

THIS PAPER published every evening, Sundays excepted by JOSH T. JAMES, EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR. SUBSCRIPTIONS POSTAGE PAID: One year $4.00. Six months, $2.00. Three months, $1.00; One month, 35 cents. The paper will be delivered by carriers free of charge, in any part of the city, at the above rates, or 10 cents per week. Advertising rates low and liberal. Subscribers will report any and all failures to receive their paper regularly.

The Daily Review has the largest circulation of any newspaper published in the city of Wilmington. Mr. Lawrence Kehoe, of New York, is quoted by the Freeman's Journal as saying for it that Gen. Logan is the son of an Indian mother. Ex-Gov. Moses, erstwhile the leader of the grand old party in South Carolina, is now in jail at Chicago for obtaining money under false pretenses. Meisner's paintings number 430. They are all of small size. They are valued at $10,000,000, having increased ten times since he sold them.

Gen. Logan, just before the war, was a Democrat. In those days considered John Brown, of Kansas and Virginia a "traitor, thief and scoundrel." A universal 4 feet 8 1/2 inches gauge for railroads in this country is urged. It is said that several roads are gradually preparing to accomplish this in the near future.

A circular letter to the clergy of the Archdiocese of Baltimore, prohibiting the sale or use of intoxicating drinks at picnics or excursions given under Catholic auspices, has been issued.

Prince Henry Von Hanau, son of the Elector and Landgrave of Hesse-Cassel and grandnephew of Emperor William, has been received into the Catholic church by the Papal Nuncio at Paris.

There are in England 1,246 co-operative societies, having 661,000 members and making sales for the year of an aggregate value of over $130,000,000. The profits divided exceed $10,000,000.

The Prince of Wales owes $1,000,000, but the world calls the attention to the fact that Ferdinand Ward, who hasn't a drop of royal blood or even scrofula in his veins, owes $10,000,000.

Delaware, says the Washington Post, is a small State; but such a man as Senator Bayard is the fellow citizen of its voters in the sense that he is a citizen of the whole country. He would make a President in whom the country could take all proper pride.

Said Hon. S. S. Cox; "The Tilden letter leaves matters in New York very much mixed up. It is like the little girl who, when asked for a definition of the word chaos, said 'it was a great big chunk of nothing with nowhere to put it.'"

Mrs. Langtry is not to have a monopoly of her stock in trade next year. One of the theatrical shows will include a professional beauty to represent the typical loveliness of each State in the Union. It will have thirty-seven points the start of the Lilly.

In reply to a report that he had said of Puck, "We have no animosity toward Blaine," Mr. Keppler writes: "The course of Puck has been shaped only by a sense of public duty, and while we have no personal malice toward Mr. Blaine, we feel ourselves bound to oppose his candidacy."

The Springfield Republican says: "The Tribune confesses the desperation of its case when it tries to compare Blaine with Garfield; and when it speaks of Lincoln as another tattooed man, of Washington and Jefferson as tattooed men also, it sinks to a level that is at once despicable and insane."

The World insists upon Cleveland and Hoadly, and adds: "With such names the issue would be simply between reform and corruption; between peace and turmoil; between safety and reckless adventure; between a four years' government of honest men and a four years' carouse of political buccaniers."

Mr. Samuel Ward had completed before leaving England for Italy the first part of his autobiography, carrying his life down to the time he first went to Germany. It was chiefly written at Dalmeny, Lady Rosebery acting as his amanuensis. It is said by those who have read it to be full of spirit and even boyish gaiety.

The Austrian government has lately issued rigorous regulations respecting beautifiers, hair dyes, patent medicines, etc. Those containing poison must be sold by apothecaries only by medical prescription, and none are to be sold of which the authorities do not know the composition, or which they recognize as prejudicial to health.

Now is the time to give Smith's Worm Oil.

Death in Life.

For ten long years Mr. Francis Mann, Huddle street and Simpson's road, Melbourne, Australia, says he suffered with rheumatic gout until he tried St. Jacobs Oil, the wonderful pain-reliever, which cured him.

Steamboatmen report that there is good boating water in the Cape Fear.

Capt. V. V. Richardson, of Columbus, who is in the city to-day, informs us that he never saw corn looking better than at present.

Mr. J. T. Foy, of Grant township, Pender county, has a cow which recently gave birth to twin calves, male and female, and they are both perfectly healthy and thrifty.

There was but one case for the Mayor's consideration this morning and that was so trivial in its nature that the defendant, a little colored boy, was discharged upon the payment of one penny and costs.

We see it stated that at the recent meeting of the Board of Directors of the W. & W. Railroad, held in Baltimore, the arrangements were completed by which the Petersburg & Weldon Railroad will shortly pass under their management, the W. & W. Road having secured a controlling interest of the stock of said road.

Goldsboro Messenger: Judging from the excellent music rendered by the Cornet Concert Club, of Wilmington, during their s'journ in this city—last Thursday, they well deserved the prize they won in the band tournament at the late Charlotte celebration. We doubt if there is a band in the State that can successfully compete with them.

Unavailable.
The following unavailable matter remains in the postoffice—as follows:
Annie L. Hendricks, cor. Mint and 2d st, care Jennie Smith.
One foreign letter addressed to Signor Giovanni, Margita.

The Fourth District.
A special telegram, received just before going to press, announces that in the Convention of the Fourth Congressional district, held to-day, eleven ballots for Congressman had been taken, resulting, on the 11th ballot, in 1547 for Cox and 1251 for Fowie. Necessary to a choice 159.

The Excursion.
Remember the excursion to Smithville and the Forts on the Passport tomorrow. It is gotten up by the ladies connected with the Front Street M. E. Church, which is a sufficient guarantee that no pains will be spared to make the trip delightful to all who may desire to participate.

Showery.
Notwithstanding last night was so clear and starlight, it began to rain about 2 o'clock this morning and there were frequent, copious and needed showers during the remainder of the day. Those, together with the warm nights, are highly favorable to the crops, and from every direction the farmers express themselves as encouraged by the prospects of a good harvest.

To be Sold.
The three bags of corn remaining unsold, of five bags sent here for sale for the benefit of the Confederate Soldiers' Home, at Richmond, Va., will be offered for sale by auction at the Produce Exchange at 12:30 p. m., to-morrow. The sale is for a most worthy object and it is hoped that there will be a large attendance and spirited bidding at the sale and that good prices may be realized.

Blacklead.
The question has been asked frequently within the past few days, "Whence comes all the blacklead or plumbago which is being shipped North on the Clyde line steamers?" In answer, we would say that it comes from the vicinity of Raleigh, in Wake county, where it is to be found in great quantities. Thence it is shipped via the Carolina Central Railroad to this city and hence to New York by steamer. It is one of the many minerals with which North Carolina abounds, and is known as graphite, plumbago, and more commonly by the name of blacklead.

Another large consignment of Sash, Doors & Blinds at Factory prices, just received at JACOB'S Hardware Depot.

Musical Melange.

The commencement of the closing exercises of the Misses Burr & James' School, consisting of choruses, recitations and vocal and instrumental pieces, took place at their school room last evening. As is always the case on the occasion of every exhibition by the pupils of this School, the room was crowded and though the evening was very warm the large crowd in attendance, so far from exhibiting any fatigue, were more demonstrative in their applause as the programme continued and even when the conclusion was reached they lingered as if desiring more. The exhibitions gotten up by the lady principals of this School are so favorably known to our people that it would be an act of supererogation to praise; it is sufficient to say that last night's entertainment was fully up to the standard of excellence which has so long characterized these exhibitions and which has always given so much pleasure to the lovers of the beautiful and refined.

As there were no printed programmes we cannot give the names of the various pieces performed. The choruses by the entire school were finely rendered—the voices of the little ones blending very harmoniously with those of riper years and showing very plainly how great must have been the patience and skill exercised by the principals of the establishment and their assistants. We will not attempt to discriminate where all was so good but there were several pieces worthy of special notice. The "cachuca," by a bevy of little girls, each with a tinkling castanet, was simply charming and their graceful movements were most pleasant to behold. We were at a loss which to admire most, the perfect drill of the little ones or the consummate art displayed in their instruction. A number of original compositions were read by pupils of both sexes, many of which would have reflected credit upon older heads and more enlarged experience. But the piece that brought down the house and delighted every body was the song, "The Cows are in the Corn," sung by Master Harris, a little mite of a fellow scarcely "bigger than a man's hand." He was perfectly at home upon the rostrum and not only sang with a naturalness which delighted, but suited the action to the words of the song so truthfully that he was encored again and again and we felt as one of Dickens, characters, old Weller, expressed it, in speaking of his grandson, "that ere Toney, he is one of the blessedest boys," and like giving him two pence on the spot.

Without meaning to be invidious, we must refer to one more particular, a simple melody rendered by Miss Athalia Lippitt. It was one of those beautiful Scotch songs in which the music appeals so strongly to the feelings of the heart and finds a responsive echo in every bosom, and it was sung with a pathos and depth of feeling that captivated the audience completely. In conclusion, we have only to say, that we, in common with all who were present last evening at St. James' school room, desire to return our hearty thanks to the principals and pupils for an evening of unalloyed pleasure, and when the doors are thrown open for another exhibition, we say with the famous John Gilpin, of credit, and renown, "May we be there to see."

Everybody in want of Paints, White Lead, Glass &c. should go to JACOB'S to get best qualities and lowest prices.

Horrible Depravity.
One of the most horrible instances of juvenile depravity and brutality of which we have ever heard took place at Tar Landing, Bladen county, on the Cape Fear river, last Sunday. The facts are as follows: Bill Feonell, colored, who lives near Tar Landing, had three children, aged respectively seven, five and three years. The eldest two are girls and on Sunday last they deliberately murdered the youngest child by knocking it in the head with a light-wood knot and after accomplishing the fearful deed they threw the body into the Cape Fear. The reason they assigned for committing the murder was that their mother gave the youngest child more bread than she did to the other two and thought that, by getting the child out of the way, they would stand a chance of getting a larger share of food. Our informant did not know whether the murdered child was a boy or a girl, but had learned that the murderers were both girls.

We invite the attention of our citizens to the fact that first quality shirts are being made to order at one dollar at the Wilmington Shirt Factory.

Hard, but Fair.

Jim Jones, colored, was brought here from Pender county to-day, by Deputy Sheriff More, and lodged in jail to await his trial at the next term of the Superior Court of that county on the charge of larceny. The accusation against Jones, who is reputed to be a notorious thief, is that he broke into the store-house of Mr. James Lee and stole therefrom a quantity of peas. The charge was so well sustained that the examining magistrate felt it a duty to require a bond for his appearance at the next term of court, in default of which he was committed. All of Jim's glorious anticipations of the pleasures of water-melons, hard cider, camp meeting, corn shuckings and voting the Republican ticket are thus brought to an inglorious end.

A Word for Waddell.
EDITOR REVIEW:—As the name of Hon. A. M. Waddell will be brought prominently before the Democratic Congressional Convention of the Sixth District, which is called to convene at Lumberton on the 30th of July next, some of his claims to the nomination ought, in my opinion, to be more thoroughly canvassed and laid before the people. That he is the choice of New Hanover and Brunswick counties is well known and the delegates from those counties will vote as a unit for his nomination. It is also well known that he will have many votes of the delegates of other counties, and we believe that if his claims were well understood he would be nominated on the first ballot. Let the people know and remember that in those dark, gloomy, troublous times immediately subsequent to the reconstruction days, when there was not a Democrat in the entire District who dared to accept the nomination; when even his most formidable opponent in the present contest positively declined to accept the nomination; when the Republicans had the best stump speaker and most astute politician, Oliver H. Dockery, as their candidate, and whom it was thought almost folly to attempt to encounter in political combat, yet Col. Waddell, with barely three weeks' notice, accepted the nomination, entered the lists and won the greatest victory ever achieved in North Carolina. He is the most polished and captivating speaker in the district; his large experience as a member of the House of Representatives, a portion of which time he occupied the high and responsible position of Chairman of the Committee on Postoffices and Post Roads, has given him a national reputation and influence such as no man in the district can attain without long years of service. These make him peculiarly fitted for the requirements of the district, and would enable him to be of more real benefit to the people than any other man could possibly be. Yours, for Waddell.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

Light Up!
It has been suggested, and with much forethought and wisdom, that those who travel upon the turnpike at night, going to, or coming from, the Sound, should have lights attached to their carriages, in order to avoid a collision which may result disastrously. There is actual danger of accidents, especially these dark nights, and it would be well, if lamps are not attached to the vehicles, to carry a lantern so that those coming in an opposite direction may avoid any trouble.
