as second-class matter. A Washington letter says: 'During the past few days there has been much quiet consultation among the Republi. can leaders here as to the attitude of the Administration towards the ticket nominated by the Republican Convention at Chicago. The coolness and reserve of the members of the Administration towards certain prominent Republicans attracted sufficient attention to make the matter a subject of earnest inquiry. It was agreed among these gentlemen that certain of their number should wait upon the members of the Cabinet and in the course of an apparently casual conversation upon the work at Chicago ascertain whether there was any foundation for their doubts. The result, as far as several of the members of the Administration were concerned, confirmed the reports of the indiffer. ence if not absolute antagonism. distinguished Representative from Pennsylvania, not cognizant of the general rumors, said to day that he had just left a member of the Cabinet, and was surprised to hear him not only refer disparingly to the ticket, but institute that the convention had refused to nominate President-Arthur, and he supposed that they did so with the understanding that the party might have to elect the ticket without their aid. This very significant remark having been mentioned to a party of Republicans, one of the number ob- beads and point lace ought never to be served that in view of the reference by popular .- N. Y. Graphic. the member of the Cabinet to the fact that the Convention was notified what might be expected if President Arthur was not nominated, he could now comprehend the meaning of certain portions of the speech of Martin I. Townsend in nominating President Arthurwhich at the time he thought were either in bad taste or designed as an attempt to bulldoze the Convention into the support of the President. The speech, it was conceded, had the sound of a threat and a warning, which interpretation is further justified by the now well-known indifference of the members of the Cabinet, with the exception of Mr. Chandler. The language used by certain members of the Cabinet has been preserved, as it is inferred that their position simply reflects the attitude of the President. It is proposed to await his return, when certain developments are expected soon to follow. It is understood from those in close official and personal relations with the President that he is displeased with the pegative indorsement given Debility, Malaria, and all diseases his administration in the platform and arising from an impure condition of that he claims that if his administration kept the party united and was on

After much debate the Senate has passed the Utah bill presented by Mr. Hoar from the Judiciary Committee. The provisions of this bill are so important, and will, if the bill becomes a law, be so far reaching, that it may be well to summarize them. They are substantially as tollows:

the whole satisfactory he was entitled to the recognition of a nomination, as in the cases of Lincoln and Grant. It appears that he is also annoyed and chagrined at the fact that all the old leaders who made him the nominee for the second place on the ticket of 1880 should in 1884 be found against him."

Testimony in case of prosecution for bigamy, etc., may be given by the lawful husband or wife.

Every marriage ceremony shall be certified in writing, and such certificate filed and recorded in the Probate Court, under penalty of a fice not to exceed $1,000 or imprisonment for not more than two years, or both.

Territorial laws conferring rights of inheritance on illegitimate children, and all other such laws contrary to the provisions of this bill, are annulled.

The feminine mind early attains to the consideration of the ethics of the affections. In one of our city schools the other day the class in English grammar was discussing the difference between the words "like" and "love."-"Now," said the teacher, "we can like a tomato, but is it, proper to say we can love a tomato?" "No, it is not," said a fresh young miss; "one cannot love a tomato." ! Why not?" inquired REGULATOR Saturday, June 21 the teacher. "Because, you know, you cannot-you can't-well, you can't hug a tomato."-Hartford Post.

By the Light of Day. PAST IMPOSSIBILITIES THE FACTS OF THE PRESENT-HELP IN THE NEW ERA

"I remember when they were putting up the poles for the first telegraph line in the State of New York, and now look there!" ex claimed a citizen of the metropolis to his friend, as the two stood on the summit of the tall Equitable Building in Broadway. "The city is strung with wires like a harp, and electric communication is the daily miracle of the world. People no longer wonder and laugh at ed its possibility." The age marches on and prejudice must give "I dressed his wound and God healed him," said old Galen. Once that terrible dis ease, Rheumatism, was supposed to be a shift-ted to be a disease of the BLOOD. Mrs. Henry Bogert, of No. 454 Atlantic Ave wue, Brooklyn, N. Y., writes to Messrs.
