DEMOCRATIC TICKET. Election Tuesday, Nov. 4.

FOR GOVERNOR: ALFRED M. SCALES, of Guilford.

FOR LIEUT. GOVERNOR: CHARLES M. STEDMAN, of New Hanover.

FOR SECRETARY OF STATE: WILLIAM L. SAUNDERS, of Wake.

FOR STATE TREASURER: DONALD W. BAIN, of Wake.

FOR AUDITOR: W. P. ROBERTS, of Gates.

FOR ATTORNEY-GENERAL: THEODORE F. DAVIDSON, of Buncombe.

FOR SUPERINTENDENT OF PUBLIC INSTRUCTION: S. M. FINGER, of Catawba.

ASSOCIATE JUSTICE SUPREME COURT: A. S. MERRIMON, of Wake.

Mr. Charles Wyndham has postponed his American tour until November.

Ex-President Davis plantation, Beauvoir, Mississippi, has been under water for several weeks.

Ex-Senator Gordon, of Georgia, is now taking contracts to build railroads in South America.

The heat at the North is described as intolerable, followed by numerous sun strokes and great mortality among infants.

The population of the United States increases at the rate of 32 per cent. every ten years. At this rate there will be 88,000,000 inhabitants in 1900.

Phillip Bourke Marston, the poet, who in his youth inspired Miss Mulock's "Phillip, my King," has lost his mother, his only sister, his sweetheart, his only friend and his eyesight.

A spectacular opera bouffe, entitled "Le Grand Mogol," is to be the great autumn production at the Paris Gaité. The music-scene is to be magnificent, and there are to be many entirely new effects.

A New York ice cream manufacturer claims to be able to make ice cream keep a year, in just as good condition as when first made. It is in brick form, about 8x4x3 inches, and wrapped up in white paper.

It is stated that John Ruskin lives quietly at his home in Lancashire and writes almost daily communications to the London papers on trivial subjects. In America he would be considered as bordering on eccentricism.

Mr. Labouchere says that Madame Emily Loysen, wife of Father Hyacinthe, used to be a stay-maker, and that her extravagance in dress has had a good deal to do with her husband's recent begging expedition.

Gen. Grant has gone to his Long Branch cottage, by permission of his creditors, and there will pass the summer. The World says: "We are sorry to learn that the General recovers but slowly from his lameness, and that he will hobble feebly on crutches; but he is to be congratulated that Ferdinand Ward left him a leg to stand on."

The World's Washington correspondent evidently believes that Cleveland will have a "walk over" at Chicago, but adds significantly and ominously that "there are a number of revenue reformers now in Washington drafting a plank looking towards free trade, which they insist shall at least be considered in the Convention."

When Gen. Grant met with his severe accident last winter he had no use for his horses, and he allowed Ferdinand Ward the privilege of them until his recovery. They were all sent to Ward's stables. When the crash came they were attached by Ward's creditors and that is the reason why visitors to Long Branch this year will not have the pleasure of seeing the General handling the lines behind his fast horses.

Now is the time to give Smith's Worm Oil.

THE DAILY REVIEW.

VOL. VIII. WILMINGTON, N. C., FRIDAY, JUNE 27, 1884. NO. 153

North Carolina to the Republican candidate for Governor—Now is the Winter of our discontent made glorious Summer by this son of York.

Baron Tennyson very properly refuses to be bored. He announces officially through the London Times that he will not answer the multitudinous letters sent to him, will not look at manuscripts, nor even return them.

Athletic Training.
Australia's champion oarsman, Mr. Edward Trickett, says that he was cured of severe pains in the back by St. Jacobs Oil, the wonderful pain-reliever, and that in all athletic training, for aches, pains, and strained muscles, it has no equal.

There was no City Court this morning.

How about a ratification meeting to endorse the State ticket?

Clarendon Council, No. 67, A. L. of Honor, will meet to-night, at 8 o'clock.

There are but two days more in which to list your taxes, so it would be well to attend to the matter at once.

Everybody in want of Paints, White Lead, Glass &c. should go to JACOB'S to get best qualities and lowest prices.

Capt. J. W. Woodsides has been placed in command of the steam yacht Louise, in place of Capt. Pepper, who has resigned.

The Democracy of Wilmington are feeling quite jubilant to-day and the ticket is considered the best that could have been named.

There were very heavy showers last night, accompanied by brisk breezes, and the weather this morning was much cooler in consequence.

We invite the attention of our citizens to the fact that first quality shirts are being made to order at one dollar at the Wilmington Shirt Factory.

Nor. barque Allegra, Johnsen, cleared to-day for London with 1,319 casks spirits turpentine, valued at $18,099, shipped by Messrs Paterson, Downing & Co.

The steamer Pussport has been taken to the Dry Dock, where she will be fitted with a new rudder. She will be ready for service again in a couple of days.

Rev W. T. Jones, formerly of this city, but now located at Beaufort, is here upon a short visit to relatives and friends, and will preach at Brooklyn Hall to-night.

From gentlemen who arrived in the city last night from Sampson county we learn that the crops in that section are growing finely, and are in a very promising condition.

There is unmailable matter in the Postoffice here addressed to Annie L. Hendricks, corner Mint and Second streets, care of Jennie Smith, and a stamped white envelope with no address.

The lightning struck and demolished a telephone pole on Princess street, between Front and Second, about 10 o'clock last night, and Edgar Searborough, a messenger for the Western Union Telegraph, who was passing at the time, was slightly shocked.

Mr. A. W. Rivenbark had a coop of chickens to arrive yesterday in which there was a hen's egg which was a curiosity. It was about the size and shaped very much like a pecan nut and when opened it was found to contain the white of an ordinary egg with the yolk just commencing to form.

Col. Saunders.
Maj. C. W. McClammy was in the city this morning on his return from Raleigh. He it was who nominated that sterling gentleman, Col. William L. Saunders, for election as his own successor as Secretary of State. In doing this Maj. McClammy designated him as that "big-hearted, big-headed patriot and Democrat" and asked the convention to honor itself by nominating him, which, to use Maj. Mac's own words, "it did immensely."

Col. Saunders received every vote from every county, as he had literally no opposition for this, the chief and most desirable office on the official staff.

Another large consignment of Sash, Doors & Blinds at Factory prices, just received at JACOB'S Hardware Depot.

Personal.
Mrs. E. Latimer, Mr. Wm. Latimer, Col. and Mrs. Edward S. Latimer, Mr. H. R. Latimer, Mrs. Latimer, Mrs. A. M. Waddell and Miss Waddell, all of this city, were passengers on the steamship Oregon, which sailed from New York for Liverpool on Wednesday last.

Fun at Smithville.
The public spirited citizens of Smithville are making quite extensive preparations for a good time at that place on the Fourth of July next. There will be a regatta for sailing vessels, including all sorts, sizes and rig of yachts, and for pilot boats of any kind that may desire to compete. There will also be a race with oared boats of different sizes from two oared to four, six and eight oars. The day's sport will conclude with a pyrotechnic display at night, and probably with a grand ball.

Clinton to Warsaw.
The Clinton Caucasian publishes the following particulars of the railroad meeting held in that town last Friday night, a report of which was published in the REVIEW:

The railroad meeting last Friday night was well attended. It grew out of a proposition made in the meeting of the telegraph company to the effect that if Clinton would subscribe ten thousand dollars in stock a railroad would be constructed at once from this point to Warsaw. A committee was appointed to confer with the projectors of the scheme—understood to be Wilmington & Weldon R. R. authorities, and to take measures to insure the line. The sentiment of the meeting was unanimous to the effect that if a subscription of ten thousand dollars in stock would secure the building of the route, there would be no trouble whatever in securing it. One thing is very evident, Clinton is bent upon having railroad communication with the outside world. The conference committee consists of Hon. A. A. McKoy, Messrs. A. F. Johnson, W. A. Johnson, Col. L. A. Powell, J. R. Beaman and J. L. Stewart. This committee will visit Wilmington, and we hope will accomplish their object.

Election of Officers.
At a regular Council held by Cherokee Tribe, No. 9, Improved O. R. M., the following Chiefs were elected for the ensuing term:

V. P.—Geo. W. Mitchell.
W. S.—Charles Craig.
S. S.—O. H. Kennedy.
J. S.—J. H. Craig.
C. of R.—Geo. Zeigler.
K. of W.—J. D. H. Klander.

Trustees for the term of twelfth Moon—Charles Craig, Geo. W. Mitchell and H. H. Weobse.

After the election of Chiefs, Mr. J. D. H. Klander, in behalf of the Tribe, presented a fine and expensive silver tomahawk to the V. G. I., George Zeigler, as a slight recognition of the faithful and efficient services of that Chief during the time the Tribe had been under his charge. The presentation was made in a pleasant and appropriate speech, which was happily responded to by Mr. Zeigler.

The Shelby Division.
The Charlotte Observer publishes an interesting report of the improvements which are now being made to the track and road-bed of the Western Division of the Carolina Central R. R. It says:

The amount of bridge building now going up on the Shelby Division is surprisingly large. About eight forces are at work at points between Charlotte and Shelby, and the spans are going up rapidly. Capt. Reno has just finished an elegant and substantial bridge over Long Creek, about six miles west of Charlotte, and the Philadelphia workmen are putting the last bolts in a magnificent iron structure over Buffalo, a few miles this side of Shelby. This bridge is 95 feet high, and was built up under the old bridge, without a single day's interruption to travel. Indian Creek, famed for the great disaster of December, 1880, to be spanned by a splendid new bridge, and several new bridges are being put up near Lincolnton. The bridge builders and their families live in cars that are side tracked into the woods at the scene of building, one car being used for the kitchen, another for the dining room and another for the bedroom. A number of these houses on wheels are seen along the track as the trains spin by, and they present a picturesque appearance.

The steam shovel has been doing an immense amount of work up the road, and is now engaged in filling the great Muddy Fork trestle, one of the heaviest pieces of railroad work in the whole country, and that will require seven months of daily labor. That Col. Jones and the Carolina Central authorities are making a capital road bed there can be no doubt, but to get an idea of the extent of the improvements, and the amount of money expended in the work, requires a trip over the road. Solid fills and bridges are to be supplemented with steel rails, which have already been ordered, and the Shelby Division will then be as fine a stretch of railroad as can be found anywhere. The new regime of the Carolina Central is wide awake and progressive.

Election of Officers.
At a regular meeting of Orion Lodge No. 67, I. O. O. F., held last Wednesday evening, the following officers were elected for the ensuing term:

N. G.—W. J. Penny.
V. G.—John S. Barnes.
R. S.—H. O. Craig.
F. S.—W. C. Farrow.
T.—W. S. Warrock.

These, together with the appointive officers, will be installed on the evening of July 2, 1884.

Fullest assortment of Fishing Tackle can be found at JACOB'S.

DIED.
LLOYD—Passed triumphantly from earth to the "rest prepared for the people of God," on the morning of the 24th inst., JOHN DAVID LLOYD, aged 38 years.

We are not surprised when the old, having reached the limit of the little space allotted to human life, sink gently into the grave. For we reason "when the head grows palsied and the eye dim with the mist of age, it is time to die; when one is reaching old age, and strength, whose future is bright with promises unfulfilled, is striken in the flush of manhood and borne off by the victor to the grave, we are glad to see him go. The subject of this sketch was in the full vigor of life, with success comparatively achieved. He had left his home in Columbus county and embarked in business in Florida. There, while pushing his work as a railroad contractor, he became thoroughly polluted with that subtle and pest agent, malaria. Anxious always to do his whole duty, he failed to be warned in time, and only after his health was fatally undermined, could he be prevailed upon to leave his post. Of the lingering months of affliction it is not my purpose to write. But of the last few weeks, during which his faith in Christ shone forth with such peculiar beauty, I would be glad to tell. By nature one of the most generous and grateful of men, it seemed easy for him to take fast hold of the glorious promises of the gospel, and having once accepted them, there seemed never a shadow to have interposed for even an moment of time. I delight, in honor of the divine saviour, to record the fact that his adopted child seemed to cling closer to Him as he descended into the grave. But it was when the last scene approached that his faith sent forth its brightest light. Calling his weeping sisters, one by one, he kissed them good-bye, and taking his only brother's hand, he held it as if he could not give him up. To each one he spoke words of tender love and assurance of eternal life. His sisters asked him "Have you any message for Lloyd?" (an absent nephew.) He replied "Yes, tell him I am going home. Tell him to pray and to meet me there. Tell the same to brother Henry, (an absent brother-in-law.) When he has descended so far into the misty shadow that speech became difficult, he was asked: "Johnny, can you still trust the blessed Saviour?" He gave an affirmative sign, but seemed to think his answer not sufficiently distinct, he answered with an effort "yes." Turning to his uncle, a veteran of the cross, he asked him to pray. No one who heard that prayer will ever forget it. Eyes unaccustomed to weep were wet, and strong men were subdued by the awful solemnity of the scene. On the preceding day, when he made a formal declaration of his faith and received the emblem of Christ's broken body and shed blood, he seemed anxious that his meaning should not be mistaken. He assured his friends that the step of uniting with the Church was deliberate. He had decided so far into the misty shadows that passed away from earth, but never saw a more triumphant death than this. Oh! could the tenderest love and most incessant care, could the skill of physicians or their most anxious prayers, have saved, he would have lived; but how powerless is the tenderest love or the utmost of human skill in the presence of the great conqueror who strikes ruthlessly by the sword of death. He replied "I will carry address to many a heart, but outside of his family there is no one who feels more deeply grieved than he who shared with him many of his lonely nights and tried by all the resources of his art to lessen his suffering—the writer of these lines.

"Go to the grave? No, take thy seat above. Be thy pure spirit present with the Lord, Where thou for faith and hope hast perfect love And open vision for the written word."
