Quarantine Notice.

QUARANTINE FOR THE PORT OF WILMINGTON will be enforced from May 1st to November 1st, as follows:

Pilots will bring all vessels from Ports south of Cape Fear to the Quarantine anchorage; also, all vessels which have had any kind of sickness on board during the passage or on arrival, and will cause a signal to be set in the main rigging on the port side, as soon as possible after crossing the Bar.

No vessel must leave the Quarantine anchorage, or allow any person, steamer or tug boat, lighter, or boat of any kind to go ashore, unless by written authority from the Quarantine Physician; and every vessel must be anchored as far to the eastward of the channel as is consistent with safety.

Regulations governing vessels while in Quarantine may be had on application at the office of the Quarantine Physician at Smithville.

Applications for permits to visit vessels in Quarantine must be made to Dr. Thomas F. Wood or Dr. Geo. G. Thomas, and permits so obtained will be endorsed by the Quarantine Physician, if, in his opinion, it is proper and safe to allow communication with such vessels.

A penalty of $20 for each and every offence, will be enforced against any person violating any of the Quarantine Regulations of the Port.

THE REVOLUTION IN THE WEST.

Unless the shrewdest and most careful observers completely misconstrue the signs of the times, says the New York World, the greatest political revolution of the present year will take place in the West. Ohio, Indiana, Michigan, Wisconsin, Iowa, Kansas and Illinois, besides some smaller Western States, are in apparent readiness to repudiate the Republican party to which they have adored in every Presidential year since 1860, with the exception of Indiana in 1876, and to enlist under the banner of change and Reform.

Republican intolerance, bad faith, greed and corruption have gradually prepared the way for the great revolution. The "insolence of power" shown by the Republican party for nearly a quarter of a century; its ruthless taxation of the people for the purpose of amassing a huge surplus in the National Treasury, which it controls; its aggressions on the personal rights and liberties of the people; its undue favoritism of monopolies and corporations; its open, defiant corruptions, have by degrees kindled the indignation which is now prepared to break out into a consuming fire.

The French Revolution was seemingly the work of a night. The uprising of July 12, 1789, took Paris by surprise. Yet it need not have done so. The infamies of the Regency, the weakness of the King, the insolent usurpations and outrages of the nobles, the wrongs of a hardworking people, pinched by hunger and driven to despair, had for years given sufficient indications of the gathering of the terrible storm which suddenly burst over the nation.

The pending political revolution in the West has had ample provocation. The Republicans have ground down agricultural labor, while driving railroads over its neck and pampering favored interests. They have given away hundreds of millions of the public lands to wealthy and grasping corporations, putting the bona-fide settler under the power of monopolies. In all their policy they have abused the Western section of the country in a greater degree, probably, than any other. The Germans who have flocked to the West have found themselves, under a professedly free Government, stripped of their personal privileges and amusements and placed in a strait-waistcoat of other people's intolerant notions and prejudices.

It is desirable that the wave of political revolution should come from the young and vigorous West. It will be the more irresistible because it will bear on its crest the rugged honesty of the broad prairies. It will be a victory all the greater and more significant if won by States which are marching on like an army of giants and which have remained faithful to the Republican party as long as it was faithful to itself. It will be a victory that will stay, that will know no reverses, that will grow with the growth of the West and be strengthened by the wisdom and patriotism with which it will be used.

New Jersey is pledged to the Democratic cause. So are New Jersey, Connecticut and other Eastern States. But we shall all gladly hail the West as a leader in the great revolution and shall feel that our common triumph will be made doubly glorious if it is to be the signal of the emancipation of the Western States from Republican thralldom.

While the coal deposits that underlie 5,500 square miles of land in Alabama are almost untouched, the Republics of South America and Central America are supplied with cheap coal by Great Britain. In the year 1881 Great Britain sold $3,761,193 worth of bituminous coal to these countries and the West Indies, while only $323,693 worth was sold to them by the United States. The merchants of Mobile are beginning to think that their State, whose coal area is half as great as the entire coal area of Great Britain, should try to get this trade. To get it they must increase the production of the Alabama mines and reduce the price of the product. The price can be reduced, it is said, only by reducing the cost of transportation to tidewater. But vessels that take coal to Brazil and other South American countries cannot carry it cheaply unless they can bring full cargoes of South American products in return. The merchants of Alabama will probably discover that some modification of our tariff laws would aid them in the work of finding foreign markets for their coal.

for Foster in 1881. The Democratic victory last year in Ohio was the work of the Germans, who were incensed then and are more incensed now at the prohibitionists' theory which has attempted to invade private rights by sumptuary legislation. This year the feeling is intensified, and the German vote will undoubtedly be given largely to Cleveland and Hendricks, as both the Democratic platform and Governor Cleveland's letter of acceptance take strong ground against sumptuary laws.

The following is, we think, rather interesting reading, coming as it does from the New York Mail and Express, a rabid Blaine Republican paper, which represents all the elements of the party which may be responsible for the shameful condition of our so-called navy:

What shall be done with the wreck of the Tallapoosa? It lies in Vineyard Sound, its smokestack and spars in view from Cottage City, and it obstructs the channel so much that its removal is necessary to prevent other disasters. Is it worth raising, or shall it be blown up? Is the question now before the naval authorities. If there is no other alternative the voice of the people will declare in favor of a charge of dynamite. It would have been fortunate for the nation had the craft been blown up in 1874, when she was rebuilt at a cost of more than $160,000. It would be fortunate to have the entire United States naval fleet blown up rather than have millions of dollars expended on old hulks which can never be of much use, either in offensive or defensive warfare. Were every one of the thirty-three ships now registered as "serviceable" run down by a schooner, like the Tallapoosa, it might be possible to secure the construction of a navy of the right sort, and without the expenditure of more than the average amount appropriated for the navy during recent years. We have shown that the Tallapoosa has cost the government not less than $476,900, and the Sun intimates that the record does not show all the expenditures and estimates the entire cost at $800,000 or more.

But while it would be better to blow her up than to raise her for repairs, she must have some value as old junk, and we suggest her sale to one of the great wrecking companies. The highest bidder should take the Tallapoosa out of Vineyard channel and out of the public mind.

PERSONAL.

Mr. Cleveland is to return to Albany from the Adirondacks this week. He has gained twenty pounds since his vacation began and is now within four pounds of Mr. Dana's standard for Presidential entrées.

James Gordon Bennett is having constructed by the celebrated builders, Thornycroft, in England, a fine steam launch for use on the Seine river, Paris. The launch will be seventy feet long, and will run twenty-two miles an hour.

Victor Hugo, the hoary-headed giant of modern French literature, has a daughter, Adele, in a lunatic asylum in France. She eloped and married against her father's wishes. Her husband brought her to America and then deserted her. This treatment drove her insane.

Mr. Gresham, upon his retirement from the Cabinet next month, is to become ex-Senator McDonald's law partner at Indianapolis.

That Old Torment.

Although dyspepsia has its chief seat in the stomach, yet it affects the whole digestive apparatus. The liver, pancreas, and intestinal glands share in the general trouble. The whole machinery needs renovation. Brown's Iron Bitters is the article with which to do the happy work. Mr. W. H. Eckhart, Marion, O., writes, "I used Brown's Iron Bitters for indigestion with most excellent results."

AUGUST ANTICS.

It sends a cold chill down the back of a bank president to find a Canadian guide-book on the cashier's desk.

"Veist's Logic" is bulletined for publication. The author must be the Veist of reason that so much has been heard about.

Notwithstanding the heated and personal character of the present canvass, it should be remembered to the eternal credit of the managers that no one has accused any of the candidates of being the author of "The Breadwinners."

A blushing young man called upon a Madison avenue florist one day last week and gave the proprietor $16 to construct a bouquet which would say, in floral language, "Dearest one, I love you—Be mine," and which was to be delivered that evening, without fail, at the residence of a beautiful, accomplished and auburn-haired girl on Thirty-sixth street. It evidently was delivered, because at an early hour next morning the young lady called at the same florist and invested $2.75 in a bouquet conveying the message: "No; you bandy-legged clam."

The cashier had made the messenger's life a burden to him, but the messenger was not a revengeful man. Only one afternoon, when the cashier had gone home and the president had remained behind to look over some correspondence, he abstracted the president's gold-rimmed spectacles and placed them on the cashier's desk along with a railroad guide and the time tables of several Canadian railroads. Then he told the president that he thought the glasses were on the cashier's desk.

A Druggist's Story.

Mr. Isaac C. Chapman, druggist, Newburg, N. Y., writes us: "I have for the past ten years sold several gross of DR. WM. HALL'S BALSAM FOR THE LUNGS. I have recommended it in a great many cases of Whooping Cough with the happiest effects. I have used it in my own family for many years; in fact, always have a bottle in the medicine closet."
