recent visit to Newbern with the firemen:

"I have met the Mayor before," was the almost universal announcement from any and every one who was introduced to him while here. Well, this might be; the Mayor was with us at the railroad celebration in 1858 as captain of the crack company on that occasion, the Wilmington Light Infantry. Again in 1861 he was among us as major of Hall's Battalion and assigned to duty in Hyde county in supreme command of that important section. Counting the militia actually in service his "battalion" was much larger than a division at a later period of the war. Then he was here as major of the immortal Seventh, and stood guard at the old Claremont bridge to see the boys all safely over after a hard contest with Gen. Burnside below. From that time, as colonel of the Forty-sixth Regiment, he was in Virginia, where occasionally he was seen by our boys.

In 1868, when the Republican party made the first effort to seize the State government by means of the ballot, through manipulation to tedious and too odious to mention in this connection. Col. Hall was placed on the Conservative ticket for the position of Lieut. Governor, with the gallant Ashe for Governor. The Mayor was again with us, his tall, manly form erect, his stern but eloquent voice proclaiming from the rostrum, as the master of an imperilled ship from the quarter-deck; he called in the most encouraging tones for every man to stand by the post of duty and manfully maintain the dignity with which God had endowed him until the storm clouds of reconstruction be past and the hurricane of fanaticism should exhaust itself, and all would be well. Few men, if any, did more in that dark period of the State's history to counsel with wisdom and encourage with truth than Col. Edward D. Hall, of Wilmington. For these reasons, added to the fact that he is a most genial and courteous gentleman, it need not surprise our Wilmington neighbors to learn that we almost claim him as one of us, and that our citizens vie with them in the estimation of his sterling worth.

Our types yesterday put him back to the rank of major, but then that may be because we have some "old vets" on the case, and they were thinking of the bloody past.

The Mayor left yesterday for home, taking with him the good wishes of all our citizens and the earnest wish that he may come again and bring his jewels—the firemen—with him.

OBITUARY.

ROBINSON—Died in this city, May 30, 1884, ROBERT PERCY, aged 3 years and 10 months, also, on June 7th, 1884, EVAN LARKINS, aged 3 years and 6 months, the beloved children of Evan L. and Emma Robinson.

Two birds plucked from the tree,
Two birds flown from the nest,
Two little darlings snatched
From a fond mother's breast,
Two little snow white lambs
Gone from the sheltering fold;
Two little narrow graves
Down in the graveyard cold,
Two little Angels more
Singing with voices sweet,
Finishing their crowns of gold
Down at their Saviour's feet,
Free from all earthly care,
Pure from all earthly stain,
Oh, who could wish them back
In this drear world again?
