The natives of Stonington, Conn. assert that it has never rained there on the 10th of August for 101 years. This is the day they celebrate, and the weather record, they say, has been accurately kept in the town ever since the first anniversary of the battle of Stonington.

A cricket match of a novel and interesting kind recently took place in Ireland between eleven ladies on one side, playing with bats, and eleven gentlemen on the other, with broomsticks. 'After great excitement," so goes the report, "the match ended in a victory for the ladies by one wicket."

Nicholas Anchorena, who died two months since at Buenos Ayres, was probably the richest farmer in the world. His executors report his rural estates as follows: Land, 1,710 square miles; cows, 125,000; sheep, 410,000.-He also owned much house property in Buenos Ayres, and his assets have been valued at £2,400,000. He inherited £2,000,000 from his father thirty years have arrived at St. Louis in a skiff in tallish feeling in the atmosphere this which they propose to continue their trip down the river to New Orleans. Their skiff is provided with a tent for camping on shore at night, and during the day they float and row, making an average of thirty-two miles per day .-They have had some good hunting and fishing on their voyage, and the weather has been delightful. The names of the adventurous trio are E. R. Law, B. H. Hancock and E. E. D. Braman.

Here are a few campaign straws They are extracted from the report in

Most of the talk was about New York State and the September and October States. Mr. Wilson said that the Democrats could not expect to carry Maine in September. The Republicans were making desperate efforts to win the State by an increased majority, to show Blaine's popularity in his now State. The Democracy could not be expected to do more than to keep the Republican majority as law as possible. That they were trying to

The National Committee has, withto the 21st inst. She is but 20 years old in a day or two, received encouraging news from California, and some astonishing information from Iowa. One of the California State Committee wrote that his State would surely give Cleveland its electoral vote, and that the majority was likely to reach 10,000. ## A Narrow Escape.

Two gentlemen of this city went out sailing on the river yesterday afternoon and while in the height of their enjoyment the boat was struck by a squall and capsized. One of the party, seeing that the boat was bound to turn over, jumped into the river, but the other became entangled in some of the rigging and was not able to extricate himsel until the man who was in the water reached him an oar which had floated off and by the aid of which the unfortunate man in the rigging was rescued, although in an exhausted condition.
