The American artists in Paris are subscribing to a fund for the purpose of presenting that city with a bronze model of Bartholdi's statue of "Liberty Enlightening the World."

The new water supply for New York City will cost from $25,000,000 to $30,000,000. The reservoir will supply 400,000,000 gallons daily.

A bet was proffered and taken last week in Boston that Cleveland would go out of that city next November with two votes to Blaine's one.

The coincidence is noted that Mr. Blaine was born in Brownsville, Pa., and Mr. Logan in Brownsville, Ill. And they will both be "done brown" in November.

Arizona's total production of copper this year is expected to be nearly 50 per cent. greater than last year's yield, which amounted to 17,000,000 pounds.

Since 1875 the number of newspaper and periodical publications of all sorts in Japan has increased from 156 to 2,000. There are five important journals but only one contains literary articles.

They say there are in existence facsimiles of two letters from John A. Logan to Robert Toombs, or some other distinguished Confederate, offering to raise an Illinois regiment and take it over the border to Jeff Davis.

Rev Joseph Cook has been figuring about our future population. He estimates that in the year 2100 our population will be 400,000,000; in the year 2200 it will be 800,000,000; in the year 2300 it will be 1,600,000,000, and in the year 2400 it will be 3,200,000,000.

Ex-Governor Joshua H. Chamberlain, of Maine, now president of Bowdoin College, has written a letter to an independent friend in Boston denying his reported intention to vote for Mr. Blaine, as was circulated after his recent commencement attentions to the candidate. He says these were merely official and in no way binding upon him politically. He also announces his intention of voting for Cleveland.

THE DAILY REVIEW.

VOL. VIII. WILMINGTON, N. C., WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 6, 1884. NO. 186

By St. John the Prohibitionist have resolved to stand or fall next Fall.

Prof. Koch himself was obliged to submit to fumigation at Geneva, though he declared it was nonsense. "Nonsense or no nonsense," said inexorable frontier officials, "you must be smoked like other travellers."

A correspondent of the Lancet says that he has practiced for eight years on steamers running between Liverpool and American ports. During this time he has had charge of 50,000 people, and the deaths were less than one per 1,000. Five of these were suicides, and the remainder occurred mostly among children.

Jay Gould and his confederates have been ousted from another big company. The elevated roads of New York were last week merged under one management; and as one of the conditions of the alliance, Gould and Dillon and Sloan, Cyrus W. Field, Russell Sage, Washington Conner and the rest of "the gang" were forced to resign from the Directory of the New York Elevated Railroad. They were turned out of the Union Pacific about a month ago, and more recently Gould and his son were compelled to resign from one of the largest trust companies.

Gen. Stone, the engineer in charge of the construction of the Bartholdi pedestal, received a letter from M. Bartholdi on Wednesday. "The artist tells me," said Mr. Stone yesterday, "that the statue is being carefully boxed and the pieces marked, so that they can be placed in order on the French war vessel. He says that the statue will most probably arrive in this country not later than next November. We are building for all time and part of eternity," added Mr. Stone, "and we want $120,000 more."

Here is something for the colored men in the East to consider. Dr. York seems to have a high regard for the votes of that people although but little for their welfare, present or future, especially the future:

[News and Observer Special.]

ASHEVILLE, N. C., August 4. The joint canvass at Marshall, Madison county, to-day was exciting. There were about a thousand people present, of which number 200 were from Asheville. It was a capital audience, and gave close attention to the speeches. Dr. York spoke first, for an hour and a half. He appealed to the prejudices of poor white men and negroes. He refused to say whether he was a Democrat or a Republican. When Gen. Scales put the inquiry if York favored civil rights and if he desired to admit a negro to a hotel, etc., where would he put him? York replied, sarcastically, "Put them in hell!"

As soon as York's harangue was ended, Gen. Scales took the stand and spoke for an hour and a half, saying some very practical things. He made an admirable impression, and was loudly applauded.

The Republicans showed great disappointment. The Democrats are jubilant over Scales' virtual victory. The speech of Gen. Scales was of a character to do effective work in the mountains. It was a clear and logical effort.

THE RATIFICATION MEETING.

Immense Gathering of the Democracy—Speech of Gov. Jarvis—Resolutions Adopted—Fine Music—Pyrotechnics—Ladies in Attendance—Interested Listeners.

The meeting of the Democrats of New Hanover county, in front of the City Hall last night, to ratify the National, State and Congressional nominations of the party was called to order at about half past eight by Mr. J. W. King, Chairman of the County Executive Committee, who announced Mr. DuBrutz Cutler as its President. The following gentlemen were named as Vice Presidents: C. H. Robinson, Hosea Shepard, J. D. H. Klander, B. S. Munford, C. H. Alexander, B. J. Jacobs, August Deumelandt, Col. John L. Cantwell, Joseph H. Hanby, J. H. Horne, N. F. Nixon, Capt. Charles Murphy, Col. James G. Burr, John T. Biddle, A. Adrian, A. H. VanBokkelen, R. E. Calder, Jordan Branch, Capt. O. A. Wiggins, Bradley George, Iredell Johnston, Richard Beasley, L. W. McLaurin, George P. Lamb, Isaac Bear, Frederick Rbew, Capt. John F. Divine, W. B. Mayo, W. O. Johnson, Capt. E. W. Manning, W. B. Canaday, Washington King, Wm. Dent, A. J. Grady, H. B. Murrell, L. H. Bowden, W. H. Yopp, Col. B. R. Moore.

The Secretaries were Capt. John Cowan, Maj. H. H. Foster, Mr. B. G. Empe and Mr. E. S. Warrock.

The committee on Resolutions, consisting of Messrs. John W. Dunham, J. G. Oldenbuttel, W. G. McKee, T. B. Kingsbury, S. H. Fishplate, Patrick Donlan, H. B. Frenman, J. H. McGarity and S. H. Morton, submitted the following resolutions, which were unanimously adopted:

Resolved, by the Democracy of the County of New Hanover, in Mass Meeting assembled: That we hereby reaffirm our devotion to the cardinal principles of the Democracy as set forth in the platform of the National Convention at Chicago, and the State Convention at Raleigh.

Resolved, That we cordially and earnestly approve and endorse the nomination of Grover Cleveland, of New York, and Thomas A. Hendricks, of Indiana, for President and Vice President, respectively; of Alfred M. Scales and Charles M. Stedman, and their associates upon the State ticket for the positions they have been designated; and of Risden T. Bennett as our Representative in the Lower House of the Congress of the United States; and we hereby pledge them our earnest and enthusiastic support.

After the adoption of the resolutions, Col. E. D. Hall was called upon to introduce Gov. Jarvis to the immense and eager throng of expectant listeners among whom we noted many of the fair ladies of Wilmington—a duty which he performed in a brief, but forceful and entirely appropriate speech, in which he spoke with exultant pride of the material advance made during the last six years in the agricultural, mechanical, commercial, financial, educational and social affairs of the State. Col. Hall's speech was a just, proud and fitting tribute to the administration of Gov. Jarvis, and a worthy effort.

THE GOVERNOR'S SPEECH.

Upon taking the stand the Governor was greeted with cheers from the throng in attendance and by the display of fireworks. When silence had been resumed, he began a speech which continued for nearly two hours and which was one of the very best political speeches to which we have ever listened. The Governor has a fine and commanding presence, great volume of voice, an almost inexhaustible power of lungs, and is blessed with the most perfect self-possession. He attempted no great oratorical flights nor did he dwell among the dainty flowers of rhetoric, but all was plain, practical, logical, truthful and impressive. He began by stating that, in a Republican form of government like ours, all authority for the benefit or control of the people emanated from the people themselves; and that they had the inherent right to direct or control legislation by electing to office those who would best subserve the public good; that when officials became corrupt, careless or untrustworthy the people could remove them and put more faithful officers in their places.

In referring to National politics and legislation the Governor said that he had never known of a law enacted by a Democratic Congress which had been declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court, the highest judicial tribunal in the land. On the other hand, there were repeated instances on record where the legislation of a Republican Congress had been declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court, a majority of whose members were of the same political faith, and cited as notable instances the reconstruction acts, the Ku Klux acts and the civil rights act, the former of which he had had the manly courage to tell a Boston audience had done more harm to the South than all the bullets shot by Northern soldiers. The Ku Klux acts had been declared unconstitutional, but, unfortunately, not until hundreds of people had been sent to Northern prisons, where many of them had died and where many more had been ruined in health and broken down in spirit. The civil rights act had been tested in the Inferior Courts for years, with a decision against it in every instance, until at last its unconstitutionality was fully and finally determined by the Supreme Court. His arraignment of the Republican party, in its national legislation, for its multitude of mistakes, was forceful and unanswerable.

Proceeding from national politics to the candidates of the two great parties for the Presidency, he paid a glowing tribute to the official integrity and worth of the Democratic candidate, Hon. Grover Cleveland, of New York, and challenged any one to point out a single official act of his which would not bear the closest scrutiny. As Sheriff, Mayor or Governor, he had always been faithful and true to the important trusts imposed upon him, in consequence of which the people of this great country had determined that he should receive the highest position in their gift.

Leaving National politics and candidates the Governor then turned his attention to North Carolina, which, while his fidelity and devotion to the United States was not lacking, he declared to be his first, his last, his unceasing and undying love. Through all the varied scenes of life, from his boyhood's poverty and toil until now when he occupied the highest position in the gift of her people, every pulsation of his heart had been with love for the grand old State, and his highest aspirations had been for the welfare and prosperity of her people. He paid a fitting tribute to the Democratic State ticket and drew a graphic comparison between the condition of the State under Democratic rule as compared with the time when the Republicans held supreme control, much to the disadvantage of the latter. During the years when the Republicans were in power the State had been plunged many millions of dollars in debt, yet no railroads or other works of internal improvement had been built, not an asylum for the unfortunate deaf and dumb and blind had been thought of and not a school house had been erected by public authority throughout the entire length and breadth of the State. He showed that the largest amount of money appropriated for educational purposes for any one year under a Republican administration of the affairs of the State amounted to the pitiful sum of only about $38,000, while under a Democratic administration in a single year the sum of $621,000 had been appropriated for the same purposes, thus making it apparent that in all that relates to the educational welfare of the people the Democratic party had been most truly mindful. He spoke of Dr. York as having, while a member of the General Assembly, opposed every measure calculated for the establishment of schools, normal schools, asylums and other legislation looking to the welfare and prosperity of the State, and hence did not consider him the proper person to have the control of the affairs of her government and the destinies of her people.

Want of space forbids us going further into the details of this masterly speech. That it was interesting and instructive was evidenced by the fact that the distinguished speaker held the undivided attention of his vast audience from the beginning until its end. The best of order prevailed. The Cornet Concert Club furnished excellent music for the occasion. When the speech was concluded three rousing cheers were given for the candidates after which the crowd dispersed.

Lightning at Burgaw.

A correspondent at Burgaw tells us of the damage done there by a stroke of lightning last evening. It struck the tower of the beautiful new Courthouse at that place, near the top, tearing off some of the slating, breaking the glass, shattering one of the ventilators and burning a small hole through the tin-covered roof. The damage, fortunately, is not great, as $50 will cover it all.

Rheumatism can be cured by the great pain-conqueror, St. Jacobs Oil. Try it.

Base Ball.

The arrangements have all been made and unless some unforeseen accident occurs the Mechanic's Base Ball Nine of Columbia, S. C., will arrive here on to-morrow morning a train to engage in a friendly trial of skill with the Seaside Park Base Ball Nine of this city. The game will be called at 4 o'clock to-morrow afternoon on the grounds of the latter club at Wrightsville.

The Governor's Movements.

Gov. Jarvis took breakfast this morning with Col. F. W. Kerchner, after which he was conveyed to the Produce Exchange rooms, where he was introduced to members of the Chamber of Commerce, Board of Trade, Produce Exchange and citizens generally by Hon. A. H. VanBokkelen, President of the first named Board. After the ceremony of introduction and a few moments devoted to pleasant conversation the Governor made a short speech upon business matters which was listened to with marked attention by the delighted listeners. This being concluded, another short time was spent in conversation when the Governor, together with Mayor Hall and quite a number of our leading citizens, took carriages and were conveyed to the Seaside Park Hotel, at Wrightsville, where they were to dine. Unfortunately, it has rained nearly all day, which has tended to mar in some measure the pleasures of the occasion.

Personal.

Capt. Guilford L. Dudley, Private Secretary to the Governor, who accompanies him on his visit to this city, has received many hearty hand-shakes from his old friends here to-day. We acknowledge the courtesy of a call from him this morning. We were glad to see him looking so well and to know that he entertains, with us, an abiding belief in the magnitude of the Democratic victory this Fall.

Mr. H. M. Bowden is still suffering very much from the injuries received to his shoulder by the runaway of his horse on Monday. He carries his right arm in a sling but is still found at post in the bank.

The Fire-Alarm.

The new fire-alarm, worked on the Law system, which has just been put up in the city, went into full operation this morning. Through the courtesy of Mr. G. H. Glass, Manager of the Telephone Office here, we have been shown the workings of this new system, which is very much superior in every respect to that heretofore in use. It combines the latest improvements in the system of fire-alarm, and has been adopted by many of our sister cities, where its great merits are universally conceded. One of the great beauties of the system lies in the fact that it can be utilized for police calls as well as for fire alarms. Another advantage of the system is that, in giving an alarm, only one person communicates to the City Hall, while heretofore it has been frequently the case that several were talking at the same time, thus creating unavoidable confusion and delay.

Gov. Jarvis.

We have been assured from one very near his presence that His Excellency, Gov. Jarvis, is highly delighted at the cordial reception which has greeted him here in Wilmington. The Gov. came here to fill an appointment to make a speech on the ratification meeting last night, and he did not anticipate such a powerful, popular welcome as he has received. He is deeply gratified at the kindness of his welcome, and will bear with hence, we have been told pleasing and lasting impressions of the kindness and courtesy and hospitality of our people.

And let us assure Gov. Jarvis here that the pleasure has been mutual. It has been not only a pleasure but a pride to us to entertain our Executive and we are glad to know that his visit has been an enjoyable one to him as well as to us. Somehow, it seems that this visit of his Excellency to our city has brought us all into closer and more pleasant social relation with him than has been the case on any previous occasion and the result has been highly gratifying.

A Narrow Escape.

People cannot be too careful when anything like fire is to be handled. Last night, at a residence in this city, a gentleman and his wife, having an infant in the bed with them, were annoyed by the singing of mosquitoes in the net and the lady got up to try and get rid of them. She took the night-lamp and approaching too near the bed the net caught on fire. The gentleman sprang up and tore the burning net down but in doing so his hands were badly burned. He succeeded in suppressing the flames and although the net was destroyed yet the infant sleeping in the bed was uninjured, as was also a child sleeping in a crib a few feet from the bed. It was truly a Providential escape and should serve as a warning to others.
